To try to control railroad rates by arbitrarily limiting profits is to put the manager who makes his profits by efficiency and economy on the same level as the one who tries to accomplish the same result through extortionate charges.
—Hadley Railroad Securities Commission, Report to the President—1911.

THE old-time pack-bearer could carry a hundred pounds ten miles a day.

The railroad is the modern pack-bearer. For every employee it carries 2,600 times as much.

Back of each railroad worker there is a $10,000 investment in tracks and trains and terminals, with steam and electricity harnessed like a great beast of burden.

Without this mighty transportation machine the railroad worker could do no more than the old-time packer. But with it he is enabled to earn the highest railroad wages paid in the world, while the country gains the lowest-cost transportation in the world.

The modern railroad does as much work for half a cent as the pack-bearer could do for a full day's pay.

The investment of capital in transportation and other industries increases production, spreads prosperity and advances civilization.

To enlarge our railroads so that they may keep pace with the Nation's increasing production, to improve them so that freight may be hauled with less and less human effort—a constant stream of new capital needs to be attracted.

Under wise public regulation the growth of railroads will be stimulated, the country will be adequately and economically served, labor will receive its full share of the fruits of good management, and investors will be fairly rewarded.

PRACTICAL FARMING AND GARDENING

OR MAKING THE FARM PAY

MONEY-SAVING AND MONEY-MAKING METHODS

Throughout the text of this great book the reader is given the results of scientific research, coupled with successful experience, by use of only such expressions as can be readily understood by those who have not had a scientific training. Thus any farmer with ambition to make the most of his labor and realize the greatest returns for his investment will find in this volume a priceless guide for everyday reference.

Edited By WILLIS MAGGERRALD

By An Eminent Array of Specialists

This work has been divided into departments, each covering subjects of vital importance, and each prepared by a specialist in his line, who has devoted his life of thought, study, experiment and practical experience to his special subject. The list of authors whose names are familiar to wide-awake farmers will be found on accompanying cut of book in connection with the subjects covered by each.

READ WHAT OTHERS SAY

Following are expressions from a few of the hundreds of letters received from satisfied subscribers:

Book and paper received. Book in first-class condition, and will say is exactly what I have been looking for, as it contains information of great value to all practical farmers and orchardists, and the paper is always filled with information in regards to farming and its branches. I have been a subscriber to the paper before, and miss it when it fails to come.—CHAS. HAYWARD.

Received the book the 9th of April, and was in very fine condition. It is entirely satisfactory to me. Pleased very much that I had the opportunity to get it. Will say it should be in every progressive farmer's library.—W. A. MEYERS.

I have received "Practical Farming." It came up to my expectations, having many scientific and practical facts.—ALLEN G. REID.

Received the book "Practical Farming," in perfect condition and am very well pleased with it.—A. W. O. BERG.

I received your book "Practical Farming" April 8th, and in fine shape. I think it is the best book out.—H. ROETGER.

Your book "Practical Farming" came April 12th. The book is all I could desire. It is O. K.—MAT BLAISER.

THE PACIFIC HOMESTEAD

IS THE GREAT farm paper of the West. It covers Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Northern California.

20,000 farmers from all over the West send their money to Salem for the Pacific Homestead, to help them solve their farm problems. And it will help you solve yours. It is specially edited for The Willamette Valley, and it meets the needs of the Western Oregon farmer squarely.

We will supply it to you for less than two cents a copy. Each week for a whole year, for only one dollar, and as a special Christmas offer will send you this book free as a gift. We are out to boost farming in Oregon, and want a copy of this great book to be in the hands of every farmer in the state.

Secure one for yourself, and every member of your family will enjoy the weekly visits of The Pacific Homestead. Send a copy to a friend for Christmas, both Oregon and Eastern Friends. It would be the finest present you could make. So practical and so helpful, and if sent East would so portray the Great West in its true condition, that the friend would probably move to Oregon before the year is out.

DALLAS HAS NEW PROJECT

Community House May Be Established as Center of Civic Activity

DALLAS, Or., Jan. 6.—(Special to The Statesman.)—At a meeting of prominent citizens held at the Commercial clubs ways and means of securing for Dallas a community house were taken up and discussed and plans outlined for securing such a place in the near future.

W. V. Fuller, president of the club, acted as chairman of the meeting and stated that the time was ripe in Dallas for such a movement as the returned soldiers, the Company L auxiliary, the Commercial club and other organizations in the city were ready to lend their support towards such an enterprise.

The army was mentioned as a possible place if it could be purchased or leased for a period of years from the state. If this could be accomplished an additional 50 feet could be purchased on the west side of the building and a swimming tank installed. The main part of the big armory could be overhauled and rooms made for housing the Commercial club and the La Croix club should these organizations consolidate. There could also be made a comfort station for the use of farmers and their wives when in the city it is claimed, and a large banquet hall where dinners could be served. A committee of seven was appointed to investigate and make a report at the future meeting.
