INJUNCTION SUIT FILED BY BREWERS

the war power, and the conditions existing at this time are such that not only should the act not be extended but it should be repealed. War activities have ceased, the treaty with Germany has been signed, orders for the demobilization of the army will have been carried out in a few weeks, contracts for supplies for the army have been cancelled, control of th wires by the government has been ordered terminated and restrictions upon trade have practically been all removed. To all other subjects of legislation congress is proceeding upon the theory that the war is over.

"On May 20 last, in his message to congress, the president said:

"The demobilization of the military forces has progressed to such a point that it seems to me entirely safe now to remove the ban upon the manufacture and sale of wines and beer.'

"Instead of extending the act to include beverages not now included in the prohibition, congress should at least lift the ban to the extent suggested by the president."

MRS. WARREN TYPIFIED WEST

Whitman Massacre Survivor Lived Life Full of Varied Events

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho, July 5.—With the death here recently of Mrs. Eliza Spalding Warren at the age of 82 years, there passed one of the few remaining participants in the early history of the northwestern country. Mrs. Warren was believed to have been the oldest living white woman born west of the Rocky mountains and was a witness of the massacre by Indians of Dr. Marcus Whitman and members of his household, November 29, 1847.

Mrs. Warren was born at Lapwai, Idaho, in November, 1837, a year after her father and mother, Rev. Henry Harmon Spalding and his wife had crossed the mountains with Dr. and Mrs. Whitman to become missionaries to the Indians of the northwest. She was said to have been the second white child born in the region surrounding the Nez Perce Indian mission founded there by her father and mother.

Goes to Mission Early.

At the age of nine years Mrs. Warren was taken by her father to the Whitman mission in the Walla Walla valley to receive her early education and it was there when she was a child of 10 years that she saw Dr. Whitman struck down by a tomahawk in the hands of an Indian who had come to him ostensibly for medical attention, and Mrs. Whitman shot down inside her home. With other surviving members of the party, she was rescued later from the savages.

The summer after her arrival at the Whitman mission, Mrs. Warren, in company with her brother Henry and her father, made a horseback journey to The Dalles, Ore., and from there by rowboat down the Columbia river to the present site of Portland. Portland then consisted of one log building, she states in her memoirs. There were two families at The Dalles, and Astoria comprised "one little shack of a house perchd on a hillsid."

Mrs. Warren was maried in 1854 and lived for a time near Brownsville Ore., where her body was buried. She traveled by oxteam to the Walla Walla country in 1859 and in 1873 located in eastern Oregon where her children were born and reared. Her husband died in 1886.

WAR WIDOW TO CHRISTEN SHIP

Mrs. Martha Davidson's Husband Lost Life on Illfated "Tuscania"

ANACONDA, Mont., July 5.—Mrs. Martha Harrison Davidson, daughter of Frank W. Harrison, a pioneer newspaper man of this city, will christen the U. S. S. "DeerLodge" at Portland, Ore., this summer, according to announcement by T. P. Stewart, liberty loan chairman. Mrs. Davidson is the young widow of Chauncey Davidson, himself the son of pioneers who lost his life on the illfated transport Tuscania, torpedoed by the Germans.

Miss Harrison and young Davidson were married on December 6, 1917, and the next day the soldier left for service with company F, sixth battalion, Twentieth engineers. The great adventure for Davidson ended when his name was included as among the missing after the Tuscania, carrying American troops to France, was torpedoed off the Irish coast.

The new ship which is to be christened Deer Lodge, the name of this county, will bear the name because of the efforts made locally in the liberty loan drives. The steel hull at Portland now is known as No. 1417. Mrs. Davidson is attending the University of Washington at Seattle.

We have been selling property, both in the city and country, all good buys; we have told you about that 60 acre tract of bottom land within two miles of Salem, most all in cultivation, for $125 per acre, and on easy terms; or will divide.

Also that 66 acre farm of rich bottom land, with farm buildings, stock, crop and machinery, for $6000. You will say, "What a fool I was for not taking that in when I had an opportunity." Your sitting around and hollering about prices being too high will not stop them from going up; if you could only realize that the country is developing, and the quicker you buy the better deal you can make, you would see our property list at once.
