

CITY NEWS

Registration is Slow.
The county clerk reports that the returns are registering faster this year than they did last year, but so far they have not come up to the standard of two years ago. Some people are still a little negligent about such things.

Police Keep Busy.
A notice was served on the Capital Junk company by Officer Morelock yesterday morning to remove junk from the alley in the rear of the firm's place on Chemeketa street between Commercial and Front streets. Another complaint was answered by Officer Moffitt, regarding some wood which was obstructing an alley back of the T. J. Jones residence at 400 South Nineteenth street. The officer told the owners of the wood that it was causing an obstruction contrary to a city ordinance, with the result that the wood was moved at once.

DADS AND BOYS MEET TONIGHT
Banquet and Toasts Main Features of Third Annual Entertainment

Tonight at 6:30 the H-Y club of Salem high school will stage its third annual Father and Son banquet at the Y. M. C. A.
The past two years a full week has been devoted to bringing the fathers and sons in closer touch, but this year it was felt that the business men were too busy to make such an extensive program a success. It was decided, therefore, to confine the activities of the week to one evening and to concentrate on the banquet as the only feature of this year's father and son campaign.
According to present plans the banquet will be the most unusual of its kind yet staged. The Willamette university quartet has consented to be present and sing for the entertainment of the banqueters while the musical end of the program will also be enhanced by an orchestra from the high school.
Following the "feed" which, by the way, will be prepared by the far-famed H-Y "hashers"—all high school girls—the evening will be turned over to toast-making and a general good time for the boys and their dads.
Some prominent business man, who has a keen interest in boy life, will probably deliver a short talk, followed by responses from both men and boys.
The success of the "mix" depends very largely upon the willingness of the fathers to attend, and it is hoped by members of the club that the dads will remember that their sons are just "chips off the old block" and turn out to help along the spirit for which the campaign is being conducted.

What A Business Man Wanted
A business man, who called on us a few weeks ago, said, "We want a lady in our office; a typist who has a thorough knowledge of business and can use her own head. We want such a person as Mrs. ... I presume you know her?"
"The fact is, Mrs. ... referred to, took her course at the school several years ago, later attending night school to do some special work."
The business man was told that we could not then refer him to any available person. He left with instructions to keep him in mind and telephone at his expense when we found such a lady. "Could you have filled this place?"
