Field sports were the order at the Chemawa Indian school yesterday forenoon. Teams and contestants representing the various classes were pitted against one another and rivalry was not lacking which assisted in giving "pep" to the various events. It was a good field meet and some features were of more than ordinary interest, particularly the sprints. At 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon there was a game of baseball between the vocationals and the pre-vocational. It was a close and snappy game from start to finish, but the vocationals were victorious in a score of 5 to 4.

At 8 o'clock last night the Girls' Mandolin and Guitar club under the direction of I. S. Loos gave a concert in the auditorium. Much preparation had been made for the occasion and it proved a delightful affair in every way. Nearly all of the music was especially written for the organization by Mr. Loos and the conception of the beautiful pantomime, "The Rock of Ages," was also an inspiration of his. There was a good attendance and hearty applause greeted the various numbers.

This morning at 9:30 the various departments of the school, both academic and industrial, will be open for the inspection of visitors. These inspections are always a source of interest and profit, as they show certain features of the institution and its life as nothing else can.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the companies of both girls and boys that form what is known locally as the Chemawa battalion, or military body, will give a dress parade. This is always a feature of great interest to visitors as it gives opportunity to see just how precisely military affairs are conducted. Immediately after dress parade all will leave the drill grounds for the gymnasium where the physical culture class, under the direction of George W. Bent, will give an exhibition.

At 6:45 p. m. the band will play a concert. At the conclusion of the concert an entertainment will be given in the auditorium combining many interesting features. There will be what is termed "The Spirit of Democracy"—a pageant; there will be drills and exercises and musical numbers by folk of all ages, big and little. Here visitors will be entertained in a most enjoyable manner for an hour or more.

The day and evening will bring forth something which will please all. Everything is free and Superintendent Hall will be glad to welcome all visitors.

new day—is it not so?" queried the doctor in half reflective tone.

Then, with convincing earnestness, "Now that is my Wayfarer."

"You see, there are two leading characters in this pageant of mine, a woman called Understanding and the Wayfarer, a man who represents that element in modern society, and more especially in the church which is so bewildered by the industrial and social upheaval in the revolution throughout the world as to be almost in despair.

"To Wayfarer, as to the many whom you and I know in real life, it seems as if God is either an absentee or utterly impotent to control existing conditions. However, I have held my pageant's text close to the fundamental truths which life teaches and as Wayfarer journeys with Understanding through the great events of religious history, he discovers that in every age the church has been confronted with seemingly insurmountable difficulties, yet always has triumphed.

"Think back. It is absolutely true that men can always count on the presence and the power of God in every situation, no matter how forboding and critical. In the long run, God always has had His own way in the world—and He always will, sooner or later, work out His own purposes. This is the message of my pageant to the war-sick world—good tidings of great joy yet to come," concluded Dr. Crowther.

Dr. Crowther has built his "Pageant of the Kingdom" around three episodes—The Captivity, The Christ, The Conquest. The time is the present. The immediate occasion is the war in Europe. The pilgrimage made by Wayfarer under the guidance of Understanding affords place in the drama for historical resume of epoch-making events and the prophetic vision of a reconstructed world.

Episode 1. The Captivity has three scenes—War, Desolation, Despair and Deliverance.

Episode 2. The Christ, is presented in four scenes—Bethlehem, Jerusalem, Calvary, the Resurrection.

Episode 3. The Conquest comprises nine units, staged without intermission: The Great Commission, The Messengers of the Cross, The Gospel Message, The World's Response, Procession of Americans, The Christian League of Nations, The New Jerusalem on Earth, Emmanuel's Coronation.

The Great Commission recalls the direction of Christ for the conquest of the world through Christianity; portraying "The Messengers of the Cross" are shown Paul, Constantine, Augustine, Wycliffe, Luther, Wesley, Morrison—revered for service in China, Carey—whose name suggests India, Livingstone—inseparable from the church history of Africa, Lincoln and other men, who in modern times have served the cause of Christian civilization.

In voicing "The World's Response," that great poem of John Oxenham—"From North and South and East and West They Come" will be given.

"The Procession of the Nationals" promises to be a noteworthy feature of the Pageant of the Kingdom. It is to be led by children and native Christians from every land under heaven, followed by flags of all the nations of the world; then comes the procession of Americans, designed to show that the whole of our social and industrial order has been permeated with Christ's ideals. Next, a rapid review will pass North American Indians Esquimaux, Mexicans, artisans, scholars, churchmen, soldiers, sailors, Red Cross nurses, and carrying a glorious silk American flag, Columbus led by a group of boys and girls in costumes typical of all the nations, ushers in "The Christian League of Nations."

The pageant closes with "Emmanuel's Coronation" in which the chorus will sing the Hallelujah chorus.

While much that is finest in the score of The Messiah will be incorporated in the presentation of The Wayfarer, Prof. William J. Kraft of Columbia university, director-general of the centenary music, is writing several choruses for it and selections from both Stainer and Macfarlane have been introduced. Assisting Professor Kraft are Horace Whitehouse of Ohio Wesleyan university, who has been in Columbus in charge of rehearsals for some time and Montgomery Lynch of Seattle. Mr. Lynch will direct the music of the Wayfarer.

A symphony orchestra of 75 pieces will support an offstage chorus of 1000 voices in addition to the 350 singers on the stage.

The stage of the Columbus coliseum is being reconstructed upon plans which will make it larger than that in the Hippodrome. As a matter of fact it will be the largest stage in America.

The coliseum seats, exclusive of the stage, more than 8000 people.
