Dallas Boys Shot While

Playing Hallowe'en Joke

DALLAS, Or., Nov. 4.—(Special to The Statesman)—Roy Watts and Ben Jones, two Dallas boys, 16 and 17 years respectively, were seriously injured late Friday night while playing Hallowe'en pranks about the premises of E. Fritz in the southwestern part of the city by being shot in the lower limbs with a shotgun.

Fritz, who was arrested by Sheriff

John W. Orr late Saturday afternoon stated that the boys had been about his premises early in the evening but that he had chased them away. Later, however, he heard a noise in the back part of the yard and grabbing a shotgun, loading on his way to ascertain the cause of the disturbance, spied the same gang of boys at work attempting to wreck an out-building. He claims that he fired two shots and the two boys fell to the ground. He claims that he only meant to scare them but the officials think that his aim was better than he imagined as both boys are pretty well shot up. Wait having about 60 shot in his right hip and Jones about 40 in his right leg, forearm and hand. Both boys had to be carried away from the premises and were taken to the home of Mrs. E. Hoeler on Washington street and a physician called to dress the wounds. They are both in a serious condition and danger of blood poisoning is feared by attending physicians. Fritz, who is about 55 years old was halled before Justice of the Peace John R. Sibley, Saturday where he waived hearing and was bound over to the next term of the grand jury under $1000 bonds.
