company, all contracts have been taken over by the new company. The individual owners instead of receiving the 3 cents a pound, the contract price, have been paid a voluntary advance of half a cent a pound and a bonus of a quarter of a cent a pound. Last winter they were guaranteed a further advance of a cent a pound, and later they were assured of another cent a pound. So the growers who contracted direct will receive this year at least five and a half cents a pound, or two and a half cents a pound more than their original contracts called for. The growers delivering through the Salem Fruit Union have been offered the same treatment. So, the Phez company has voluntarily agreed and offered to pay this year some $120,000 bonus to the contract growers of loganberries, over and above the amounts provided for in the original contracts. This notwithstanding the fact that the industry they have developed, making a nationwide market for loganberries was built on the strength of the original contracts. The complaint in the suit sets forth the fact that they expended in advertising, on the strength of the validity of these contracts, $125,768 in 1917, and $112,484 in 1918, and have contracted for $125,000 for 1919, exclusive of $5000 for art work, and other incidental expenses. It is also set forth that they have 40 salesmen and demonstrators, averaging $250 a month each for salaries and expenses. Also, that they have expended over $50,000 on their jelly and jam plant in Salem. And all based upon the validity of their contracts. In the suit some 100 growers contracting with the Salem Fruit union are named, and they are under contract to furnish about 1200 tons of loganberries. The direct contracts call for about an equal tonnage, making about 2400 tons in all, upon the furnishing of which the nation-wide business of The Phez Company depends.

THEZ COMPANY SUES FOR POOL

Action Against Fruit Union Involves 1200 Tons of Loganberries

The Phez company has filed suit in circuit court against the Salem Fruit union to enjoin it from selling the Fruit union pool of loganberries to anyone but the plaintiff. It is alleged that the pool, which consists of the 1917, 1918, 1919, 1920 and 1921 loganberries of the defendants, who are growers, was contracted for by the plaintiffs with the defendants on May 24, 1917, and that the union has refused to deliver the fruit to the great damage of the Phez company. It is claimed that the 1917 crop was contracted for at 3 cents a pound half of which was to be paid on delivery and the remainder on or before January 1, 1918, and that the other crops of the pool were to be paid for at the rate of $61.50 for each ton, payment to be made 30 days after final delivery. Plaintiffs claim that the berries covered by the alleged contract are half of the amount used or to be used by them in manufacturing "Phez" or "Loju" and the jellies and jams and that if delivery is not made they will suffer in numerous ways. It is set forth that the loss because of the failure to deliver will be $100,000, the loss because of their being unable to meet the demand created by their nation-wide advertising will be $125,000 and the loss in prestige will be $150,000. The Phez company asks a restraining order against the sale of the pool pending the hearing of the suit, a permanent injunction when the case tried and an accounting between the plaintiffs and defendants. The 1200 tons of loganberries involved are the ones brought over to The Phez Company by the "Loju" people. "The 'Loju' people contracted with the Salem Fruit union for their supply. The Pheasant Northwest Products company contracted with growers direct for theirs. By the merging of the two companies, under the name of the Phez

How Much More Tobacco Will My Heart Stand?

A Vital Question for Every Man Who Smokes or Chews to Answer

May Cost a Life to Find Out

The heart of every user of tobacco bears a double burden. It dies its allotted task and then fights nicotine fatigue as long as the heart wins he lives; when it loses he dies, but before the final victory of nicotine you pass through many stages of decline and decay and suffer many pangs. Hearts are like human beings—some are stronger than others, therefore some hearts will stand more tobacco than others, but there is a limit to what any heart can stand. The man who puts this additional strain on his heart a dozen times a day by smoking cigarettes, a pipe or cigars—or chewing tobacco—is taking a madman's chance with health and life to lose and nothing to win but the chance that he may not lose them. He is indulging in a costly habit at the expense of precious health. Ask any doctor or physician and he will tell you that using tobacco is injurious and that it is far better to quit the habit than to experiment to find how much heart and health will stand without serious results. But the thought of quitting is unpleas- ant to most men— even to those who know that tobacco injures them—and to really quit takes more will power than they have and causes more suffering than they can stand to endure. To quit the habit, make it easy for yourself by getting Nicotol tablets and taking them as directed. The habit really quits you and its departure is a pleasure equal to its indifference. If you want to know how much easier it is to quit the habit with Nicotol than without it, go twenty-four hours without tobacco and note what an effort it costs you, then begin using it as usual and take Nicotol tablets. At least your desire will be greatly diminished and another week or two should make it not only possible, but a pleasure, to quit. Manufacturers' Note: Nicotol is sold under the positive guaranty that it is not injurious; that it contains no habit-forming drugs; that it will help any man to throw off the tobacco habit, and that any druggist will refund the entire purchase price if it fails. It is dispensed in Salem under this guaranty by D. J. Fry and other good druggists.
