ONE PROTESTS EXTRA SESSION

Representative Smith Says Governor Puts Solons in Unfair Position

Representative A. A. Smith of Baker county is the first member of the Oregon legislature to enter a protest against calling a special session of the legislature for the consideration of the Susan B. Anthony universal woman suffrage amendment. In a letter to the governor, Representative Smith tells the executive he has placed the members of the legislature in an unfair position by imposing the condition that they pay their own expenses. "I think it is the grossest kind of imposition," he says. Mr. Smith says that in any event he is opposed to calling a special session at this time.

"If in the course of the next year," he writes "35 states have ratified the amendment and it is necessary for Oregon to take action in order that women may vote at the next presidential election this may place a different aspect upon the whole matter."

Speaking of the governor's condition that the legislators pay their own expenses, Smith says:

"This absolutely does not meet my approval, and I think it is unfair that the legislators should be placed in a position of apparent opposition to the calling of a special session where circumstances are such that they do not feel it just that they should be asked to attend this session without mileage and per diem. We from eastern Oregon are situated a great distance from Salem and it will require considerable time and money for us to attend the session. If the matter to be transacted when we reach Salem is not of sufficient importance to the state of Oregon that the state can afford to bear the expense, then it is not of sufficient importance to the legislators to bear the expense themselves. I think it is the grossest kind of imposition that we should be asked to do this in this manner and I think you have placed us in an unfair position by making the statement you have, particularly with reference to legislators attending without expense to the state."

If a special session is called, Walter M. Pierce, state senator from Union county insists that time should be given to amend the soldiers, sailors and marines educational aid enactment which has proven difficult to interpret.

"I am positive in my opinion," writes Senator Pierce, "that you ought to call a special session of the Oregon legislature to adopt the amendment to the constitution enfranchising women. Women of the nation ought to be allowed to vote Oregon ought to act promptly." Representative A. R. Hunter of Union county is strong for a special session and willing to pay his own expenses. Representative B. F. Jones of Lincoln county and Oscar W. Horne of Multnomah yesterday lined up in favor of a special session. Both signed form letters sent out by the state suffrage committee except that Mr. Jones erased that portion of the letter stating that the signer would be willing to confine the session to the suffrage question only. Mr. Jones is secretary of the Roosevelt Highway association. Representative J. M. Crawford of Yamhill sent a similar letter but is willing to consider any legislation deemed necessary.

SETTLEMENT OF HOME TROUBLES IS RECOMMENDED

State Board of Conciliation Would Have Franchises Readjusted

GOVERNOR HAS REPORT Deplorable Condition is Uncovered in Recent Telephone Strike

A recommendation that public service corporations having their existence in Oregon be required under their franchises or charters to arrange their personnel and powers so that adjustment of differences between a corporation and its employees in any locality may be possible is embodied in a report of the state board of conciliation to Governor Olcott. The report is made under a provision of the act creating the board which requires a report to the governor on July 31 of each year.

This recommendation of the board doubtless comes as a result of its experience in trying to settle the telephone strike, for in the board's report to Mayor Baker of Portland, appended to the report to Governor Olcott, appears this statement:

"The board deprecates the existing status of the company's officials, a body of men who have endeavored in the past, and are now endeavoring, to honestly and faithfully fulfill the duties of their respective offices; who have, and are now, endeavoring to give to the public efficient service; whose attitude toward their employees, as shown by the testimony given, has at all times evinced a spirit of sympathy and co-operation, but who at the same time, are denied the power to meet, confer and adjust differences which may arise in the local field. Such a condition, affecting as it does, a public service corporation so vital to the well-being of the people of this community, becomes intolerable during the present crisis, and is fraught with grave danger as to the future. No state-created board of conciliation can be of the slightest avail if the authority for the adjustment of differences is lodged at points hundreds and thousands of miles away from the seat of trouble."

Three industrial controversies that have had the attention of the board are reported on to the governor. Results of efforts made to settle the telephone strike, the board reports, were only partially satisfactory. Relative to the differences between the train handlers and dock operators the board believes the trouble was arbitrated satisfactorily. The third controversy is that between roller men, stationery engineers and several of the paving companies having contracts with the state highway commission.

Concerning the latter, the report says:

"The issues involved are those of hours and wages. At this date no further step has been reached than a tentative agreement which arbitration has been suggested and is now under consideration by the companies. The men are anxious to return to their places if there can be given them a suitable recognition of their demands on the two points at issue. Recognition of the union is not deemed one of their conditions."

Rhodes Scholars Will Be Selected from This State

"The prevalent idea of Oxford university as an institution teaching only Greek and Latin is to tally erroneous," Professor H. G. Merriam, whom is secretary of the committee of selection of Rhodes scholars for Oregon, asserted today in Portland. "A man may study any of the natural sciences, and any of the professional, as well as all the general college subjects. Past Rhodes scholars

SKIN GRAFTING HELD NECESSARY

Volunteers Are Wanted to Bring Relief to Little Erna King

If there are any persons in Salem who can spare an inch or two of skin to assist a little girl who has been severely burned and who without skin grafting will have to lie for months in the hospital they are asked to communicate with Willamette Sanitarium.

Little 11-year-old Erna King is the child. She was severely burned July 2 while camping out and picking berries about 20 miles east of Salem and has been in the hospital ever since. She was helping to prepare dinner when the stove pipe blew down and her dress caught fire. A boy who was near attempted to smother the flames by wrapping her in a blanket, but before the fire could be extinguished she was seriously burned on both arms, on her right side and on her right thigh.

"Oregon wishes to send two of its best men to represent it at Oxford university among the other scholars from the other states," he said. "We have splendid educational institutions, and our representatives should stand high."

burned away that it will be months before it grows again, if it ever does. With the assistance of skin grafting, the suffering could soon be ended and the wounds healed.

Skin can be taken from any part of the body with absolutely no pain and the spot from which it was removed will heal in a week's time. Those who are willing to help the child are asked to telephone the Willamette Sanitarium, No. 290, giving their names and addresses and it is hoped that enough people will respond to make the skin grafting operation possible next week.
