CAPTURE OF OLD PARTIES IS OBJECT

Land and Labor League Not to Nomin'ate Independently, But Pledge Men Running on Other Tickets

RYNERSON BELIEVES VICTORY IS AT HAND

Delegates Take Decided Stand Against Becoming Political Body

Capture of the Republican and the Democratic parties in Oregon is the objective of the Land and Labor League which completed state organization yesterday. The league will attempt to accomplish this by securing the election on the old party tickets of men who will subscribe to the platform of the Land and Labor League. Operations are to begin this year.

The declaration of a Republican or a Democratic candidate that he will support the league's program of government reformation must be made publicly. The committee and other delegates, in the closing session last night, were emphatic in the assertion that they would not resort to secret agreements with office-seekers who might wish clandestinely to win the support of the league. When a candidate on any of the regular political party tickets has declared publicly that he will support the league's platform, then the support of all members of the league, regardless of the political party with which they may be affiliated, will automatically be pledged to him.

Names Are Mentioned.

The league has decided not to become a political party and will not nominate candidates independently of the other parties. Had it decided to nominate by convention, but this the league has decided not to do.

One delegate, J. C. Murphy of La Grande, went so far last night as to name two Republicans whose election to the legislature he will endeavor to secure this year. They are John Clifford, whom he wants elected to the senate from Union county, and Walter Parker, whom he hopes will be elected to the lower house.

Rynerston is sanguine.

"I have my program for local operations all worked out and am going to call a meeting as soon as I get home," Murphy declared.

Among the delegates who advised against the nomination of independent candidates was C. M. Rynerston, editor of the Portland Labor Press.

"In Multnomah county," said Rynerston, "500 men can secure the election of a yellow dog. It has been done. The same number of organized men can elect good men, and frankly I wouldn't care whether all those elected were union men or not. I know some men who do not carry union cards and who are pretty good union men."

Rynerston asserted that the new league can capture the Republican party.

ADULTS CROWD PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Portland School Board Limits Expense Because of Increasing Demands

PORTLAND, Or., Jan. 30.—Because of the many demands made upon the public schools for facilities for educating adults, the school board last night at an informal session decided to limit its expenditures in this direction.

If available space in old school buildings is used for any purpose, it was decided that those who make use of the buildings should provide the equipment. There are now available for such use the old Couch, Terwilliger and South, Mount Tabor schools.

Recently School Superintendent Grout received an application for use of a shop in Benson Polytechnic school from the federal government for reconstruction classes, with the understanding that where equipment is not furnished by the government, regular shop supplies of the school district should be used. No definite decision was reached.

Assistant United States Attorney Flegel will handle the case for the government.

12 JURYMEN PASSED FOR GRIMM TRIAL

All Talesmen Seated Subject to Peremptory Challenges of Defense and Prosecution Examinations More Speedy

14 TO SIT IN BOX BUT ARE WITHOUT VOICE

Washington Law Provides Alternates to Provide for Possible Emergency

MONTESSANO, Wash., Jan. 30.—Twelve talesmen out of 37 examined have been seated in the trial here of 11 alleged I.W.W. charged with the murder of Warren O. Grimm, one of the victims of the Armistice day shootings at Centralia.

The twelfth temporary juror was accepted by the defense shortly after 4 o'clock this afternoon. He was Robert L. Steptoe, clerk in the office of a lumber company in Hoquiam. Examination of talesmen seemed to proceed with much more speed today, four talesmen being passed out of eight examined.

One Women in List.

The members of temporary jury and the order of their selection is as follows:

Thomas C. Connor, former liquor dealer, Montesano.

S. A. Youngs, watchman, Montesano.

W. F. Ferguson, plumber, Hoquiam.

Mrs. Emily C. Pattison, housewife Aberdeen.

Orton Glenn, garageman, Satsop.

O. C. Schneider, hotelman, Aberdeen.

R. P. Ames, farmer, Oakville.

C. C. Strayer, grain merchant, Montesano.

E. E. Torpen, retired farmer, Montesano.

John E. Hill, poultry dealer, Montesano.

A. H. Kuhn, shingle manufacturer, Hoquiam.

Robert L. Steptoe, clerk, Hoquiam.

The fact that 12 jurors now occupy the jury box is not an indication that the taking of testimony will begin very early next week, counsel for both the defense and the state say. Several of those now in the box are subject to a further examination upon a possible showing by counsel of alleged prejudice. Then, there are 18 peremptory charges to be exercised, 12 by the defense and 6 by the prosecution, which means, if all of these challenges are exercised, that at least 18 more talesmen will have to be called and examined. Two extra jurors will sit with the jury after it is sworn, the laws of Washington state providing for two alternates jurors to hear the testimony but not to participate in the deliberations unless one of the twelve jurors becomes incapacitated for service. Court will adjourn tomorrow at 4 o'clock in order to permit counsel and Judge John M. Wilson, presiding, to go to their homes in nearby cities over Sunday.

DEPARTMENT OF AIR GETS JOLT

Borah Leads Opposition on Grounds of Extravagant Expenses

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The new bill to create a separate department of the air encountered further vigorous opposition in the senate today, Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, leading the attack against it on the ground of extravagance. Urging its passage, Chairman Wadsworth of the military committee, asserted that the next great war involving this country would be ushered in with an air battle off the coast and warned the senate to prepare.

Opposition to the bill, so far as it would separate the army air service from its status as an integral part of the army, also was expressed in a letter from General Pershing, made public by Representative Fisher, of Tennessee.

In his attack on the bill, Senator Borah took occasion to warn his Republican colleagues that the party's special promise of economy at the last election was not being carried out in congress. He also referred to the committee on platform and policies appointed recently by Chairman Hays of the Republican national committee as a committee "of 157 varieties," adding that "the gifted gentlemen" who composed it "cannot convince the people against the record being made here."

LAST EFFORT IN DEADLOCK IS FAILURE

Unofficial Negotiations on Treaty Come to Sudden End When Democrats Walk Out Saying Conference Futile

HITCHCOCK TO MOVE ON RATIFICATION FEB. 10

Unshaken Stand of Republicans on Article 10 Is Cause of Smash

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Efforts to break the peace treaty deadlock by unofficial bi-partisan negotiation, ended suddenly in failure today, and Democratic senate leaders began preparations to bring the treaty back into the open senate for consideration.

It was over the long debated article ten that the bi-partisan movement after bringing Republicans and Democrats together on many collateral issues, finally met disaster. The end came after Senator Lodge of Massachusetts had renewed his refusal to compromise on that article and had rejected a reservation on the subject written by former President Taft and presented to the bi-partisan conciliation committee by the Democrats.

Walking out of the conference with the announcement that further deliberations there were useless, the Democrats quickly drafted plans to renew the fight in the open. The acting party leader, Senator Hitchcock, announced that notice would be given in the senate tomorrow of his intention to move on February 10 to take up the treaty for ratification. Opinion was divided as to whether such a motion would prevail.

Hitchcock Has Plans.

If it does, Senator Hitchcock expects to propose he said that the senate adopt those reservations upon which tentative agreement has been reached in the committee and then fight out differences over the others. A draft of the committee's work made public by Mr. Hitchcock did not correspond with a review of Senator Lodge's however, and a bitter aftermath seemed in store should the Democratic plan of open discussion be carried out.

Tentative agreement, Senator Hitchcock said, had been reached by the committee on the preamble and 12 of the fourteen proposed reservations, the only subjects remaining at issue being article 10 and the Monroe doctrine. Senator Lodge maintained that there were in all six of the 14 on which no agreement even of a tentative nature, had been made.

Move is Surprise.

The move of the Democrats in championing this reservation came as a surprise, the leaders on both sides having indicated beforehand that any decision on Article 10 probably would be put over until next week. In rejecting the proposed substitute, Senator Lodge reiterated his announcement that no change at all would be considered in the article 10 reservation drafted by the Republicans at the last session of congress. Agreeing to finally disagree, the conference then broke up in less than an hour after it had begun.

What happened was thus described by Senator Hitchcock in announcing the negotiations were at an end: "We presented the Taft reservation on article 10 as our proposition. There was some conversation as to its exact meaning. We urged them to accept it or take a few days to decide. But Senator Lodge said defiantly he could not accept it."

"We then asked them if they had any counter proposal or would make one. Mr. Lodge said he could not make any counter proposal. I suggested that we try to agree on a way for taking up the treaty in the senate, but Senator Lodge did not want a meeting on that subject. So we are going to proceed to call it up."

Lodge is Reticent.

To this Senator Lodge had nothing to add, nor would he indicate what his attitude would be on a motion to bring the treaty before the senate. In his statement reviewing the accomplishments of the committee, however, he set forth at length his reasons for refusing to compromise on article 10 and the Monroe doctrine.

The proposed change referred to by the senator was a suggestion by the Democrats to strike out of the Republican reservation the words "said doctrine is to be interpreted by the United States alone."

On the question of bringing the treaty into the senate, it was apparent that sentiment was in an indecisive state. There have been some indications that there might not be undivided Democratic support for the move, but some of the mild reservation Republicans and some senators of the irreconcilable group have looked with favor upon it.

Senator Hitchcock said he did not know whether a majority favored it but believed such was the case. He added he would confer with various Democrats and Republicans before he made his motion.

SINGLE TAX IS AVOIDED BY LEAGUE

Interpretation of Plank in Land and Labor Platform Causes Long Fight in Closing Hours of Session

HARTWIG IS STATE CHAIRMAN OF MOVE

Abolition of Senate and Voting by Mail Are Part of Party Program

Whether the taxation plank in the platform of the Land and Labor League, organized in state convention here yesterday, seemed to tend toward an advocacy of the single tax, caused the most prolonged discussion while the platform was in the process of adoption. It was the desire of the convention that it bear no record for nor against the single tax. After a debate that occupied the greater part of the afternoon the clause was modified before being adopted.

Another hard fight took place over the wording of a clause relative to the rights of the people, stating that "they have at all times a right to alter, reform or abolish the government as they think proper," objection being made to the word "abolish." Even after explanation had been made that the words were an exact quotation from the constitution of Oregon there was a prevailing opinion that the words would be misinterpreted by persons who are not familiar with their constitution. It was decided to leave the words, but to place them in quotation marks and in parenthesis to credit them to the constitution.

Platform is Modified.

Adoption of the platform was the main work of the day. It is much modified in comparison with the tentative platform submitted the previous day. Abolition of the state senate, voting by mail and public ownership of all public utilities and natural resources are among its provisions.

The platform follows in full: "We, the members of the Land and Labor League of Oregon in convention assembled, seeing that those who labor and produce the necessities of life, are and of right ought to be, the masters of the things they produce, do announce the following platform of action, and invite all men and women, irrespective of party or condition to fellowship with us in the reconstruction of the state and nation along the lines of permanence and justice rather than that of profit and expediency. We recognize:

"That all men when they form a social compact are equal in right;

"Constitution is Quoted

"That all power is inherent in the people, and all free governments are founded on their authority, and instituted for their peace, safety and happiness;

"And they have at all times a right to alter, reform or abolish the government as they think proper." (Article I, Constitution of Oregon.)

"That all abridgments of free speech, free assembly and free press are violations of the constitution of these United States.

"Therefore, in order to promote the welfare and happiness of our state and restore uniform justice and equal opportunity to all, we demand, as a minimum, that the following changes and additions be immediately enacted and put into force:

"1 The extension of the direct primary to the initiative, the referendum and the recall.

"2 The privilege of voting by mail together with universal registration.

"3 The abolition of the state senate.

"4 The public ownership of all public utilities and natural resources. Industrial Department Urged.

"5 The formation of a department of agriculture and industry, and the creation of a fiscal department, whose function shall be the creation of a state marketing system, a state bank and other such industrial activities as may be necessary and desirable.

"6 The removal of all unjust taxes from productive industry and the substitution therefor of a more equitable method of taxation.

"7 Proportional representation on all elective legislative bodies.

"8 That the public schools be placed upon a real democratic basis by making school boards representative through proportional representation and that the object of the schools be to teach democracy rather than to train children merely to be servers of others for profit.

"9 We hereby declare for the economic and industrial equality of women together with special protection for the mothers of our future citizens."

Single Tax Avoided.

The tax plank in the platform originally read "removal of all unjust taxes from productive industry and substitution of a tax on commodity
