The Story of a Honeymoon

A Wonderful Romance of Married Life Wonderfully Told by ADELE GARRISON

CHAPTER DXXXIV

HOW MADGE "MET AND CONQUERED" COUSIN AGATHA.

That Cousin Agatha was in the state characterized by Dicky as "being on the war path" I saw by my first glimpse of her as she emerged from my mother-in-law's room. I knew that she must be furiously angry at Katie for the language the girl had used to her, and had wondered what course she would pursue.

Before she began to speak I saw what her tactics would be. Years of posing had enabled her to control her emotions to a remarkable degree. She meant to preserve her usual martyr air when speaking of Katie to convey the idea that her only motive in coming to me was to do me a kindness, to warn me of the viper I was cherishing in my bosom. I wondered if she had told Mother Graham of her encounter and quickly decided that she hadn't. I had seen that for some reason Cousin Agatha stood somewhat in awe of her autocratic relative. She probably hadn't cared to inform my mother-in-law that she had become involved in a vulgar controversy with my maid within half an hour of her arrival in my home.

She evidently did not stand in the same awe of me. A wave of remembering bitterness, tinged with sardonic amusement, swept over me. Katie's verdict of long ago was a just one. I was "too easy." Even this hanger-on of Dicky's family, this "Cousin Agatha," had seen this in her quick survey of me and meant to take advantage of it.

"May I speak to you alone, Mrs. Graham?" she said purringly, as she came up to me, and yet there was in her voice a note of authoritative expectation.

"You may," I returned, and I didn't put any cordiality into the answer. I threw open the door of my room and beckoned her in, closing it after us.

"We are moving, as you see," I said, "so you will have to excuse the appearance of this room. Will you be seated?"

"No, thank you," she returned, and I saw that she had caught the coolness of my tone. "What I have to say to you will take but a minute or two."

She paused, evidently to let me make some rejoinder. I saw that she knew the value of letting an antagonist do most of the talking; but as I had the same knowledge I kept my lips firmly closed and she was compelled to go on.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c.

Washington Woman, 73 Years Old, With Her Great-Great Grandchild

Mrs. May Elizabeth Beall is a great-great grandmother at seventy-three. She is seen here with her only great-great grandchild, a boy of one year. Besides being a great-great grandmother, Mrs. Beall is the mother of ten, grandmother of fifty-seven and great grandmother of twenty-nine, a total of ninety-six. This photograph was taken on Christmas Day at the home in Washington, D. C., of one of the great grandchildren.

SALEM LAUDED BY LEGISLATOR

E. A. Hayes, of San Jose, Cal. Here to Inspect His Farmer in

We know what sort of a town Salem is by the sort of people who come here. Former Congressman E. A. Hayes of San Jose, California, is registered at the Bligh, where he has been for several days while looking after his farming interests in the Beaver Dam region.

Of course no one would expect a Californian to place any state before his own but the congressman is ready to admit that Oregon is a very close second. In fact he said that the land that he owns near here is "the best in the world" and he gives some pretty tall stories about onions and carrots and other vegetables to support his contention.

Mr. Hayes has been a resident of the Pacific coast for 30 years and he is a firm believer in a bright future for the west. For 14 years he was congressman from San Jose until ill health made it imperative that he retire from public life. He is now so fully recovered that he longs to return to the fight in crowded halls and in the light of flaring torches and on legislative floors. Congressman Hayes is by profession a Republican and a Republican of the very blackest sort. He will be in Salem for the rest of the week.

HOLMES CASE IS HEARD BY COURT

Portland Man Would Enjoin State From Paying for So-Called Reddish Farm

Arguments were heard by the Oregon supreme court here Thursday in the case brought by H. A. Holmes of Portland to restrain the members of the game and fish commission, Governor Olcott and State Treasurer Hoff from approving or issuing a warrant in the sum of approximately $8000 in payment for the so-called Reddish game farm in Lane county.

Mr. Holmes first instituted this action in the circuit court for Marion county, and at a subsequent hearing Judge Bingham issued a restraining order in compliance with the request of the plaintiff. The state then appealed the case to the supreme court for final determination.

Mr. Holmes charged in his complaint that the officials were without legal authority to purchase the farm and that the proceedings attendant to the transaction were irregular and without precedent in the history of the state.

W. P. Lord, a Portland attorney, appeared in behalf of Mr. Holmes here today, while Attorney General Brown appeared for the state.

Silverton Home Badly Damaged By Blaze

SILVERTON, Or., Feb. 20.—(Special.)—A serious accident came near occurring Sunday night at the Olsen home, south of town. Fire had been kept up in the stove during the night, and early Monday morning a neighbor came running over to tell Mr. Olsen his house was on fire. With the assistance of the neighbors Mr. Olsen finally succeeded in putting the fire out. About a thousand new shingles will repair the damage.

Mr. Barbo, a brother of Mrs. N. Holman, has bought the A. Knutson farm south of town, for $7000. The place contains 27 acres in tillable condition. Mr. and Mrs. Knutson are thinking of moving into town.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Tingstad have received word from Mr. Tingstad's parents, who are spending the winter in California, that they will probably return to Silverton some time during the latter part of April. At that time Mr. and Mrs. Martin Tingstad and daughter Helen will go east to visit brothers of Mr. Tingstad, who reside in South Dakota and Iowa.

There are still a number of cases of flu or gripe in and about Silverton. Among those suffering from it are Mrs. A. Housen, John Goplerude, Miss Nettie Benson, Miss Elvera Vickstrom, Mrs. John Brooks, Rev. George Henriksen, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hubbs, and Mrs. C. I. Benson.

Lulu B. Morgan of Denver, Colorado, spent a few days at Silverton last week. Miss Morgan is a short story writer and is touring the country in connection with her work.

Mrs. Holman, mother of N. O. Holman, arrived at Silverton Sunday to assist in taking care of the Holman family, now suffering from the influenza. Mr. Holman is still at the Milwaukee sanatorium, but it is thought he is somewhat improved in health.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Newton, who were with the Silverton Good Products company during the past season, are planning on moving to Dallas this week.

Mrs. Bliss, a national field worker for the Woman's Home Mission society, spoke at the Methodist church Sunday morning and afternoon. The members of the congregation brought their dinners and enjoyed a sociable time in the church basement during the noon hour.

H. M. Schubert is to be field man for the new Dallas cannery for the coming season. Mr. Schubert has gone to Dallas and is now preparing his work for the coming year.

Ray E. Dullum returned from California the last of the week. Mr. Dullum does not seem to be greatly impressed by the southern climate.

Brings beauty in FULL measure to your home.

BEAUTY OF DESIGN:

Its artistic simplicity, its quiet richness and finish—if it were regarded only as a piece of furniture—would make it more than attractive to the eye.

BEAUTY OF TONE:

The secret lies in the jeweled Sapphire Ball. It is no larger than the point of a pin, yet so exquisitely adjusted that its movement along the record grooves produces tones of the most limpid sweetness.

BEAUTY OF SELECTIONS:

The voice that thrills grand opera audiences, the wavering call of the violin, the difficult technique of the piano, or the pulsing jazz—yours is the limitless opportunity to have any or all on your Pathe.

Let us play your favorite selections on the Pathe, and then explain our liberal terms.

ing up in and about Silverton. Many people have been unable to find a place to rent, therefore, they build.

S. E. Richardson, the implement man, has the plans completed for his new home which he is going to build on his lot facing Coolidge street.

The heavy frame work for the new Ford service station is being put up by Contractor Anderson on the corner of First and D Lewis streets.

A basement is being dug under the Benton store to replace the warehouse which formerly stood in the rear of the store building. The warehouse was removed to make room for the new buildings.

Charles Parsons has nearly completed the erection of a house on his property east of town.

C. Lovlien, from Wisconsin, who recently purchased the Schubert farm west of Silverton, is erecting a modern house and barn on it. Both buildings are being wired for electricity. O. Salern and A. Corhouse are doing the work.
