

The SECRET of our SUCCESS is not to be found in the many delicate scientific instruments alone, which we use in examining the eyes, but in the skillful manipulation and the trained judgement of the operator. We offer you a high class service, that is hard to duplicate. Step into our optical parlor and have your eyes examined. Correct fitting guaranteed.

recorder's office. He was with the 25th company, Twentieth engineers and served with the A. E. F. from March 29, 1918, till June 19, 1919. Gustave O. Bach of Silverton who enlisted March 29, 1917, at Woodburn, has also filed his discharge for record. He was a first class private with Company I, 126th infantry and saw service in the Alsace sector, the Aisne-Marne and the Meuse-Argonne offensives and later served with the army of occupation. Cline H. Galbraith, also of Silverton, a wagoner with supply company 237th infantry, has filed his discharge. He enlisted July 4, 1914, at Woodburn and served in the Toul sector, the Marbeche offensive, and at St. Mihiel and the Argonne forest. P. M. Albus of Aumsville, who served with Company H, 359th infantry in the Meuse-Argonne offensive and the Aneville sector, has had his discharge recorded. An interesting discharge record is that of Arthur Girod of route 8, Salem. He served in the Spanish American war and was present at the capture of Manila and took part in other engagements in the Philippines.

Dangerous to Carry Bluing—A vigilant citizen of Salem the other day noticed a rather unsteady man with a bottle protruding from his pocket walking about at the Oregon Electric station. She immediately called the man to the attention of a minion of the law and suggested that it would be well to search him at once, as he might make his escape on the train standing at the station. The officer dutifully kept the man under surveillance until the train pulled out and then, walking up to him demanded that the contents of the suspicious bottle be made known. When produced the bottle proved to be full of—bluing for the Monday's wash.

E. Herren in the logs be declared subject and inferior to the plaintiff's lien.

For Rent, Newport, Oregon—Furnished cottages and tents, at Whitten camp grounds. Garage in camp. Call or write Mrs. M. F. Hull, Newport, Ore.

Executrix Files Petition—The widow of Joseph A. Thomas of Klamath Falls, who died August 19, 1918, in Chico, California, has filed a petition to be appointed executrix of her husband's estate, which is valued at approximately $1000.

Sue for Damages—Charles Coghlan and J. A. Glatt of Woodburn have filed suits against N. Miller asking for $2050 in each case. It is alleged that Miller had both men arrested through spite and that when they came up for hearing they were both exonerated. The two suits for damages are the result of the arrests.

The Gasoline Horse—Only eats while it works. See "Trover," 442 State street. Will demonstrate for you at 165 N. Liberty street.

March of Victory Parade is Changed to Afternoon

The March of Victory which will be the main parade of the Fourth of July celebration originally set for 11:30 a. m. has been changed to 1:30 p. m. because of the impossibility of the first battalion Oregon National guard arriving in Salem in the morning.

The parade will follow close upon the street sports which are to begin at 1 o'clock and which will be held in the streets adjoining Willson park. The sports will include a number of snappy races, among them being several bicycle races of varying lengths and classes.

Children's Day Program at Pratum Notable Event

The qualifying round for the directors' cup will be played today at the Ilahsee country club course. The tournament follows a number of others which have been played this year and in which much interest has been manifested. It promises to be one of the most hotly contested of all the matches.

Appeal to O'Neill

In case of eye strain defective or imperfect vision Appeal to O'Neill.

Dr. O'Neill doesn't claim to be the greatest optometrist in Salem. Neither does he extol the remarkable superiority of his mechanical equipment. However, he realizes that good, conscientious painstaking service is necessary to substantial success. This is the foundation upon which he relies for professional patronage.

Dr. O'Neill is no stranger in Salem. He is one of our best known citizens and professional men. It's always safe to Appeal to O'Neill.
