

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

The Story of a Honeymoon

A Wonderful Romance of Married Life Wonderfully Told by ADELE GARRISON

CHAPTER CCCCXXX

WHAT HAPPENED WHEN MADGE'S HAT CAME TO "GRACE THE FEAST."

"Bought a suit for a pretty woman, not Madge?"

Mrs. Durkee echoed Dicky's words with a little shriek of incredulity. He smiled at her tolerantly, while amazed at his audacity, trembled with a new-born hope that there might be some unexplained reason for the scene I had witnessed in Hambel's when I had seen him buying an expensive hat and suit for "Edith." He had described the hat but a few moments before, and declared that he had bought it for me. I waited breathlessly for his next words.

"I suppose I might as well tell you the whole story," he said, leaning back in his chair. He addressed Mrs. Durkee directly, but I felt intuitively that his story was meant for me.

"You see, I had a very ticklish order the other day. Starratt of Parker's sent for me, and wanted me to illustrate that new serial of Block's

Tobacco Hardens the Arteries, Overtaxes the Heart and Shortens Life

Says Dr. Connor, Who Suggests a Simple Test to Find If It Is Hurting You. Can You Stand It?

New York.—Dr. Connor, formerly of Johns Hopkins hospital, says: Hundreds of thousands of men who smoke and chew and who believe themselves healthy are suffering from progressive organic ailments. They would never have been affected had it not been for the use of tobacco and most of them would soon get well if they would only stop the use of tobacco.

The best known habit forming principal of tobacco is nicotine, but the most deadly and demoralizing is furfural. Both are deadly poisons, which, when absorbed by the system slowly, but surely, affect the nerves, membranes, tissues, vital organs and vitality of the body.

The harmful effect of tobacco varies and depends on circumstances and the individual. In some it causes general debility, others catarrh of the throat, indigestion, constipation, extreme nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of memory, lack of will power, cowardice and fear, mental confusion, etc.; in others it causes heart disease, bronchial troubles, hardening of the arteries, palpitation of the heart, tuberculosis, blindness, cancer and the common affliction known as tobacco heart.

If you use tobacco in any form you easily detect its harmful effects by making the following simple tests. Read aloud a full page from a book. If your voice becomes muffled hoarse and indistinct and you must frequently clear your throat, the chances are that your throat is affected by catarrh and it may be the beginning of very serious catarrhal trouble. Next in the morning, before taking your usual smoke, walk up three flights of stairs at a regular pace, then stop. If you find that you are out of breath, if your heart beat is forced, trembling or irregular, you may be the victim of a functional or organic heart trouble. If you feel that you must smoke or chew to quiet your nerves, you are a slave to the tobacco habit and are slowly poisoning yourself with the insidious deadly drugs, nicotine and furfural. In either case you have just two alternatives—keep on with your self-poisoning process regardless of the dangers, and suffer the consequences, or rid yourself of the habit and escape the dangers.

You can overcome the craving and stop the tobacco habit in a very short time by using the following inexpensive formula: Go to any drug store and ask for Nicotol. Take one tablet after each meal and in a comparatively short time you will have no desire for tobacco. The craving will have left you. With the nicotine poisoning out of your system your general health will quickly improve.

Note: When asked about Nicotol, one of our leading druggists said: "Nicotol is truly a wonderful remedy for the tobacco habit. It is way ahead of anything we have ever sold before. We are authorized by the manufacturers to refund the money to every dissatisfied customer and we would not permit the use of our name unless the remedy possessed unusual merit." Nicotol is sold in this city under an iron-clad money-back guarantee by all up-to-date druggists, including D. J. Fry.

It's all southern stuff, real old Virginia, and the heroine, of course, is a Virginia girl, P. F. V. and all the rest of it.

I started violently. If what Dicky was saying was true—But he was talking rapidly now, and I composed myself to listen.

"Luckily, some of the scenes are laid in New York, where lovely heroine seeks her fortune, and all that rot. You know Block's usual line of patter. I'll have to take a run down to Virginia for a few drawings, but most of the work can be done right here.

"And by the greatest piece of good fortune I had a wonderful type for a heroine right within reach. You've seen those two Virginia girls, Edith and Leila Fairfax, who have an alleged studio in our building, haven't you, Alf?"

"Where's the Hat Now?"

"Sure," Alfred Durkee returned lazily. "Whenever I hear their names I can hear biscuit being beaten, and smell the fried chicken. But don't digress too far, Dicky-bird. I'm curious to know how you're going to out over this buying-clothes-for-feminine friends stunt. It's a new one to me.

"Shut up," ordered Dicky rudely. "You don't need any pointers on anything of that sort. But to go on, if you can manage to keep your mouth shut, I finally screwed up my course to ask them to help me out with the pictures. Of course, I couldn't offer them money; they'd turn up their patrician Virginia toes to the daisies at the idea of acting as professional models, but they were very sweet about helping me out on the score of being studio friends and neighbors.

"I wanted to do something in return for them, and I finally hit upon the idea of asking them if they couldn't use the suits and gowns I had them wear in the pictures. You see I prepared for the drawings very carefully, and personally selected the gowns and hats they were to wear, because I didn't want a jarring note. Of course the gowns fitted them and no one else, so after a little demurring they agreed; in fact, I fancy they were secretly tickled to death. But I mentally drew the line when I saw that $40 blue hal-sket was just the type I wanted for the drawing, but I didn't want to see anybody else but mildred herself wear it afterward. Besides, I'm not so flush that I want to reward lady friend models with $40 hats.

"No?" Alfred Durkee's voice held a dry note of incredulity, which I knew he was mischievously employing for the purpose of getting a rise out of Dicky. "Then where's the hat now?"

"In my studio, you idiot," Dicky returned. "I've got to make the drawings first before I bring it home.

"Did you bring Miss Fairfax to Hambel's with you?" Mrs. Durkee asked, innocently enough, and yet I saw that she scented something still unsolved.

"Of course," Dicky replied. "You must have been there just when we were. It's a wonder Mrs. Graham didn't see you. Why, now I know—she must have seen you—that was what—"

Who Is This Girl?

"Please, Mrs. Durkee," I begged in a low voice, my face flushed with humiliated embarrassment. It was bad enough to have Mrs. Durkee realize that the sight of Dicky and his little artist friend together was the cause of my faint. But to have her air her knowledge before her son and Dicky! It was unthinkable.

She turned the subject with surprising quickness, while I sat trembling with the happiness of restored belief in my husband.

"Oh, but I'm crazy to see that hat on you, Mrs. Graham," little Mrs. Durkee gurgled. "What's the matter" as Dicky half-rose to his feet with a smothered exclamation.

We all followed the direction of his gaze. Into the restaurant had come a party of six, three girls and three men, who took seats not far from us, but who did not observe our nearness to them. Edith and Leila Fairfax and another, more striking but decidedly less patrician girl, made up the feminine contingent of the party, and upon the head of the third girl rested the hat which Dicky had just said he had bought for me!

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All retail stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair, after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

CATHOLICS HOLD SPECIAL SERVICE

Forty Hours' Adoration This Week Beautifully Impressive Observance

One of the most beautiful and impressive services of the Catholic church will be observed this week when the Forty Hours Adoration will take place, commencing with solemn high mass on Friday morning beautifully prepared and for three days the Most Blessed Sacrament is allowed to remain within the view of the worshippers who are in constant attendance during the day. The Forty hours adoration is authoritatively explained as follows:

"The origin of the Forty Hours Adoration dates from November 25, 1592, when the Father of Christendom, seeing the greivous and protracted calamities of the Christian world, the deserts of sin daily increasing, had recourse to prayer, that ever faithful and true interpreter of human desires. Mindful of the words of our Lord, 'Call upon Me in the day of thy tribulation; I will deliver thee, and thou shalt honor Me,' he established in the Eternal City the first Forty Hours' Adoration. He granted a plenary indulgence to all persons who, being truly repentant and having confessed their sins and received the Most Holy Sacrament of the Eucharist, should continue in prayer for at least an hour during the time of the adoration.

"Other churches in other cities and countries wishing to take up the devotion, asked permission to do so, until gradually the practice has extended all over the world; and Christian people generally, whether Catholic or non-Catholic are invited to come to the church for an hour's quiet prayer. They are also most cordially welcomed to any or all of our services."

SerVICES will be as follows:

Friday, October 31, solemn high mass at 7 o'clock, communion distributed. Low mass and communion again at 8 o'clock. Sermon and benediction at 7:30 in the evening.

Saturday, Nov. 1, All Saints' Day, a day of obligation for the faithful, high mass and communion at 7 o'clock. Low mass and communion and sermon at 9 o'clock. Sermon and benediction at 7:30 in the evening.

Sunday masses as usual, 7:30 and 10:30, with sermon and communion. On Sunday evening at 7:30, the Forty Hours' Adoration will close. The order will be sermon, procession and benediction.

The boys' vested sanctuary choir will sing each evening at the services, and the Rev. Father John Cumiskey, O. S. B. will preach at the evening benediction.

CLEANS KIDNEYS GLASS OF SALTS

If your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you, drink lots of Water

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a teaspoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.
