

FEDERAL AGENTS VICTIMS OF PLOT CLAIMS COLVER

Member of Federal Trade Commission Condemns Arrest of Representatives

BIG MEAT FIRMS RAPPED

Mallen and Opsol Are 'Goats' of 'Frame-up' Is Assertion at Hearing

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Charges that arrests of federal trade commission employees, made in the recent department of justice campaign against "reds," have been the result of "frameups designed to build the theory that the commission is a hotbed of bolshevism" were made today by W. R. Colver, of this city, before the senate agriculture committee. Colver left the intimation that the larger Chicago packing concerns had conspired in some degree to attain that result, and involved Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, self-styled ambassador for the Russian soviet republic, and S. Nuorteva, Martens' secretary, in his account of instances to prove the point.

Colver Demands Legislation
Colver likewise voiced a vigorous demand for legislation to regulate the industry, need of which was proved, he said, by the recent agreement between the packers and the department of justice of anti-trust proceedings.

To this testimony the commission added a critical analysis of statements and motives of witnesses who have opposed packer regulation during the prolonged hearings of the agriculture committee on the Kuyon and Kendrick bills last year, concluding with the assertion that in the meat industry "competition is continuing to lessen and monopoly to increase, even though we exhaust the powers of federal laws intended to restrain it."

Mallen First Victim
The first instance, the commissioner said, of the "frameup" had resulted in the arrest of Rafael Mallen, a former clerk for the trade commission in raids directed last week at Chicago and an assistant, "a man named Barry" Colver said, both of whom have since resigned, were responsible and Barry now was a "special agent" for Swift and company. Mallen later was released.

Connection 'Significant' Claim
John Opsol, another employee of the commission, Colver said, was arrested in Washington this week, while on a visit to S. Nuorteva, having been pointed out to police officers as Martens, who is being sought by the secret service. Reading an alleged claim of Nuorteva and Martens that purchase of large meat supplies from an unnamed Chicago packer had been arranged with the object of getting it into Russia through the allied blockade, Colver said he considered this connection between meat packers and the soviet representatives, "significant" as it concerned Opsol's arrest, especially since the latter had been taken into custody when he came to see Nuorteva in answer to a specific telephone call.

Reverting to the agreement prepared by Attorney General Palmer in concluding the Sherman law prosecutions against the packers, Colver said that merely settled the "Sherman law phase of the matter."

In the position you have extended to me several courtesies, one of which was a leave of absence during the time I wore the uniform of my country and the privileges of returning to my position after my discharge. For these courtesies I thank you sincerely. I regret that you could not see your way clear to give me an even break, and that you found it necessary to make my continued employment conditional upon my giving up what I regard as my right as a citizen.

"I therefore tender my resignation in pursuance of your demand."

Lack of Fealty Feared
To this letter Governor Olcott replied:

"This will acknowledge receipt of your letter of January 7, submitting your resignation as manager of the automobile department in the secretary of state's office and advise you that it is hereby accepted to become effective at once. I have selected Carl D. Gabrielson, of the auditing department, as your successor."

"The contents of your letter I have carefully noted. I might call to your attention that it was you who first broached the subject to me that you were contemplating becoming a candidate for secretary of state, but said before you reached a final decision to announce your candidacy you would again see me. Probably you will further remember that I expressed the opinion that it was a laudable ambition for any young man to have aspiration toward his own betterment. However, as I told you, I could not then, nor can I now, feel that it would be a workable or harmonious arrangement for two persons employed in the same office to be rival candidates for the same position. It could only lead to most unpleasant relations."

"I further took occasion to tell you that Mr. Koser has been a trusted employee for many years, that I deemed him exceptionally well qualified to handle the duties of the secretary of state's office while my time was practically entirely consumed with the affairs of the executive office, and that, as my chief deputy, the responsibility of handling the office largely fell upon his shoulders. Of course you must have had the realizing sense that, as a subordinate, as well as other department heads of the office, owed fealty and loyalty to Mr. Koser in your work as my direct and responsible representative in charge. Under these circumstances the proper degree of fealty and loyalty could not be given if you placed yourself in a position as a rival candidate for the office for which you well knew he was an avowed candidate, and so I advised you."

Butler Given Alternatives
"Your sense of fairness and justice must convince you that Mr. Koser for many years has been developing by hard work and industry in the state service a degree of efficiency which should entitle him to be the candidate for secretary of state among all the employees of that office, if any employee were entitled to it. It should be clear to you that two employees to be candidates out of that office conducting rival campaigns would create a situation tending toward grave disorganization. Frankly I cannot see how you could expect me to allow such to become the case, or how you could expect your brief period of employment and your inexperience in the affairs

DUTCH TO ASK THAT WILLIAM GO TO GERMANY

First Chamber Introduces Formal Move But Government Not Hurried

CASE "NOT IMPORTANT"

Holland Will Not Surrender Former Ruler to Allies Is Decision

THE HAGUE, Jan. 9.—(By The Associated Press)—The first chamber of the Dutch parliament has drafted and presented to the cabinet a memorandum suggesting that it is now desirable that Holland should request former Emperor William of Germany to return to his own country.

In the ordinary course of parliamentary procedure, the government would answer the first chamber. The government, however, it has been learned by the correspondent, does not consider the memorandum important. It is explained that it was introduced at the suggestion of a single member during the budget debate as a matter of formality.

No Surrender, Is Decision
As far as the correspondent has been able to learn, the present Dutch government has firmly decided that it will not surrender the former German ruler.

Former Emperor William has transferred most of his wood cutting activities to Doorn where his new home is being built. Dressed in a grey hunting suit he was seen yesterday at Doorn chopping or sawing off branches of young trees which had been felled with the purpose of perfecting a new landscape for the castle.

of state administration to weigh against Mr. Koser's long employment and broad experience.

"To preserve and continue the very efficient results which I believe have been attained in the secretary's office it would be necessary for you to either sever your connections with the office or announce your plans to become a candidate for it."

"I told you frankly that I would in no manner connect myself with the candidacy of Mr. Koser, yourself or any other person for secretary of state. That holds good now, as it did then, and as it will hold in the future. Everyone, as far as I am concerned, must conduct his own campaign in his own way."

"But as I have made plain to you before, I cannot tolerate any arrangement in the conduct of an office for which I am responsible which would be certain to breed inharmonious and serious lack of efficiency."

TULEJA BOUND TO GRAND JURY

Bitterness of Witnesses Is Manifested in Court Room During Trial

Jacob Tuleja was bound over to the grand jury by Justice Unruh's court yesterday. The trial was the result of a complaint filed by Mrs. Lillie Schwabauer, who alleged that Tuleja "threatened to kill her" and "to get" Mrs. Tuleja, who is living with Mrs. Schwabauer, pending a divorce decision now in court.

At the arraignment of Tuleja in justice court last week, he pleaded not guilty to the charge. During the trial yesterday, many disturbances were said to have taken place between Tuleja and Mr. Schwabauer, by use of improper epithets directed at each other, and it is said, a desire was shown by both to settle the case then and there in a physical way. In addition to court proceedings and Judge Unruh had difficulty to keep order in the court.

BEARCATS TRIM LEGION TEAM

Game at Dallas Fastest in Season for Losers—1920 Is Bright for Varsity

The Willamette Bearcats were returned victorious in a fast and exciting game last evening when they defeated the fast Dallas Legion team by the score of 29 to 28. It was anybody's game until the last few minutes when Willamette scored the winning field goal.

Dallas legion men claim that it was the fastest exhibition of the indoor game displayed on their floor this season and, incidentally, it was the first game the legion team had lost this season after having been returned victorious in five other games. For the Dallas team it was a hard game to lose.

Woods is "One Man."
Altho the Legion team displayed good teamwork throughout the game it is a "one man" team. And the one man was Woods. He threatened the Bearcats' clean slate by scoring 18 points for his team. His basket shooting was especially deadly from the corners of the court. Time and again, he was able to sneak behind a Willamette guard, receive the ball and convert it into a field goal for his team. He showed considerable ability in breaking away from his guards and to place himself in position to receive the ball from his teammates.

INTER-CHURCH MOVE BUDGET IS APPROVED

Billion and Third to be Spent in Five Years for Evangelism

320 MILLIONS IN 1920

Methodist and Presbyterians Point Out Conflict of Dates

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Jan. 9.—The budget of the inter-church world movement to be used in co-ordinating the energies of the protestant denominations for the evangelization of the world, was approved today at the conference of 1,400 church leaders.

The budget calls for the expenditure of $320,000,000 in the next five years. It provides for evangelistic work in America and the foreign field, proper financing of hospitals and colleges, liberal awards to struggling colleges, wages to both ministers and missionaries.

320 Millions This Year
Three hundred and twenty millions are to be expended in 1920. Presbyterians and Methodists joined in protesting the original selection of the period between April 21 and May 2 as the time for the drive to raise money for the campaign.

A Presbyterian complained that these dates would conflict with the Presbyterian "every member" canvass and moved that the drive be deferred to February 16-27, 1921.

Dr. David C. Downey of New York, a Methodist, called attention to a declaration of the Methodist leaders that followers of that faith should participate in no other drives until after Methodism's centenary fund of $11,000,000 is completed.

After considerable discussion, the administration plan to have the campaign this year was adopted.

M'MINNVILLE IS DEFEATED HERE

Salem High School Team Wins Last Night in Well-Matched Contest

With a score of 24 to 12 the Salem high school won the basketball game with M'Minnville high school team at the Salem high school last night. School spirit was well displayed by the students of both schools. All the seating capacity of the gymnasium was used and fully 75 of the onlookers had to stand up to witness the game.

The game was called at 7 o'clock. At the first glance it seemed that the M'Minnville team had a little advantage over the Salem team, owing to the seniority of the players. This was the first game of the season for M'Minnville and they were hardly in playing trim. Both teams showed excellent interest in the game and it was exciting from start to finish. The team work of the Salem players was good and was probably the deciding feature in winning the game. M'Minnville seemed to be trying for "grand stand" plays and was successful in a few instances.

The lineup for M'Minnville was: Osborn and Miller, forwards; McCarty, center; Toole and Trent, guards; and Schaeffer and Gill, guards. The lineup for Salem was: Osborn and Miller, forwards; McCarty, center; Toole and Trent, guards; and Schaeffer and Gill, guards.

The game was refereed by Hendricks of Willamette university.

EVANS WANTS CHILDREN AND WOULD STOP $20 IN ALIMONY

Motion was filed in the circuit court yesterday by C. C. Evans, petitioning the court to modify the terms of a decree of divorce, granted his former wife, relative to the payment of $20 per month alimony and give him custody of the three minor children.

Evans alleges that his former wife is receiving the attentions of a Gerold Short and the children are witnesses to occurrences that are unbecomingly to children of which are in her custody.

Elizabeth Evans, the former wife, alleges that she was married to Gerold Short at Vancouver, Wash., December 30, 1919, which was ten months after the divorce was granted her. And that she is prepared to give the children a good education, providing that the court instructs Evans to continue his alimony.

HIGHER PRICES ON FOOD SOUGHT

Food Administrator Received Many Requests to Rise on Necessities

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Federal Food Administrator Williams announced today that he had reported to the department of justice a number of applications to increase prices in this district. "Increased demand and short supply" and "shortage of railroad cars" given as reasons for a requested advance in prices, are the "first principles of profiteering," he said.

Commodities on which dealers wish to charge higher prices include eggs, broken rice, potatoes, onions, rolled oats and flour, Mr. Williams said.

James H. Stafford, new federal food administrator for New York state, outside of New York City declared that during the past week many foods advanced in price from a quarter of a cent to six cents a pound. Eggs went up six cents.

COAL OPERATORS MAY TURN DOWN WILSON'S PLAN

Stand on Strike Issues Being Considered by Company Heads

FLAT REJECTION TALKED

Commission Objected to as Being Liable to Partiality in Case

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The policy of the bituminous coal operators in the settlement of the coal strike issues and the attitude to be assumed toward the commission of three, appointed by President Wilson to investigate wages and prices, was considered today at a meeting of the wage scale committee of the Central competitive field, which was preliminary to the opening Monday by the commission's hearings, at which both miners and operators will appear.

It was learned that refusal to accept the commission as now constituted was advocated by some of the operators who have heretofore publicly charged that the body would be biased with work commitments.

Most of the operators agreed that a declaration of their stand should be made before the work of the commission gets under way.

Operators May Reject
That flat refusal to deal with the present commission or a statement of the operators' willingness to operate "with reservations" appeared probable tonight. In opposing the commission as organized, with one representative for each, the miners, the operators and the public, some of the operators argued that an impartial tribunal, all of the members of which would represent the public, would be more satisfactory.

The position of the operators outside the competitive field in the proposed settlement, also is doubtful, it was asserted by F. W. Lukins, of Kansas City, president of the Southwestern Interstate Coal Operators' association.

ASTOR LAND TO BE AUCTIONED

Property of Forgotten Son Who Married Own Choice Is Worth Six Millions

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Tracts of property in the heart of New York City valued at six million dollars which the late Henry Astor inherited from his grandfather, John Jacob Astor, who bought the land in 1797 for $25,000, will be sold at public auction next March, it became known tonight. Trustees of the estate decided shortly after Henry Astor's death in 1918 to dispose of his realty interests.

Henry Astor was the forgotten son of William B. Astor who cut him off in 1871 for marrying Malverina Dineheart, daughter of the gardener on his father's estate. It is estimated he lost $250,000 by the disapproved marriage. After suffering the ostracism of the family he bought a farm at Copake, Columbia county, and lived there in obscurity until his death. During the years he lived as a recluse the valuable New York city real estate was held in trust.

The land was the Eden farm when it was bought by the founder of the Astor fortunes.

WAR SERVICE OF CAPITALISTS TOLD

Moneyed Men Put Secrets at Disposal of Government Without Charge

NEW YORK, January 9.—A story of how American capitalists spent vast sums without expectation of return or profit to aid the government in its efforts to supply explosives for the war was told today to members of the house committee on expenditures if the war department. Incidentally it developed that the same men had put at the service of their country valuable secrets learned from the Germans for the extraction of nitrogen from the air. The committee met to hear an investigation into the expenditures of $84,000,000 for two nitrate plants at Muscle Shoals, Ala.

Frank S. Washburn, president of the American Cyanamid company, which built one of the plants at Muscle Shoals, informed the committee that the company had made no profit on over $89,000,000 worth of war work it had done for the government. The plant cost the government $62,000,000, had produced 1500 tons of ammonia nitrate when the armistice was signed and then ceased operating.
