

Hunters Were After Bear, Not Deer, As Alleged

DALLAS, Or., Sept. 30.—(Special to The Statesman)—F. C. Scott, a prominent farmer of the Willamina district and his two sons, D. C. and A. C. Scott who were arrested by Deputy Game Warden Roy Bremmer on a charge of hunting deer with dogs were tried before Justice of the Peace John R. Sibley Saturday. After several hours session the jury on the case was convinced that the hunters were not guilty and freed them. Reliable testimony for the defendants in the case testified that the parties were out hunting bear at the time they were arrested and gave proof to show although the hunters had dogs with them, which they admitted, they intended to hunt bear from the time they left home.

ANITA STEWART
"A MIDNIGHT ROMANCE"

The star—a woman.
The author—a woman.
The director—a woman.
The financier—a mere man.
And there you have the combination, with odds of three to one in favor of the fair sex, that is responsible for the screen drama of mystery and romance that is to be presented at Ye Liberty theater, starting Thursday.

The title—"A Midnight Romance."
The star—Anita Stewart, who plays the role of Marie, a maid by day and a mysterious, bewildering Juliet by night.
The author—Marion Orth, the feminine Conan Doyle among scenarists.
The director—Lois Weber, the woman whose genius has been responsible for several big screen successes, and who knows human nature from the feminine viewpoint.
The financier—Louis B. Mayer, Boston film magnate, who is suggested by the Suffrage party as a life member in tribute to his recognition of, and confidence in, the ability of women in the realm of motion picture art.

Give the boy a nice thrifty pig. Require him to feed and care for it; and don't spend the money yourself when the lad sells the pig.

"I asked pa to let me go abroad and develop my voice." "What did he say?"
"He said it was overdeveloped now."

NO SHRINERS FOR JURY JOB

They Will All Be Down
Around Coos Bay—Special Train Going

If the peace officers of the various counties in the Willamette valley want to find a Shriner for jury duty next Saturday the place to look for them will be around Coos Bay. And if any of the fair sex want to borrow a cup of sugar from the wife of a Shriner they must get it before Friday, when the women expect to be aboard that Al Kader special train for Marshfield and to attend the social doings pertaining to the great ceremony that the Portland Shrine will stage there.

The train is being run for Shriners and their wives and every member of the nobility of the deserts is invited to make the pilgrimage. The only requirement, according to a notice from Hugh J. Boyd, recorder of the temple, is that a reservation shall be sent to him at the Masonic temple, Portland, so that the required number of Pullman cars may be attached to the train.

Already 250 passengers are assured from Portland.
The train leaves Portland at 10:30 a. m. Friday and makes stops at Salem, Albany, Corvallis and Eugene. In each of the first three cities a parade and concert will be given and at Eugene the evening will be given over to a ball and reception at the armory.

Marshfield and North Bend are making extensive preparations for the reception and entertainment of their visitors. Marshfield has a Shrine club, composed of members of many temples of the Shrine, who make their homes around Coos Bay. It is a live bunch of citizens and it is understood that they propose to make the men of Al Kader hustle to beat the stunts that Coos Bay people will put on for the entertainment of the women, as well as the men.

Thirty-seven candidates have already been elected to cross the burning sands. A business session of Al Kader will be held at Marshfield Saturday morning to elect others for the sad, sad journey.
Willamette valley cities have been asked to take candidates down to Marshfield to join the class if they have an yreedy for the Shrine.

Salem Shriners are making elaborate preparations to receive Portland Shriners here next Friday and to join them on the special train for Coos Bay. At a meeting of the Arabian Knights club of Salem Monday night, Lot L. Pearce, president, appointed as a committee to see that all Shriners are on hand Friday the following members:

Hal D. Patton, chairman, Fred A. Erickson, Joseph Adolph, A. L. Frazer, George G. Brown, D. W. Eyre, Lee L. Gilbert, O. P. Hoff, T. B. Kay and Conrad Stafrin.

The Salem club of Arabian Knights will be especially active when the Shriners of the nation gather in Portland next year and to secure members of the club President Pearce named a committee composed of F. T. Wrightman, chairman; W. N. Lerchen, W. W. Moore, O. A. Ilson, Z. J. Riggs, George A. Ramp, B. A. Shaver, L. K. Seigmund, George H. Dunsford and W. V. Fuller.

Governor Ben W. Olcott and Mayor Otto J. Wilson were named honorary members to assist in the reception to the Portland Shriners Friday.

PRODUCTIVITY IS HELD NEED OF OLD WORLD

Hoover Says Europe Must Not Depend on West Altogether

CREDITS HAVE LIMITS
Economic Burden Must be Borne With Patience and High Sense of Duty

LONDON, Aug. 24.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Unless European productivity can be rapidly increased, there can be nothing but political, moral and economic chaos finally interpreting itself in loss of life on a scale hitherto undreamed of, says Herbert Hoover, head of the inter-Allied Relief Commission in an analysis of the economic situation in Europe just published in the British National Food Journal.

Credits Have Limits.
"The entire surplus productivity of the western hemisphere is totally incapable of meeting the present deficiency in European production if it is long continued," the analyst asserts.

"Nor could credits be mobilized for this purpose for more than a short period, because all credits must necessarily be simply an advance against the return of commodities in exchange and credits will break down the instant that the return of commodities becomes impossible. Further, if such credits be obtained for more than temporary purposes it would result in economic slavery of Europe to the western hemisphere and the ultimate end would be war again."

Productivity Imperative.
Mr. Hoover points out this solution of the European economic problem: "A vigorous realization of the actual situation in each county of Europe and a resolute statesmanship based on such a realization—the populations of Europe must be brought to a realization that productivity must be instantly increased."

In the present-day European ferment, Mr. Hoover says, "every economic patent medicine has flocked under the banner of Socialism or Communism which has claimed to speak for all the down-trodden—to alone bespeak human sympathy.

Experimenters costly.
Experimentation in varying forms of these political leanings—socialism and communism—has so far in every case, resulted in reduced production, the food controller says.

Europe's threatened coal famine, the analysis says, is due "in the largest degree to the human factor of the limitation of effort."

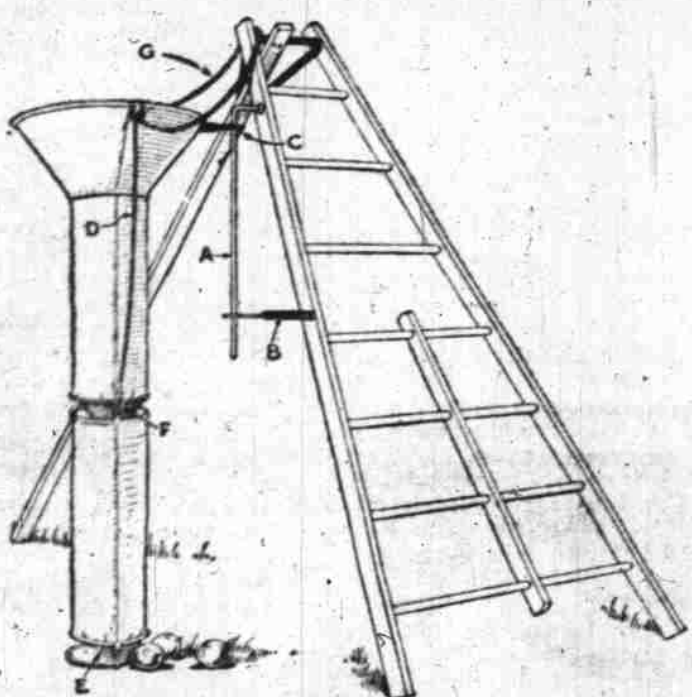

Western assistance in the form of its devotion of surplus productivity to Europe's needs, "is a service that the western hemisphere must approach with a high sense of human duty and sympathy," concludes Mr. Hoover. "The economic burden on the west should not last more than a year and can be carried and will be repaid. To effect these results the resources of the western hemisphere and of Europe must be mobilized."

When a Want Ad is Working For You

The boarding house vacancy is merely a passing incident—not anything to worry about at all.

People who keep boarders in this town soon learn that the way to make money in that vocation is to utilize classified ads as promptly and persistently as if advertising for a lost diamond.

HERE IT IS The New HOOD RIVER PICKING BAG

This ingenious invention will reduce your picking cost more than FIFTY per cent and at the same time eliminate absolutely all danger of bruising fruit. It does away with all carrying of fruit down the ladder. Your pickers can pick a dozen or more boxes by going up the ladder but once, and every orchard box will be filled just as it should be—no over-filling or under-filling of orchard boxes.

With this bag a child can pick apples or other fruit from the highest ladder and not be fatigued by the work.

This bag is adaptable for any height and make of ladder. The standard size will fit an 8-foot ladder, and for higher ladders extra sections may be added at small expense. The price of Bags as shown above is.....$10.00
