THE SALVATION ARMY—GIVE IT A HOME

The Salvation Army has grown to be the biggest little thing on earth.

It is the salvage organization of the wide world. It takes care of the human wreckage.

And it does this partly from the sales of old paper and clothes and general junk.

It goes into the highways and byways and helps to clean up and patch up the world.

In a city like Salem, the center of a great country, it deserves a home of its own.

It deserves better facilities for carrying on its activities, industrial, social, relief and religious.

The Elks have undertaken to provide the means for this home—to raise $20,000 in Marion county, of which $18,000 is to be devoted to securing the home, and $2000 for expenses.

This effort ought to succeed. It must succeed.

Said a writer in the Oregonian of a few days ago, speaking of the Salvation Army: "Money placed in its hands lifts the fallen, makes the world better for the unfortunate, brightens life for the physically or morally exhausted. It is the great medium for reaching and alleviating the lowest depths of misery."

The down and out man is a potential criminal. If he concludes that the world is against him, it is not far to a decision to turn his hand against the world.

The Salvation Army furnishes a rallying point for the down and out man.

It gives him a bed; a meal; a kind word; a new outlook upon life. It finds him a job. It shows him that some one cares for him. It points him to the better way.

A well established Salvation Army home in Salem will in the future years prevent many a chime on the distant farms of this county, and other counties.

It will make the whole country a safer place in which to live. So this is every man's concern.

And every one should give—and give more. Not mere pennies and dimes and dollars—but as much as can be spared.

This thing has got to be put over. The Elks could not afford to let it lag. Neither could any person in all Marion county. It has just got to be done, as it ought to be done, and done quickly.

"MERELY A NEWSPAPER REPORT"—SENATOR LODGE

(From the New York World)

In reply to an inquiry asking his opinion of the proposed Anglo-American agreement to assist France in case of an unprovoked attack by Germany, Senator Lodge said he "must decline to express an opinion on the question you suggest, which is merely a newspaper report."

So far as that goes, Senator Lodge does not know that there has been a war except from mere newspaper report. He never saw the war. He never saw the German Army mobilized; he never saw the invasion of Belgium; he never saw the retreat from the Marne; he never saw the Hindenburg line; he never saw the spring offensive of 1918 and the turning back of the Germans at Chateau-Thierry in the summer.

All the proof he has that a Peace Conference is in session is "merely a newspaper report." We doubt if he could produce a scrap of legal evidence to prove that the President of the United States is in Paris and not in Hoboken, N. J. And the Senator has "merely a newspaper report" to show that the German delegates are at Versailles, that the peace treaty has been presented to them, that Clemenceau made a speech and Brockdorff-Rantzau replied. And he had "merely a newspaper report" that the President called a special session of Congress, but he promptly ordered the Republican Senators to attend a caucus. In short, most of the things engaging Senator Lodge's attention these days are "merely a newspaper report."

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Howard have asked the writer to print a card of thanks for them, to the many friends who sent flowers and spoke kind words and gave expression in various ways to sympathetic thoughts, on the occasion of the funeral of their son, Theodore R., who met with the fatal automobile accident on Saturday evening last. And the bereaved parents of "Ted" Howard are assured that many people throughout Salem had kind thoughts and sympathetic tears for them that were not openly expressed to them, for lack of opportunity. "Ted" Howard was a wonderful boy. He had a remarkable mind and memory. He had a great heart. He was loving and loved. The little children and the dumb animals on his rounds were his friends—because he was their friend. Not only have the bereaved parents lost the idol of their hearts, but the whole community has lost a citizen set apart for great things and useful service. "Ted" Howard has left a void not easily filled. He has left a memory that will be cherished always.

Mr. Bryan will speak at the Salem Chautauqua on Wednesday evening, July 23. The tent will have to be expanded.

If the former German crown prince is back in Germany, he is a poor asset for that country. He is not worth his board in any country.

One of the crying needs of this nation is a provision that if we ever have another war it will be impossible for any man or woman to get a profit out of it.

Germany will never have a chance to treat any part of the peace treaty as a scrap of paper. She will be watched, and guarded—as long as she has any party within her border with any such idea.

One of the trouble about unemployment is that there are too many gentry who positively refuse to appear in overalls. They are not looking for a job but a "position."

However, those who insist upon having their drink can go to New Zealand after July 1. That is "wet," all right. But the airplane route to New Zealand is not yet open to the public.

The Democratic minority in the United States senate criticises the make-up of the committees in that body by the Republicans. But aren't the pesky Democrats hard to suit? It may be said for the new committees that the chairmanships are not monopolized by the Southern Democrats.

The biggest wheat crop in the history of Kansas is being harvested just now, and at the government price of $2.26 per bushel, the fate of a Kansas farmer is not a hard one. It is but a short time since that state was flooded with circulars advising the farmers to hold their wheat for a dollar a bushel. "Them was the happy days."

NOT SO FISHY.

If Russia doesn't sober up and go to work pretty soon we'll all be out of caviare.

REALITIES.

The first meeting of the League of Nations will be held in Washington in October. By that time some of these senators will find out there is such an animal.

NOT SENTIMENT.

The French people are considered sentimental, but they are still teaching German in the schools and universities of France. This is purely for its practical use. The French may have to tell the Germans where to get off and they want to be sure the Prussians understand it.

PLAYING AT WHOLESALE.

Detroit has a cross between a clearinghouse and a public market in which to live their sports. There is an eight-story, million dollar building for a recreation center and almost any worthy amusement can be found under its vast roof. There are no less than 103 billiard and pool tables, which makes of it the greatest billiard hall in the world. Likewise there are no less than eighty-eight bowling alleys. In these two departments alone pastime may be furnished to a thousand persons at one time. It took the tusks of 100 elephants or $10,000 worth of ivory for the pool and billiard balls in daily use. It is a wholesale playhouse with restaurants and soft drink parlors aplenty. It takes the place of 17 saloons and the people of the city seem to like it, for it is fairly filled most of the time.

A TRUE DEMOCRAT.

This is the description applied to a king by the president of the world's greatest republic. It goes without saying that the king is Albert of Belgium. President Wilson, during his visit to the little country so severely mauled by Germany, which was pledged to protect it, spoke for all America when he paid his tribute to the Belgian as a real statesman, a real ruler and a true democrat. Terribly as Belgium suffered un-

5th. Be sure to take a sweat the first thing after getting bowels cleaned out.

6th. Take a cold abdominal pack at night; and keep body warm at all times. If necessary use hot water bottles. Hot pack to spine at night.

7th. When confined to bed, take a hot abdominal pack from hips to chest, around the entire body in the morning.

8th. Above all else, do not fear the flu. Fear only makes it worse because the body's resisting power is depleted by fear.

9th. The main thing is to clean the alimentary canal and the body thoroughly and the symptoms of disease will disappear.

der the blood and iron rule of the Germans, she has won through the war something that she did not possess at that fateful hour when the gray legions plunged across her borders. She has been released from the shackles of dependence upon those who guaranteed her neutrality, one of whom so infamously betrayed her. She has become a nation on an equality with other nations, and America, one is thankful to say, played no small part in giving her this rightful position. The League of Nations takes the place of the guarantors of Belgium's neutrality and so Belgium has, as the President so well put it, "Once more come into her own through this deep valley of suffering through which she has gone."

In facing what all the world hopes will be a splendid future, Belgium is to be congratulated on having at its head a true democrat, even though he wear a crown. Of all the allied sovereigns, Albert is the one most loved by Americans, and under his guidance as a lifelong president, the gallant little country may look forward to a remarkable recovery from the ills forced upon it by a rapacious and cruel foe.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

Glorious showers yesterday morning.

Bryan will fill the Salem Chautauqua tent on July 23; and then some.

The Turkish delegation at the peace conference is going through the motions of making demands. If any attention whatever is paid to them, the peace delegates ought to be sentenced to Turkey for life.

The young aviator who abused Salemites because they did not see him coming, and offer him the earth with a fence around it, takes himself too darned seriously. Aviators are all right, when they behave themselves, but they have no call to get up in the air.

All the committees are working like beavers to make Salem's three-day celebration and home coming for the soldier boys one to be remembered and referred to as the greatest ever.

After the paper mill, and a few others, then will come the linen mill. It is on the tapis; in the wool and warp of time.

Well, have you subscribed to the Salvation Army fund? If not, it is up to you.

BANKING BOARD LOSES IN COURT

Bingham Holds That Bennett Must Issue Charter to St. Johns Men

Judge G. G. Bingham of the circuit court of Marion county has issued a peremptory writ of mandamus against State Bank Superintendent Will H. Bennett and the state banking board, upon petition of St. Johns and others, directors of the proposed new Bank of Commerce at St. Johns, Portland, requiring that a charter be issued for the new bank. The banking board will appeal to the supreme court.

The petitioners asserted that Superintendent Bennett violated the constitution and the spirit of the law in refusing a charter because in his opinion a new bank was not justified at St. Johns. In this the superintendent was upheld by the board to which the directors appealed.

The argument was put forward that if the superintendent, on his own opinion, could refuse a charter on grounds that a new bank would not be justified this would be equivalent to giving him power to exclude competition, and to say that he superintendent might arbitrarily, and for reason other than those specified in the statute, refuse a charter, would be a violation of the clause in the constitution which reads: "No law shall be passed granting any citizen or class of citizens privileges or immunities, which, upon the same terms, shall not belong to all citizens."

"It appears," says Judge Bingham's opinion, "that plaintiffs have complied with all requirements of the law authorizing them to be incorporated as a banking institution, and defendants have attempted to exercise judicial power not vested in them by law, and they have not performed the ministerial duty conferred upon them."

"The opinion which the superintendent of banks is to form is whether the applicants have brought themselves within the statutory rule; that is, have they filed the necessary documents, is the charter and general fitness of the stockholders and officers such as to command the confidence of the community; do the aggregate deposits of existing banks amount to at least five times the total amount of capital stock required? If all these facts exist in the opinion of the superintendent of banks then the granting of a charter to the new bank is justified. This duty would be ministerial, not judicial, and its exercise would not conflict with constitutional provision."
