The Modern Way of Practicing Dentistry

By DR. PARKER

Founder and Executive Head of the E. R. Parker System

REGISTERED Dentists using the E. R. Parker System practice dentistry on the same principle as a leader conducts an orchestra.

A good orchestra consists of violinists, cornetists, trombonists, clarinetists, flute-players, drummers and all the rest, and when they play together the result is harmonious melody.

DR. PARKER

No man can be a complete orchestra by himself. Following that simple idea, the E. R. Parker System recognizes that no man can be a complete dental establishment by himself.

And so the Registered Dentists using the Parker System are men who have been trained to do some one kind of dental work particularly well by doing much of it.

The kind of work your teeth require is done by the dentist who is trained in that kind of work, just as the man who knows how to play the violin is the man who has been trained to play the violin in an orchestra.

Thus the dental work done under the Parker System is as good as can be done anywhere.

And the prices asked for this kind of work are more than reasonable, for specialists lose no time, and time saved is money saved, and this saving is shared with the patient.

If you think that Dentistry under the Parker System is done the right way, come in, have your teeth examined free, and learn in advance how little the price will be for having your teeth properly cared for.

WOMAN SAVED MUCH SUFFERING

Bytaking Friend's Advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

West Plains, Mo.—"I was all run down in health, had indigestion and terrible cramps every month so I was unable to do anything. I had tried every doctor in West Plains, also every remedy I could think of, without relief. One day when I was suffering greatly a friend was at my house and said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' So I did, and through it, I found relief from my suffering and I really believe it saved my life. It does not seem as though I can say enough in praise of this wonderful medicine for the health it has brought me."

—Miss CORA LEE HALL, West Plains, Mo.

"Perhaps it may seem an extravagant statement to say that this great remedy saved a life; but women like Mrs. Hall, to whom it has brought health, appreciate the danger and suffering they have escaped too well to doubt it! All who suffer should try it. Why risk life and health without it?"

PERSHING GOES ON FINAL TRIP OVER ALL ZONES

General Desires Dead to Rest in Soil Where They Gave All

CROWDS ACCLAIM CHIEF

Commander of A. E. F. to be Homeward Bound Early in September

PARIS, Aug. 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Prior to his departure for Coblenz Thursday night where on Friday he began his "valetictory" tour of German occupied territory, first visiting the American troops and then the French and British zones, General John J. Pershing, in the afternoon received the American newspaper correspondents in his Paris home.

General Pershing, trked on various subjects—the American dead buried in France, against the removal of which he would advise; the preparations that are being made for the American troops to leave France and concerning the release of the 48,000 German prisoners held by the American army.

Famed Battalion Reviewed

Later General Pershing reviewed the famous American composite battalion which represented the American expeditionary forces in Paris in the Bastille day parade and in London at the Victory day celebration. The review probably will be the last of the American military ceremonies in France. Large crowds viewed the evolutions and accorded the troops a hearty reception.

General Pershing's trip Friday which was made by automobile carried him over the entire western battle front from Belfort, near the Swiss border, to Neuport, on the Belgian coast.

Cemeteries to be Hallowed

In declaring that he did not favor the removal of the American dead buried in France, General Pershing said he was arranging for a conference with American artists with a view to making plans for the beautification of permanent cemeteries and the erection of monuments to the American soldiers. He spoke with some emphasis, saying he felt that as the men had fought and died in France, they should lie in France. He said he believed the French felt the same as he did and that the presence of the American dead in their soil would always be a reminder of how the two nations had fought together. He added that each year there would be official representation at Memorial day celebrations.

General Pershing said the task of assembling the American dead in national cemeteries was progressing rapidly and satisfactorily notwithstanding the great difficulties encountered. The permanency of the American cemeteries was absolutely assured, he said. A general scheme for their beautification, devised by an artists committee would be submitted to the war department and probably a special commission would be created to take over the work of caring for the graves, maintenance of the burial grounds and the upkeep of the monuments.

S. O. S. Cleans Up

With regard to preparations for leaving France General Pershing said the service of supply was rapidly cleaning up everywhere and could be ready on ten days notice to turn everything over to the French. Of the American forces remaining in France General Pershing said about 325 officers, largely reserves, were on duty with the Hoover commission, engaged in relief work. Most of these officers would remain in civilian capacities when demobilized.

It was his opinion, General Pershing declared, that the 48,000 German prisoners held by the American army might be released as soon as the German peace treaty is ratified by three of the great powers. He did not believe it would be necessary to await ratification of the treaty by the United States senate.

Crowds Embrace General

General Pershing spoke with feeling of his gratification and pride at the reception given the American contingent, both in Paris and London parades and likewise of his personal reception in England.

For the review this afternoon great crowds gathered, although no official notice that the review would be held had been published.

The spectators cheered the splendid battalion of picked men as it swung by in full marching equipment with clock like precision that has made it famous, both in Paris and London.

Hugh C. Wallace, American ambassador, stood at General Pershing's right. When the ceremony ended the crowds pushed forward and surrounded General Pershing, shaking his hand and patting him on the back. Many women held up babies to be kissed. General Pershing's staff endeavored to form a body-guard to get him to his automobile, but the general laughingly submitted to the demonstration, kissed baby after baby and shook hands with everyone who managed to get near him. Finally as he entered his car it was to rousing cheers for the United States and himself.

Home in September

General Pershing expects to depart for the United States early in September.

MARVIN ZEHNER STILL MISSING

Hubbard Boy Believed to Have Left Home to Obtain an Education

What has become of Marvin Zehner, a 15-year-old Hubbard boy who left his home about April 30?

The whereabouts of young Zehner have not been ascertained. There is no clue to his whereabouts since he left the Rontvedt home at Chitwood, Oregon. While at the Rontvedt home his department was reported good. He was quiet and well behaved. He expressed his intentions to find a place to earn his way through school next winter and had the idea that his father, S. W. Zehner will not school him. Because of this idea, it is thought, he decided to forsake his home April 30, last. He has ambition to obtain an education.

As to schooling Mr. Zehner makes this statement:

"If he will return home he can have the advantage of the high school course in his own town.

"Marvin is entreated to come home and take his place. He surely will be received kindly and every consideration that reason will prompt because we are quite sure that Marvin is well meaning.

"I will make this generous offer. If he does not wish to return home but will write home promptly we will not compel him to return but if he desires we will give our consent to his staying away."

The sum of $25 will be given any one locating the missing boy. Also any clue as to his whereabouts since leaving Chitwood will be greatly appreciated by the parents.
