Glee Club Makes Hit—

The Williamette Glee club came to town Tuesday, one day ahead of its schedule on account of the epidemic in other towns. This frisky bunch of songsters, rhymesters and jokesters appeared before a fairly good-sized audience and sang and rhymed and joked their way into the hearts and appreciation of everyone present. Some of the program numbers were exceptionally well rendered, and withal, the entertainment offered by the college lads and their lassies was one of high merit. Come next year, and do it again—Athena Press.

WOMEN'S DRIVE BEGINS TODAY

Y. W. C. A. Captains and Teams Are Out After Budget for Year

Everything is ready for the Y. W. C. A. budget campaign to start promptly at 9:30 o'clock this morning. A meeting was held yesterday afternoon in the Commercial club rooms, which are the temporary headquarters for the Y. W. C. A. during the influenza epidemic. Today captains and teams will start out to raise $2000 and they will be after every citizen for his contribution.

This is the only organization in the city after money for the girls of the city and the women feel that they are not asking the people of Salem for a dollar more than they should. Mrs. U. G. Shipley is chairman of the drive and with the able crew of workers helping her, success is predicted. Miss Elizabeth Hughes, a national Y. W. C. A. secretary from New York, spoke to the women, giving an interesting comparison of how the men of any city work for the boys and how the women of any city work for the girls. Miss Hughes spoke of her experiences in the field during the war and told many interesting incidents.

The campaign which opens today is not a membership campaign, but subscriptions for membership will be gladly taken by the women during their five-day drive. Tea will be served the workers each afternoon after their work when they assemble to turn in their reports.

SECOND WEEK OF REVIVAL OPENS

Rev. Dr. Mahood, Evangelist Wins Many With His Open Method of Speech

The second week of the revival at the First Methodist church began last night with a stirring sermon by the Rev. J. W. Mahood upon the text "I was in prison and yet came unto me."

Dr. Mahood does not "beat about the bush" in his sermons but speaks direct to his audience and applies his text to every day conditions in society. He pointed out many common prisons in the lives of his auditors and brought home to scores who heard him the vital necessity of removing many vices that have fastened themselves upon this community, as well as the nation at large, and which are destroying many people who are unable to withstand their allurements. His appeals have not miscarried and Sunday morning and evening as well as last night many were converted and have pledged themselves to a more consecrated life. And Dr. Mahood does not direct his appeals to those without the church only, but with penetrating insight divides the imperfections within the church and points the way to their correction and among those who are responding to his invitations are many church members of all denominations.

While Rev. Dr. Mahood is a Methodist, he has been engaged in evangelistic work for more than 20 years and he expresses the wish that those who are converted join the church of their choice without regard to his own preference, and his suggestion is being followed. Tonight the evangelist will speak on the topic "Paradise Lost" and it is safe to say will give a message well worth hearing to those who may find their path directed to the Methodist church on State street.

Editors Are Protected on Sources of Information

There is no law in Oregon to compel an editor of a newspaper to reveal the source of information contained in news articles. This is the reply which Attorney General Brown makes to a letter of inquiry from George Freiburger, an instructor in the school of journalism of the University of Missouri. Mr. Freiburger says he wants the information for the use of the college.

Once More Attorney General Rules on Familiar Question

Once more Attorney General Brown has passed on the question whether under the consolidated election law city and town elections must be held on the same date as the state and county elections.
