of the company to be on hand in full force at the armory every Monday evening between now and the time of musterings.

The re-organization of the guard is now on in full swing and information has been received that Company M will receive its full equipment, some time this month, which means the men will be provided with the latest Enfield rifle, automatic revolvers, a new issue of uniforms and, in fact a complete modern outfit.

In addition to Company M Salem will, in the future, have the adjutant general's headquarters here, as well as battalion headquarters for the third battalion. It is expected that frequent battalion drills will be held in this city which will give everyone an opportunity to watch troops maneuver. Company M is working hard to make itself the crack company of the regiment, and with full turnouts for drill should have no trouble in making good.

Marion County Student Wins Medal for Debate

J. Kenneth Armstrong of Jefferson, a junior in the University of Oregon, has been awarded the alumni medal for the best individual debater in the university at a recent contest held at the university. Armstrong won two first places and one second against three other men.

The question he debated was, "Resolved, That the United States should not cease its experiment in the operation of the railroads short of a five-year period." The men drew lots at the time of the debate for the side they were to uphold since they had prepared to uphold either side. There was no team work, each man being judged on his individual work. Armstrong debated the affirmative side.

Big Irrigation District Is Formed in Lake County

Formation of the northern Lake County Irrigation district is announced in a letter received from officials of the new project by State Engineer Upper. Engineers are now completing surveys for the big irrigation system, and the plans are expected to be filed for approval shortly with the state engineer.

The land sought to be reclaimed by the new irrigation system lies in northern Lake county and composes more than 30,000 acres. It is planned to divert the waters of the Sycan river and Silver creek for the irrigation ditch. The cost of the project is not known.

General Prosperity of Oregon Residents Shown

Never in the history of the state was general prosperity more in evidence than at the present time, according to the bank statement made public by Will H. Bennet, superintendent of banks.

The report shows that deposits now in the banks of Oregon aggregate $51,210,000 more than they were at this time last year. A gain of $21,000,000 in bank deposits has been made since March 4, this year. Total deposits now held by banks of this state are $245,520,942.

An interesting part of the report shows that an increase of more than $10,000,000 has been made in savings deposits alone during the year. This indicates, say banking officials, that the saving habit as impressed upon the public during liberty loan campaigns, has taken affect upon all classes of persons.

Increase in Rates Sought by Big Irrigation Concern

An increase from $1 to $2 per acre foot is sought by the Central Oregon Irrigation company in an application filed yesterday with the public service commission. The company now charges $1 per acre for the maintenance of its irrigation system, and it asks permission to double this price to consumers. Increased cost of labor and other necessities are given as a reason for the increase.

The Central Oregon Irrigation company is one of the largest in Eastern Oregon and furnishes water to thousands of acres of farm lands in that part of the state.

LINCOLN COUNTY JUBILANT OVER COAST HIGHWAY

Rally Held at Newport to Celebrate Voting of Roosevelt Road

DENOUNCE "MOSSBACKS" Hundreds Attend from All Parts of District—Davis Is Speaker

NEWPORT, Or., June 7. (Special to The Statesman)—One of the greatest jollification meetings ever held in Lincoln county was the good roads jubilee at Newport Wednesday night. Hundreds of flower bedecked automobiles loaded with people from Toledo, Elk City, Siletz, Yachatz, Walport and Chitwood came pouring into Newport about 7 p. m. and were met by a band of Newport citizens in Indian costume who held a "war dance" as a reception of the visitors. Everyone then went to the city park where they were addressed by Carl S. Davis, secretary of the local commercial club. After a few words of welcome Mr. Davis introduced Dr. F. M. Carter of Siletz and Lester Martin of Newport who spoke in praise of the public-spiritedness of the people who had supported the Roosevelt Highway bill and in condemnation of those who had voted against it.

New Era Predicted. Mr. Davis closed the speaking by thanking the people for their attendance saying: "This is a great day for Newport, for Lincoln county and for the entire state of Oregon. It is the dawn of a new era—an era of prosperity and advancement. The good roads bills have carried and carried strong. In Newport, out of 597 votes cast only six were against "good roads." We will follow the old custom of the American Indian and burn them in effigy at the stage." Thereupon a dummy was tied to a stake and a big fire soon left not a trace of what represented those who would stand in the way of progress.
