TO TRAIN SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS

An ambitious effort is to be made in Salem to train Sunday School teachers—to fill a need that is sadly lacking here and elsewhere.

There is to be a training school to last ten weeks, at the public library, on Monday evenings, beginning January 19th.

There will be two forty-five minute sessions each Monday evening, and an assembly.

The very best teaching talent obtainable is to be available to all the students who will attend.

This will be an opportunity for developing Sunday School teachers, calculated to put Salem in the place she should occupy in this respect.

The work is of prime importance.

In the older communities, Sunday School work has the loyal support and personal help of some of the very biggest men in the United States, who consider that too much cannot be done in this way for the boys and girls of the present who are to be the men and women of the future.

Salem will do herself credit and honor by taking a leading rank in this field; and besides it is worth while in the service of better community building; worth while even in a business way.

The hospital situation in Salem is not at all satisfactory. This lack is very frequently brought to the attention of the writer, with suggestions that something be done, and frequently with specifications as to what that something should be. The writer would caution patience for a little time. Salem should have a hospital as well equipped as any in Portland or elsewhere—though not necessarily as large as some in the metropolitan cities. And the want will not be filled until such a hospital is available. The writer believes that this is possible, for the not far distant future.

One of the 15-year-old pupils in the Ohio Mechanics Institute, has made a buzz wagon from an old motorcycle and a bicycle which can develop a speed of seventy miles an hour and furnish forty-five miles on a gallon of gasoline. Next thing we know this youthful inventor will be flying to Mars in an airship made from an egg-beater and an old pair of suspenders.

An Arizona economist has a system for railway operation that knocks the Plumb plan plumb silly. His idea is that the government should own the rails, the company the terminals and yards and the operatives the rolling stock. Then they would have to co-operate to get results. How he is going to pick the roads to pieces and put them together again on the new basis he does not yet explain, but it should be easy for a guy who is handy with a monkey wrench.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

Business good in Salem.

It was another busy Saturday—and more coming.

How is a man going about it to swear off on New Year's Day?

Too bad that so many people were killed by drinking coffin cocktails. But no one has to risk the stuff with the TNT kick, when there is plenty of H<sub>2</sub>O and buttermilk and cider to drink.

The workmen on the paper mill are marching right along now. Nearly ready to "pour" the columns. Then will come the roof—and, before we know it, the machinery will be in and going, making an industry that will bring thousands of dollars daily to Salem.

The worst is yet to come in the house situation in Salem. There will not be enough houses for a long time, unless plans for building are made on a much more comprehensive scale than has yet been suggested.

There is no use to pretend that the late freeze did no damage to the fruit buds and trees. Nor is there any virtue in crying about it. The damage will be repaired, and the total value of the products of the soil in this territory will be greater for 1920 than ever before; and very much greater each succeeding year.

When ocean liners begin to sell liquor aboard there will be an instant increase in the number of travelers. So many will be wanting to "Cross the Bar," recalling a certain well-known poet.

Naturopathy—What It Is, and Five Reasons Why You Should Be Treated By a Naturopathic Physician

What Is Naturopathy?

Naturopathy is a system of treating the sick by the use of drugless and non-surgical methods. It is based upon the principle that if the causes of disease are removed, Nature will restore the body to health, because the body, when functioning normally, contains within itself the elements to restore and maintain health.

What Methods Are Used in Naturopathy?

Naturopathy uses various principles efficacious in healing the sick, some of which are: Dietetics—Scientific food selections, preparations and combinations. Hygiene—General personal hygiene. Manualtherapy—Manual methods of correcting abnormal conditions of the body. Hydrotherapy—Scientific application of water of varying temperature. Electrotherapy—Scientific application of the different forms of electricity. Psychotherapy—A scientific application of the powers of mind to the problems of health and disease. Vibrotherapy—Mechanical and manual vibration. Ozone and Oxygen Vapor—Oxygen converted into ozone by electricity. Phototherapy—Scientific application of sunlight, incandescent light and arc light, for curative purposes.

What Is the Standing of Naturopathy?

Naturopathy has already been recognized and adopted by many of the brightest minds in the orthodox schools of medicine.

Naturopathy is not Osteopathy, Chiropractic, Christian Science, or any other similar system. We do not condemn them; we recognize the good in all of them.

Five Reasons Why You Should Be Treated by a Naturopathic Physician

First—Because Naturopathy uses all drugless and non-surgical methods in treating the sick. Second—Because Naturopathy is the oldest of the drugless cults. Third—Because Naturopathic methods are based upon scientific observation and practical experience. Fourth—Because Naturopathic methods are adapted to the treating of all persons from infancy to old age. Fifth—Because Naturopathy is more effectual and less expensive than other systems of treating the sick.
