NATIONAL THRIFT WEEK.

In a Thrift item which appeared in the daily press yesterday will be found the following strong paragraph in regard to the value of saving:

"Saving brings confidence and strength and steadiness. The hope of the American Republic rests with those who are putting by systematically something out of what they earn. Try to earn more or to get more, if you will, but meantime avoid the economic blunder of placing yourself where you cannot save or of having to live for a time on what you already have saved."

These words might well be used as the cornerstone for the National Thrift Week that begins today.

The program for the week is as follows:

National Thrift Day or Bank Day, Saturday, Jan. 17. To emphasize the service a bank renders a community.

Share With Others Day, Sunday, Jan. 18. To emphasize the relation of money to character.

National Life Insurance Day, Monday, Jan. 19. To emphasize the value of protecting loved ones with life insurance.

Own Your Own Home Day, Tuesday, Jan. 20. To emphasize the desirability of owning one's own home.

Make a Will Day, Wednesday, Jan. 21. To emphasize the importance of making a will.

Thrift in Industry Day, Thursday, Jan. 22. To emphasize the identical interests of employer and employee.

Family Budget Day, Friday, Jan. 23. To emphasize the advantage of using the budget plan of finances.

Pay Your Bills Day, Saturday, Jan. 24. To emphasize the moral obligation to pay your bills promptly.

The enactment of the law requiring Oregon products to go to market under their true colors will justify the calling of the special session of the Legislature. The House passed the bill requiring this yesterday, by an all but unanimous vote. The Senate will no doubt make it unanimous.

This business of the President of the United States calling an assembly of the nations of the world from which the United States is excluded by its own acts would seem like a jest were it not so ghastly.

The corn show next week.

Now for national thrift week.

The American people cannot have a surfeit of the lessons taught by the national thrift week.

In Hayti 310 bandits went up against United States marines. More than half the bandits were killed, wounded or captured. Pretty good.

Without any idea of drawing invidious comparisons, the writer believes the corn show in Salem next week will be of more importance to this part of the state than the special session of the legislature of this week.

Since it is becoming daily more apparent that the people of this country do not propose trusting the Democratic party with another lease of power, the growing frigidty of William Gibbs McAdoo is in evidence. He is not at all certain that

It is just one thing after another for the British. They may have to fight another war, with the Russian Bolsheviki, in the carrying of their "white man's burden" in Mesopotamia and India and all the outlying regions of that part of the world

Back in Virginia the folks are all swelled up over the fact that to the honor of being the state from which came America's first president she adds the distinction of being the birthplace of England's first woman member of parliament.

Over in England a threat of prosecution has the effect of reducing the profiteering prices for commodities. Dealers over there know that the threat means business, while in this land of the free it is the universal view that somebody is trying to pose as an aspirant for the presidency in 1920. And we may be right at that.

Historians are selecting the one great battle of the war and by common consent the first battle of the Marne, fought in August, 1914, is given that honor. In this contest the German army on its way to Teutonize the world was checked and thrown back at the point of its farthest advance into France. It was at the peak of its power and morale.

MAKING AN OFFICE RUN LIKE A BUSINESS

(La Grande Observer)

Oregon has had many state treasurers. All have been good, safe men and when one was elected to the office the people forgot all about the office and the man during his term of office. At least that was true before Ole Hoff secured the majority vote in Oregon for the treasurership.

When Mr. Hoff took charge he went to work. First he surrounded himself with able men like Joe Richardson of Multnomah county who knows finances and understands business. With such a force of men the treasurer began to analyze and systematize the office business so that he could have some idea of what might be done in the way of advancement. Instead of being just treasurer, he let his business ability work some, with a result that his office began to show excellent results. The last statement was a pleasure to read, for it told of snug sums of money being picked up here and there by the treasurer and his staff, which sums in the aggregate will make a neat amount for the state. Mr. Hoff could in his next campaign practically lay claims to having "found" enough money from these odds and ends to pay for the administration of his office. But he will not, for he is a man who much prefers to let the merit of his work tell the story to the people. The state of Oregon did the proper thing when it chose the present state treasurer.

Like Being Hit By Rattle Snake

Says that every time you cut or pick at a corn you invite lockjaw

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn, the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts right out with the fingers, without one particle of pain.

This freezone is a sticky substance which dries the moment it is applied and just loosens the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. He says a quarter of an ounce will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but this is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus. You are positively warned that cutting or picking at a corn is a suicidal habit.

GALLAGHER BILL WINS ITS FIGHT THROUGH SENATE

Measure Brings In Its Wake Flood of Similar Bills at Midnight

Under Suspension of Rules Three Readings Made and Vote Counted

Representative Gallagher's bill providing for the designation, as part of the state highway map, of a post road from Nyssa to McDermott in Malheur county, which Gallagher fought to a decisive victory in the house over an unfavorable report of the roads and highway committee, precipitated a melee in the senate yesterday. When the senate highway committee returned a majority and a minority report, the latter, signed by Senators I. S. Smith, Thomas and Lachmund, asked that the bill be amended by providing also for a road in Coos county.

Senator Smith contended that Gallagher's proposed road is not one-fourth as important as his proposed Coos county road from Coquille to Bandon. The road, he declared, would carry a heavy tourist traffic and be the main road to California.

Orton Directs Accusation Senator Orton accused the minority members of inconsistency and said he had never heard of the Coos county road before. The vote failed to substitute the minority report.

In argument on the majority report Senators Smith and Thomas asserted it was too late in the session to change the state road map, and the latter urged that legislation of this character be deferred until the regular session next year.

The bill was placed on final passage under suspension of the rules. It carried by a vote of 19 to 10.

The vote: For—Baldwin, Banks, Bell, Eberhard, Eddy, Farrell, Handley, Howell, Hurley, Jones, Moser, Norblad, Orton, Patterson, Pierce, Ritter, Thomas, Smith of Josephine, Strayer, Against—Gill, Huston, Lachmund, Larollett, Nicholsen, Porter, Smith of Coos and Curry, Thomas, Wood, Vinton.

Representative Gallagher's bill caused the senate to be flooded with similar bills from other counties by Senators who asserted that if Malheur county has the right to enjoy special road legislation the other counties also have that right.

All of the additional road bills were rushed through the three readings and passed without going to the roads and highways committee for consideration.

These bills, four in number, were

They Come at Midnight The horseplay was continued at 11:30 o'clock last night when three more bills of the same kind made their appearance in the senate, and all were rushed through the three readings and passed. These were a bill by Baldwin designating roads in Klamath county, one by the roads and highway committee designating roads in Clatsop and Tillamook counties and a bill by Patterson and

Remedial Measure for Soldiers' Aid Act Is Passed by the Senate

Senator Pierce's remedial bill relating to the educational aid act for soldiers, sailors and marines passed in 1919 was passed by the senate yesterday. The bill is made more stringent, requiring closer application to school work by beneficiaries under the law and making any school work under 60 hours a month draw for the applicant less than a 25 monthly maximum, the amount to be in proportion to the hours of work. Under the present law $25 a month is drawn in all cases, though some of the beneficiaries do a very small amount of school work.

The state school superintendent is required to investigate from time to time to ascertain if the law is being complied with. The emergency clause is attached to the bill. As a companion measure to the amended educational bill the senate also passed a bill increasing the tax levy under the act from two-tenths to four-tenths of a mill. The bill if passed by the house, goes on the ballot at the special election.
