

NATION-WIDE STRIKE OF WIRE OPERATORS ORDERED WEDNESDAY

Employees of Western Union, American Telephone and Telegraph and Postal Telegraph Affected by Mandate Issued by S. J. Konenkamp, International President of Union—No Hour Set for Walk-out on Pacific Coast—Large Numbers of Men Will Be Effected.

CHICAGO, June 7.—A nation-wide strike of telegraph and telephone operators who are members of the Commercial Telegraphers' union of America was ordered today to take effect next Wednesday morning at 8 a. m. standard time.

The strike order is declared effective against employers of the Western Union Telegraph company, the American Telephone and Telegraph company and the Postal Telegraph and Cable company with its associated institutions.

CARLTON IS SKEPTICAL

NEW YORK, June 7.—The nation-wide strike of telegraph and telephone operators ordered by S. J. Konenkamp, international president of the Commercial Telegraphers' union, "will amount to nothing," according to a statement tonight by Newcomb Carlton, head of the Western Union Telegraph company.

"The Western Union would like to assure the public that there will be no delay in handling their messages," said Mr. Carlton. "We will maintain a full force at all our offices and the small number of union employees who obey the strike call will not affect the character of our service or its continuity."

Disregarding the south and southwest, where he said only 30 of 12,000 employees were on strike, Mr. Carlton declared extension of the walk-out to the rest of the country would bring few recruits to the ranks of the strikers.

Mr. Carlton said the company had questioned all its employees as to whether they would obey the strike call and that 147 out of the 28,000 in the territory to which the strike was to be extended had replied they would walk out. These had been discharged, Mr. Carlton said, not because they were union men, but because they had said they would quit when directed to do so by Konenkamp.

The strike will have no effect on the telephone service of the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

FOUR MEN ARE CHARGED WITH CHEATING U. S.

Arrests Include Army Officer—Sale of Supplies Involves Much Money

JUNK DEALER NAMED

Dictaphone Used as Means of Detecting Plot Hatched in Hotel Room

DETROIT, June 7.—With the arrest here today of four men, one of them an army officer, department of justice officials disclosed an alleged conspiracy to defraud the government in the sale of $30,000,000 worth of supplies to be salvaged here.

The United States grand jury has returned indictments, it was announced, against Captain Sotorios Nicholson, of Washington, chief financial officer of the ordnance department for this district, an unnamed army officer recently sent to France in connection with the disposal of excess supplies; Grant Hugh Browne, a millionaire sportsman and race track owner of Detroit and Fred C. Collins, vice consul for Greece and president of a local realty company.

All but the officer in France, together with Bert Harris, a junk dealer in New York, are held at Fort Wayne, an army post here for trial. Harris, who, it is alleged, was to dispose of the material, will be arraigned before the grand jury Tuesday.

The arrests followed an investigation extending over two months and came, department officials said, after the first deal in the alleged plot was put through at Rochester, N. Y., Thursday. The transaction, it is alleged, involved 21,000 tons of material valued at $300,000. According to Arthur L. Barkey, chief of the bureau of investigation here, Collins, Browne and Harris are charged with conspiracy to eliminate other bidders for the material, the bids being held so low that the highest of the three would be far below the value of the supplies disposed of.

By means of a dictaphone installed in Captain Nicholson's room at a hotel, the federal officers declared, they followed the alleged conspiracy since its inception early in April. The matter was placed in their hands by another officer of the ordnance department, whose name they withheld.

YANKEES ARE LISTED WITH MEX VICTIMS

Two Americans and 30 Citizens of Sonora Killed by Yaquis and Bandits in La Colorado District.

TEXAS GOVERNOR ASKS FOR AID OF SOLDIERS

Men Along Border Held in Constant Danger—Death of Several Described

NOGALES, Ariz., June 7.—At least two Americans and 30 Mexicans have been killed by Yaquis and bandits in the La Colorado district of Sonora, Mexico, during the last two weeks, according to the statement of nine American mining men who arrived from that neighborhood tonight.

The party of Americans whose homes are in Arizona, Colorado and California, have sent a statement of conditions in that district to the state department at Washington, with copies to Senators C. S. Thomas of Colorado, Hiram Johnson of California and Marcus Smith and Henry F. Ashurst of Arizona.

Miners Describe Minors In their report of affairs in Sonora forwarded to the state department by the returned mining men it is stated that 19 Mexicans were killed by Mexican bandits and one American, Charles Morgan, was shot in the foot in a raid at Navojoa; that five Mexicans were killed by the Mexican bandits at Nuri, 12 miles from where H. S. White, an American truck driver of Tucson, Ariz., was recently slain.

It is believed that White was killed by Mexican bandits and not by Yaquis as first reported.

The murder of C. W. P. Tevotomine, engineer, three days ago, undoubtedly was the work of the Yaquis, say the returned Americans. Two Mexicans in the automobile with Tevotomine and four other Mexicans accompanying the party on horseback also are reported to have been killed at the same time.

BAKER APPEALED TO

The war department immediately telegraphed the commanding general of the southern department who has charge of the border guard, asking his views on the request and for any information bearing upon the situation described by Governor Hobby.

NO SETTLEMENT YET LOOKED FOR

Winnipeg Central Strike Committee Refuses to Call Off Sympathetic Walk-out

WINNIPEG, June 7.—Despite terrific pressure from union men representing the faction demanding settlement of the Winnipeg general strike, the central strike committee this afternoon declined to call off the sympathetic walkout. It also was intimated that such action probably would have led to adjustment of the general labor controversy.

W. T. Barker, chairman of the conciliation committee of the railroad brotherhoods, announced today that indications were that there could be no settlement before next week. The brotherhood executives obtained settlement proposals from both the metal trades council and the industrial employers, but the employers, with the federal, provincial and municipal governments solidly behind them, insisted that peace could not come until the sympathetic strike, termed the leading weapon of the one big union promoters, had been repudiated.

"Instead of going back we are extending the strike. Lett no one talk of starting work next week. No local will go back—but will try hard to pull out one or two thousand workers who today are unorganized," said the Western Labor News, the official organ of the strikers today.

Statements were made at the city hall and at the board of trade, where the citizens committee of 1900 has its headquarters, that the action of the labor leaders indicated their determination to stake their fortunes on the fate of their sympathetic strike act.

WILLAMETTE PAGEANT DRAWS LARGE CROWD TO VARSITY CAMPUS

Familiar Figures of History Pass in Review as Story of Oregon Is Unfolded on Big Stage—Indian War Dances Given by Youthful Braves from Chemawa—Striking Prologue and Epilogue Taken Part in by Students—Characters and Costumes Carry Out Spirit of Production.

There have been commencements and commencements at Willamette University, May Day ceremonies, and varied celebrations, but never anything that ever came any way near equaling the stupendous historical pageant given on the campus of the university last night, in celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the institution.

The program was scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock, but long before that hour the seats which were limited to 2000 were filled with an eager expectant crowd, and if there was anyone who went away the least bit disappointed such a one has not as yet been located. The pageant indeed eclipsed anything conceived by any one who had not been a privileged spectator at rehearsals.

Credit Due Women

One marveled, indeed that so tremendous an undertaking could be worked out with such perfection of detail in so short a time. Credit must be given where credit is due, and where this is done the names of Mrs. E. E. Fisher, who was the originator of the idea of the pageant, and Prof. Della Crowder Miller, author and director are found to head the list, for in writing the pageant the latter has not only done a big thing for the university, but has given Salem a more lasting place in future history. Her work has been done entirely gratis, love of her art being the chief incentive.

Prof. Miller conceived a pageant in which the characters were real human beings, the kind one laughs and cries with. The dramatic construction is amazingly good, dramatic art being emphasized throughout. However great the past that Prof. Miller has taken, the assistance of her co-workers on the various committees, is not to be overlooked. Individually and collectively these people have given the most consistent support.

Indians Are Realistic

The Indians from the Chemawa Indian school were remarkably proficient, portraying glimpses of real aboriginal life.

The choruses and most of the music were written by Prof. Miller, and were great assets in expressing the various moods.

Lighting effects were very good, considering the short time in which wiring was possible and the stage scenery and settings designed by Rev. Aldrich called forth many complimentary remarks.

The prologue and epilogue were written in poetry. The characters in the former were Miss Florence Shirley as the "Spirit of Willamette," Miss Genevieve Sevy, "Spirit of Drama," Miss Grace Sherwood, "Spirit of Music," Orville Miller, "Spirit of History." All were especially strong in their parts, making it one of the most beautiful diversions of the program.

Miller Has Important Part

In Mr. Miller the audience witnessed a real artist. He comes by his dramatic ability naturally, being the son of Prof. Miller. He is a graduate of the Boston School of Expression, and studied with the great master Curry. His voice is remarkably clear, and his expression excellent. It was in his power to make the production strong and stable or the opposite, but saying the least his assistance was splendid throughout.

The curtain goes up on Willamette, discovered with her sleeping muses about her. These she awakes and bids them call her children for this her seventy-fifth birthday. Drama immediately calls her players; Music her singers while history reads the records of the past. The prologue closes with the caste singing Willamette songs.

Two Heralds Attractive

One of the attractive features throughout the pageant is the appearance of two heralds, who are clad in 17th century costume of white satin and gold, with gold trumpets. These parts are taken by little Misses Ethelwyn Kelly and Winona Smith.

Episode one reveals the Red man in ceremonial dances and is most effective. In episode two the Indians are shown starving on their long journey to the east for the white man's book of heaven, finally losing one of their chiefs, who just before he died, catches a vision of the Christ. The remainder of the pageant which follows is beautified by the prayer which here brings out the grieving mood of the Indians.

In the next scene they reach St. Louis, and the former pathos is relieved by the introduction of delightful comedy furnished by the negro slave who had traveled with General Clark all over the northwest, but who displays the greatest fright at sight of the Indians.

Jason Lee Like Picture

The consecration scene in episode four makes it one of the most beautiful of the entire pageant. The missionaries are shown leaving the New England church coming west, being led by the spirit of Altruism. The consecration hymn is sung to the tune of an old time song.

Jason Lee is portrayed by Harry Dowers who is made to look peculiarly like the original. In casting the characters, however, talent has frequently been sacrificed for personal appearance.

Dr. McLaughlin and a glimpse into his home life is depicted in episode five. One of the most unusual scenes is also brought in here when canoes carrying missionaries and guided by Red men is seen coming up the Willamette.

Realism is introduced in episode seven in the showing of logs for the first missionary hut. In episode eight missionaries are shown at work in the school room.

Episode nine is rich in comedy that is excellently brought out by Paul Flegel. The love affairs of Cyrus Walker, Jason Lee and Susan Downing and Anna Marie Pitman are here shown.

First Courtship Shown

The courtship fills the following episode, the first marriage of white people on the Pacific coast being episode eleven. This was a triple wedding with Charli-a-Roe and a half breed Indian girl making the third couple.

The parting scene a year later follows, showing Jason Lee going east for additional missionaries, and to interest the government in annexing the northwest. The mission-
