Motorcyclists Witness Climb—

Eleven motorcyclists of Salem left for Portland Thursday morning to witness the hill climb, that was held at Council Crest at 2 p. m. It was estimated that 25 different makes of motorcycles took part in the contest. All of Salem's delegates rode Harley-Davidson machines. When the party left here, it was not definitely decided who or if any of them would compete in the climb. The party met and left from the shop of Harry W. Scott, local Harley-Davidson dealer, and those going were H. T. Smith, Ira Pitts, Ruel Smith, Alan Fraser, Lyman Sundin, Lester Sand, Max Grout, Rex Howard, George Frye and Harry W. Scott.

Sweet Corn Pays Well—

Sweet corn at 8 cents a dozen ears will bring to the grower an income of $200 an acre according to the experience of Fred Hammond, a farmer residing eight miles north of Salem. Last year he planted a small tract of the Golden Bantam variety and met with most encouraging results. The local dehydrating plant paid 8 cents a dozen last summer for all corn ears four inches or over in length.

Greek Minister Comes—

A patriarchal Greek minister visited Salem yesterday. He came from far-away Athens and is endowed with the classical name, Hariton Panagopoulos. He represents the Greek Protestant church and is doing what he can to keep alive the spiritual life of the more than 500,000 sons and daughters of old Greece who he says are now in this country.

Situation in Portland, However, Causes Mayor to Rap Employers

Not many ex-soldiers are out of employment in Salem. The situation in Portland is a little more serious. In fact, it has been officially reported that 1500 ex-service men are now looking for work in the metropolis.

At a meeting of employers in Portland a few days ago, Mayor Baker frankly informed the business men that the disregard of returned soldiers is a serious reflection on the business interests of the city.

The mayor is said to have represented that these 1500 men were a living and active breeding place for red and revolutionary doctrine. The ex-soldiers were not accused of any leaning toward radicalism—quite the contrary—but they were not to be blamed, Mayor Baker said, after trying to get work and failing to get it, they were found listening to the radical agitators.

J. C. English, chairman of the committee that is looking after the employment of ex-soldiers, feels that no effort should be spared in Oregon to keep these men employed for at least ten next three months. After April 1, it is believed, the lumber industry and road construction will again give employment to all who are able and willing to do a full day's work.

Oregon Climate Appeals to Man From the Orient

Malines Santiago came right from the Philippine Islands a few months ago. He was standing near the Oregon Electric station yesterday enjoying the sunshine.

"How do you like this climate as compared to tropical Manila?" was asked the smiling young man from the Orient.

"Fine," was his cheering reply. "It is hot in my country all the time. I did not see snow before. I was glad to see snow one time. But now I think it is my worst enemy." Mr. Santiago asserts that the Americans have done great things for his country and people. He says that Manila is now a prosperous city of 360,000 inhabitants. Its business streets are lined with commercial buildings seven to 10 stories high and most of them built of concrete.

Laison Resting Easily
After Automobile Accident

LIVERLEY, Or., Dec. 31.—Miss Leila Johnson spent the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Johnson.

Stanley Laison, who was badly injured in an automobile accident in Salem last Saturday night, is reported to be resting as well as can be expected.

George King, a student at the state university, Eugene, is spending his Christmas vacation at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Alice Coolidge.

Carpenter brothers have purchased a new Dodge car.

The fruit in this locality has received only small damage from the recent severe weather. Most of the orchards are located on the higher land, and have not been affected as badly as those on the river bottom land. The loganberry growers here had not trellised their berries, so there will be no frozen vines reported from this district.

A watch night service was held at Chauncey Olcott as Sir Brian Fitzgerald in "Macushla." Grand Opera House tonight.

Lovers of clean wholesome Irish comedy will be pleased to note the engagement at the Grand Opera House tonight with the appearance of Chauncey Olcott in his most noted success "Macushla."

In the part of Sir Brian Fitzgerald Mr. Olcott has won success for the delightful human touches he gives to the happy-go-lucky Irish character. He makes Sir Brian a part of him, and he lives every minute with the part that has been so closely identified with Mr. Olcott's success. Four new songs will be introduced by Mr. Olcott, and from their titles, they are sure of success.

"That's How the Shannon Flows" will be the first one; next will come "Macushla Asthore" (Pulse of My Heart), then "I'll Miss You Old Ireland, God Bless You, Goodbye," and last "Tis an Irish Girl I Love and She's Just Like You;" all truly worth the green of Ireland in the titles. Olcott, the songs and play will give you an evening worth while.

"What are you going to the doctor about?"
"Loss of appetite."
"Great Scott! Can't you play up a bit of luck when it comes to you?"
