

COUNTY LIBRARY NOW PROBABLE

Judge Bushey Sets October 2 As Date for Hearing on Question

Representatives of the county library movement will be granted a hearing by County Judge Bushey on October 2, at which a definite decision will be reached as to whether a tax can be levied in Marion county for the maintenance of a county library system. A law passed by the legislature of 1913 provides that in counties of certain population a tax of not more than one-fifth of a mill may be levied for support of a county library.

Judge Bushey was consulted yesterday by representatives of different towns of the county and of the Salem Library association after a conference had been held at the Salem public library, and granted Oct. 2 as the date for a hearing.

Representatives from Woodburn, Aurora, Silverton and Gervais attended the conference yesterday and A. A. Lea and Mrs. Louis Lachmund, representing the Salem association.

CHURCH PULPIT FOR MEDIATION

Dr. Kantner First to Give Place to Speakers for Strikeless City

Dr. W. C. Kantner, pastor of the First Congregational church, is the first Salem minister to turn over his pulpit for speakers in behalf of voluntary mediation for the settlement of industrial disputes. Tonight representatives of both employes and employers and of public welfare in general will be in Dr. Kantner's pulpit to address the people of Salem on the voluntary mediation movement which has had its inception in Salem.

The speakers tonight will be T. E. McCroskey, manager of the Salem Commercial club; P. L. Traylo, vice president of the Salem Trades and Labor council; J. H. Arnold, representing the Loyal Legion of Loggers and Lumbermen, and Col. E. Hofer, representing the employers.

The purpose of the movement which has begun in Salem was to make Salem a strikeless city and Oregon a strikeless commonwealth, with Salem as its center.

Pacific Highway Residents Now Get Electric Lights

Contracts have been entered into between the Portland Railway, Light & Power company and seven residents living on the Pacific highway for the furnishing of electricity for lighting and other household uses. The service is now available for residents along Pacific highway for a distance of about one and one-third miles north of Salem. Those contracting with the company are Lloyd T. Reynolds, Mrs. Sallie Reynolds, A. E. Peterson, D. X. Beechler, F. H. Garland, T. W. Steiger and Frank Comstock. The persons contracting have agreed to pay the company $1130, the actual cost of extending the lines. But the subscribers will receive service free for two years in return for the company taking over the poles and wiring. Another way of explaining the arrangement is that each party pays an average of $161.50 for the service, which is refunded over a period of two years because no charge for service is made. At the end of the two years those patrons will receive monthly bills in the regular manner.

Forces to Combat "Flu" Are Now Being Mustered

Nurses and volunteer helpers are to be listed and prepared to assist in curbing any repetition of a "flu" epidemic. Red Cross and civilian relief workers are also urged to cooperate in taking all measures possible to combat the plague, especially by reporting the first cases and instituting an effective quarantine to reduce the spread of the disease to the smallest minimum. The above is the gist of a letter being sent out by the headquarters of Wilmette chapter, American Red Cross, to all auxiliary branches of the organization. The following excerpts are quoted from the letter: "A wave of this plague is inevitable, as it has appeared in Chicago, and when it comes toll is taken without regard. Preparedness is the one means of defense and concrete examples could be cited and evidence shown where communities realizing the need of co-operation by prompt action and organization have reduced the danger of this epidemic, and in some instances entirely eradicated it. Salem is expected to respond. The Red Cross chapter want the names of helpers now. Don't wait. The call may come at any time and we must be prepared."

Mrs. Alice H. Dodd, secretary of the Red Cross service bureau, located over the postoffice, is ready to enroll any names of those who are prepared to respond to the call. To date there has been no appearance of the "flu" in Salem, but medical authorities urge that attention be given to these measures to cope with any recurrence of the disease.

ENROLLMENT AT CHEMAWA HEAVY FOR FIRST WEEK

Capacity of 600 Students is Expected to be Filled in Short Time

ATHLETIC OUTLOOK GOOD

Reuben Sanders, Well Known Star, is Again Coaching Football Team

CHEMAWA, Or., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Statesman)—The Chemawa Indian school began its academic sessions last Monday. There was a heavy enrollment for so early in the season, and the expectation that Superintendent Hall will again have the school crowded to capacity will no doubt be fulfilled within a few weeks. The capacity of the school is in the neighborhood of 600 students, and with the various teachers, craftsmen, clerks, etc., together with their families, there are as a general thing between 700 and 800 people at the school. It has the appearance of a little city, in fact. It boasts independent light, power and water systems. A modern system of sewers keeps sanitary conditions A-1 all the time.

Chemawa has always been strong in athletics, and Superintendent Hall is an enthusiastic supporter of the various phases of sports, not alone on account of the contests themselves and the interest they create, but for the good, both mentally and physically, that results when competently handled. For this reason both girls and boys are encouraged to participate in the different seasonal athletic contests. Just at present there may be seen every evening after school a squad of young Indian boys on the field trying out for places on the football team.

Reuben Sanders, an old-timer who needs no introduction to the athletic world, is coaching the boys. He states that just yet it is too early to make any emphatic predictions, but he believes the school will have a team which will be a credit to the traditions of the past at Chemawa. The schedule of games for the season has not yet been completed.

The regular course of study at the Shemawa Indian school calls for classes in physical culture, for both girls and boys. These classes are in charge of George W. Bent, who has had many years experience in work of this character.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS MEET AT HAYESVILLE

Week from Today is Time Set for Meeting of District Convention

BIG QUESTIONS ARE UP

Men and Women Known Widely for Work With Children Are on Program

The Hayesville district Sunday school convention will be held Sunday, September 28, at Fruitland. Song service will begin at 10 a. m. followed by devotional service conducted by Rev. S. S. Baumgartner. The lessons for the last quarter will be reviewed by Carl Miller, Rev. S. S. Baumgartner and Allen McCain. Miss Georgia Parker, superintendent of the children's division of the Oregon Sunday School association from Portland will give an address, "The Childhood of Oregon," to be followed by a basket dinner.

At 1:15 p. m. three meetings will be held, one for the delegates to decide the next place for the convention to meet. A boys meeting at the schoolhouse and a children's division conference conducted by Miss Georgia Parker especially for all teachers who teach children under 12 years old.

Rev. H. C. Stover will conduct a children's hour after the business session. An address by Miss Georgia Parker, "Misunderstood Children," will close the program for the day. Special music will be furnished throughout the program by a choir composed of members of a number of different Sunday schools. All superintendents of the district are expected to bear in mind the decision made at the last business meeting that all payments due for state and county work up to July, 1920, should be paid by the time for the coming convention. All report blanks must be mailed at once to Mrs. William Scharf at Pratum. Fruitland is located about four miles east of the state hospital on a good gravelled road within easy reach of most of the Sunday schools of the district.

WHAT NATUROPATHY TEACHES

Naturopathy teaches that since the forces of Nature are able to make the body in the first place and to maintain it in running order—in a state of health—that, therefore, these same forces of Nature are able to restore the body to health when it is sick if the causes of the sickness are removed. In other words, health is the result of the unobstructed working of the natural forces of the body, while disease is the result of interference with the working of the natural forces of the body. Naturopathy teaches that the human body, like that of every other animal, is self healing, if disease-producing interferences are removed so that the body's natural forces may function normally.

Naturopathy teaches that the conditions necessary in order that the natural forces of the body may function normally are, a pure and unobstructed blood stream and a sound nervous system, also unobstructed; and that the factors that produce the one will produce the other. These factors are as follows:

- 1st. An abundance of pure fresh air.
- 2nd. A liberal supply of pure water.
- 3rd. About 8 hours of sleep regularly taken each day.
- 4th. Enough, but not too much, good, plain, wholesome food, properly selected, prepared, combined.
- 5th. Active physical exercise, preferably in the open air.
- 6th. Cleanliness, both mental and physical.

However, a sound mechanical condition of the body is necessary in order that a pure blood stream and a sound nervous system may function normally. In other words, there must be no bony or other pressure on, or other mechanical interference with the blood vessels or nerves. Nerve impulse and circulation must have unobstructed access to every part of the body. IF THESE CONDITIONS EXIST, HEALTH IS INEVITABLE. To assist in establishing these conditions, necessary to health, is our business.
