SUMMARY OF INTERNATIONAL SITUATION

(By The Associated Press)

The representatives of the allied and associated powers at last have before them the answer of Germany to the terms of the peace treaty.

The reply of the Germans, consisting mainly of counter-proposals seeking to lessen the severity of the allied terms, will be considered by the members of the council of four, who will digest the views of the enemy and report back their decision as quickly as possible. This decision is to be final, and Germany will then be compelled either to sign or reject the treaty.

In case of a declination to sign, British, French and American troops are prepared to take such steps as Marshall Foch may deem necessary. While at sea the blockade against Germany is ready to be tightened again. A plan of the allies to have Switzerland, in the event of a refusal to sign by Germany to sign enforce a more severe blockade against Germany, if necessary, is reported to have failed. Switzerland, claiming this would infringe Swiss neutrality.

It has been believed possible that Friday the terms of peace to Austria would be ready for submission to the representatives of the smaller nations. This has already been found impracticable owing to the necessity to embody in the treaty a

COSTA RICANS WAIT FOR WAR

General Tinoco Ready on Nicaraguan Frontier With Command of 5000 Men

WASHINGTON, May 29.—General Joaquin Tinoco, brother of the president of Costa Rica, and minister of war, has returned to his command of 5,000 men on the Nicaraguan frontier and is awaiting word from the boundary on word from San Jose that congress had declared war on the neighboring state, advice received by the Nicaraguan legation today said. General Tinoco last week went to the capital where he urged upon the president and upon congress the desirability of declaring war on Nicaragua at once.

Washington officials learned today that Tinoco has enlisted the support of President Carranza and that Carranza had sent five general officers of the Mexican army to Costa Rica to aid General Tinoco. Tinoco won Carranza's sympathy, according to these advisers, by pointing out that Mexico and Costa Rica were the only countries of the American hemisphere excluded from the league of nations. Tinoco is said to have blamed President Wilson for this exclusion and suggested the invasion of Nicaragua as an excellent way to get revenge, inasmuch as Nicaragua is regarded as a protégé of the United States.

Nicaragua has an army of only 500 men, according to official information not sufficient to engage an invading foe. Nicaragua has stated, it is said that she relies on the United States to protect her from her external foes.

"Gets-It" Peels My Corns Off!

Any Corn or Callus Comes Off Peacefully, Painlessly, Never Fails.

It's almost a picnic to get rid of a corn or callus the "Gets-It" way. You spend 2 or 3 seconds putting on 2 or 3 drops of "Gets-It" about as simple as putting on your hat. "Gets-It" does away forever with "contraptions," "wraps," plasters, greasy ointments that rub off, blood-letting knives and leeches that snip into the "quick." "Gets-It" eases pain. Your "jumpy" corn shrinks, dries, loosens from the foot in one complete piece. That's where the picnic comes in—you peel it off as you would a banana peel. Nothing else but "Gets-It" can do it. Get peaceful, common sense "Gets-It."

"Gets-It," the guaranteed, money-back corn remover, the only sure way, costs but a trifle at any drug store. Mfg'd by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Sold in Salem and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by J. C. Perry, D. J. Fry and Frank S. Ward.

Use "Gets-It," peel off corn this way.

"Stars and Stripes" to Continue Publication

The American Legion, newly formed veterans' association, is preparing to take over the paper, according to a letter received by the Post-Intelligencer from Sergeant Major Richard S. Jones in Paris, business managers of the "Stars and Stripes."

This paper was created by the order of General Pershing and has been published by enlisted men. Final decision as to its future, the letter said, would be taken at the American Legion's convention next November.

Highly Dramatic Role for Geraldine Farrar

"Shadows" is Geraldine Farrar's new Goldwyn picture. It comes to the Liberty theatre, starting Sunday. Pitched in a high dramatic key, it tells the story of a woman who has found happiness out of misery and who fights for that happiness when disaster seems about to overtake her. Her life in Alaska, when she was known as Cora Lamont, the plaything of brutal Jack McGoff, is almost forgotten in her life as the honored wife of Judson Barnes, a conservative New Yorker.

Her house of cards comes tumbling down, however, when she is recognized by a man who tries to induce her husband to enter a spurious mining proposition. She warns her husband against him, whereupon the fellow telephones her that she must persuade him to invest or the full story of Alaska will come out, just how terrible that part of her life was. Mrs. Barnes knows too well.

It all comes back to her as she sits, dry-eyed, clasping her child to her. She forms a daring plan whereby McGoff, who is coming to the house to claim her, shall leave the tables turned on him. What this plan is and how strangely it works out—this comprises the play.

COMMISSION TO UNDERGO PROBE

W. A. Marshall Asks Governor to Investigate Accident Department

Upon the request of W. A. Marshall, member of the Industrial Accident commission, Governor Olcott will call for a thorough-going investigation of the administration of the affairs of that commission.

The governor announced today that it is his plan to ask a committee of nine citizens to make such investigation, the committee to be constituted as follows: three selected by the State Federation of Labor as representative of the employees; three selected by the Industrial Association of Oregon as representative of the employers and three selected by himself, as representative of the citizens of the state at large.

Such a committee, the executive points out, would be constituted to represent the same interests that are affected by the operations of the workmen's compensation act. The law creating the industrial accident commission provides for the selection by the governor of three commissioners and recites that "inasmuch as the duties to be performed by such commissioners vitally concern the employers, the employees as well as the whole people of the state, it is hereby declared to be the purpose of this act that persons be appointed as commissioners who shall fairly represent the interests of all concerned in its administration."

Charges have been received in the executive offices of alleged wrongful administration of the affairs of the commission and a number of labor unions and similar organizations have asked that a searching investigation be made.

The belief that the affairs of the accident commission should be the subject of a thorough going probe has gained considerable ground among friends of the compensation law. State Governor Olcott yesterday in announcing that he will ask for an investigation.

"The Industrial Accident commission, inasmuch as it administers the provisions of the workmen's compensation act, has one of the most important functions of any commission provided for on the statute books of the state. The proper administration of that law is bigger than any other consideration involved. The work of the commission has grown to large proportions and vitally concerns a great majority of the workmen and the employers of the state. It is essential that the commission enjoy the most complete confidence of not only employers and employees but of the general citizenship of the state as well. If that confidence has in any manner been shaken it should be restored and a thorough investigation should bring out the weak points, if any there are. If the weak points are such to demand a reorganization to restore general confidence I will take the steps necessary to place the administration of the compensation law on a proper basis."

"I have studied the matter considerably as to the proper kind of a committee to select. I believe with the employees selecting their own three representatives; the employer selecting their own three, and with the selection of three big, broad-minded citizens by the state to represent all of the citizens of the state an investigation will be conducted that will entirely clarify the atmosphere."

The letter from Commissioner Marshall, asking for the investigation, follows:

"In view of the persistent attempts being made by Lee Roy E. Keeley, of Portland, and others to discredit the work of this commission, and destroy confidence in the operation of the workmen's compensation law, I desire to express to you my conviction that an investigation should now be made of the various charges against the commission."

"I know, and it has been proven by the contract in which Keeley secured the agreement of a widow, a beneficiary under the compensation law, that she would give to Keeley as her attorney 40 per cent of what award she might receive for the death of her husband, that the motives of Mr. Keeley are purely selfish and result from a desire to be revenged upon the commission."

"I nevertheless recognize the fact that a persistent campaign is being carried on to injure the work of the commission. This has created distrust in the minds of other citizens to whom the compensation law applies, and because of this I believe that the issue should be met by a thorough-going investigation in such manner as you may approve."

"If an investigation be held, I reiterate my previous promise to you to aid in every way possible."
