CHURCH SHOWS GREAT GROWTH IN PAST YEAR

Friends in Annual Convention at Newberg Receive Encouraging Reports

PENNINGTON PRESIDES

Marguerite P. Elliott Appointed Reading Clerk of Yearly Meeting

NEWBERG, Or., June 14.—The morning's session of the Oregon yearly meeting of the Friends church today was devoted to the work of the board of foreign missions. The annual report of O. J. Sherman, of Portland, chairman of the board, was presented, and the report of the American Friends board of foreign missions, the central organization of the five years meeting of Friends in America.

At the close of this report, George H. Moore, of Bloomingdale, Ind., president of the board gave an address on the subject, "Some Problems of the American Friends Board," in which he dealt, plainly and illuminatingly, with many of the difficulties with which the board has been struggling, and the solution of which has sometimes been the occasion of misunderstanding and criticism. The address was listened to with great interest.

Missionary Interest Increases
The foreign missionary interests of the denomination were shown by the annual report to be advancing rapidly. Only a few years ago the total contribution through this board was only $30,000, while for the past year and a half the contributions have been at the rate of $100,000 a year, and the budget for the coming year is to be $155,000. The total expenditure for home expenses of all kinds including the extensive educational propaganda that has been put on is less than 9 per cent for the past year.

The annual statistical report, presented by Aaron M. Bray, shows that in spite of the extensive interruptions to the work of the yearly meeting on account of the influenza, and the largest death loss through this and other causes in the history of the yearly meeting, probably there is a net gain in membership of 37, making the present membership of the yearly meeting 3,973.

Finances Improve
The annual report of the department of systematic and proportionate giving was presented yesterday afternoon, and showed a great improvement in the financial affairs of the church, due to the maintenance of storehouse leagues in many meetings of the yearly meeting, through which organization the members bring the tithe of their income into the church. Largely as a result of this organization, the average payment to the pastors of the yearly meeting has increased 45 per cent the past year, and the finances of the yearly meeting and its various subordinate meetings are in better condition than ever before.

During the past year, a total of $30,000 has been raised by the yearly meeting, but it was pointed out that there was much yet to be done, since it is estimated that the tithe of the income of the entire membership would amount to $100,000 a year. Membership in the storehouse league is purely voluntary, and not all members belong to it even in the meetings where it has been organized. Much credit for the improvement in the church finances is due to J. Sanger Fox of Portland, field secretary for the yearly meeting the past year, who has made this his special work.

Water Gives Address
Following the report of this department of the work, Fred E. Carter of Newberg gave a very impressive address on Christian Stewardship.

The literature department made its annual report at the same session, though J. Allen Dunbar, of Portland, head of the department was unable to be present. In connection with this report Mrs. Nolan of Portland gave some excellent readings, and Prof. Alexander Hull of the vocal department of Pacific College School of Music, sang two sacred songs, accompanied by Mrs. Eva Hummer Hull, head of the piano department.

Salem Woman Elected
The officers for the yearly meeting session were appointed as follows: Presiding clerk, Levi T. Pennington of Newberg; recording clerk, Oliver Weesner, of Newberg; reading clerk, Margaret P. Elliott of Salem; announcing clerk, Chester A. Hadley, of Rosefield.

Joseph H. Smith arrived last night from Detroit, Mich., and had charge of the evangelistic service. This morning he began his "School of the Prophets," a series of addresses that will continue throughout the yearly meeting at the 8 p. m. hour each day.

The evangelistic and church extension work of the church is occupying the afternoon session. Tonight occurs the annual meeting of the Pacific college corporation.

SHE FEELS YOUNGER AND STRONGER

Middle-aged and older persons are apt to suffer from overweight or weakened kidneys and bladder. Mrs. Warren Dyer, Airport, N. Y., writes: "I used Foley's Kidney Pills for weakened kidneys and pains in my back, and they gave me relief. After taking Foley's Kidney Pills I feel younger and stronger." J. C. Perry.

SUPERVISOR TO GO TO COLLEGE

County Educational Board to Name Successor Today for John W. L. Smith

A successor to County School Supervisor, John W. L. Smith, resigned, will be named at the meeting of the county educational board which will be held today at the court house. The resignation of Mr. Smith was submitted several months ago.

Mr. Smith is leaving the supervisory work in order that he may enter Oregon Agricultural college next fall to take his degree in vocational agriculture one of the newest and heaviest courses at the college. He is preparing himself for an instructor in the work provided for by the Smith Hughes act and the Smith Leave bill.

Mr. Smith was appointed county school supervisor in 1911 when the office was created and has served continuously since that time. He is the oldest supervisor in point of service in Oregon, having served three years longer than any other holder of the office.

Speaking of the resignation of Mr. Smith, County School Superintendent W. M. Smith said: "We regret losing Mr. Smith as his services to the schools of the county have always been of a very high order and his loyalty to his work has never wavered. We are glad I am glad however, that he is going into the new work because in it he will be enabled to serve more fully than he could have done as supervisor."

The members of the county educational board beside Superintendent Smith are John W. Kellis, Scotts Mills; G. W. Hubbs, Silverton; J. W. Alexander, Sunnyside; Fred L. Scott, Liberty.

GRADUATES OF SALEM SCHOOL GET DIPLOMAS

would take a keen interest in their welfare during the days to come. He likewise explained briefly the financial side of school life and assured emphatically that every cent spent in the education of Salem's boys and girls will be repaid with interest in the accomplishments of those who are being prepared for the battle of life.

James C. Nelson announced that Miss McCoy and Adial Esteb are the winners of the two Williamette University scholarships which are offered annually by the Methodist institution. Miss Wilda Ingels was selected as alternate in case either of the other two decides not to take advantage of the scholarship.

The work accomplished by the class speakers in addresses which drew well-merited applause, Maud McCoy, who won first scholarship honors, told of the work American women did in the recent war. Donald Ryan, president of the high school associated student body, spoke on "Leadership," while Adial Esteb, who had been selected by the faculty as one of the class speakers, talked on "Our Heritage."

Viola Ash rendered a pleasing violin solo, while a selected high school chorus and a girls' chorus furnished additional musical numbers. The audience joined in singing "Star Spangled Banner."

The invocation was delivered by Rev. Thomas Acheson and the benediction was said by Rev. G. L. Lovell.

For more than an hour after the closing exercises had been given, the assembly auditorium was alive with friends of the young people who sought to offer congratulations to those who proudly carried their diplomas.

NORTHWESTERN FARMERS START BUILDING FUND

$20,000 Subscribed at Spokane Convention Toward Temple at Washington

BARNES' POLICY SCORED

Daylight Saving Plan Opposed But Convention Indorses Good Roads Program

SPOKANE, Wash., June 13.—With every purpose accomplished for which it was called according to farm organization leaders, the northwestern farm conference adjourned this afternoon after three days session, during which arrangements had been completed for a second convention here next fall to perfect a federation of all farm organizations of the northwest.

In addition, more than $20,000 was subscribed by farmers in attendance toward the erection of a temple of agriculture in Washington, D. C., as a home for all national farm organizations, and the purchase for $56,000 of a four story building in the national capital to serve this purpose until a new structure can be erected was announced. The cost, it was stated is guaranteed by the northwestern farmers.

Resolutions passed included one in opposition to the daylight saving plan, for more good roads and county bond issues to meet their cost; for a government land settlement policy; for reduced freight and express rates on seeds; for a 1920 wheat price to prevent loss to growers; for teaching animal husbandry and domestic science in the public and rural schools; and for the establishment in the northwest of a branch of the bureau of animal industry.

A cablegram ordered sent to President Wilson condemning wheat Administrator Barnes' agreement for a minimum purchase price for wheat with millers, buyers and bakers, and asked that this policy be forbidden by the president.

A conference of Montana farmers with the same purpose as that held here, is to be held at Roseman tomorrow, and next week meetings are to be held in North and South Dakota.
