great interest the good time in store for them Monday evening, April 19. Every boy member is invited to bring his daddy and one other boy who is not a member of the association.

The Y. M. C. A. announced that it has secured "Black-lock Lewis" the noted Alaskan soundough, to give his illustrated lecture on Alaska, to show his interesting souvenirs of Alaska and to tell the boys and their daddies a lot about Alaska that they never knew before.

Mr. Lewis will show five reels of moving pictures, everyone taken in Alaska by himself and his assistant. The entertainment will be given in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and there will be no charge. It will be a big night for the boys of the Y. M. C. A.

PEACE MAY SOON REIGN AGAIN IN U. S.

Laugh Is Given Wilson. The November elections figured almost as prominently in the debate as did the international situation, war time legislation, or even President Wilson's share in the treaty fight. A statement by Representative Poon, Democrat, North Carolina, that the president had been without personal ambition in his actions, brought a roar of laughter from the Republican side. It was echoed in the conference from the Democratic side a moment later when, to support charges of partisan purpose, Representative Montague, Democrat, Virginia, asked Chairman Campbell of the rules committee, why peace with Austro-Hungary also had not been postponed.

On the technical side of the discussion the Democrats repeatedly challenged the constitutional right of congress to pass such legislation, insisting it was a contemplated invasion of the treaty-making powers conferred on the executive branch and the senate. Historical and legal precedents were marshaled to support this view and the writings of authorities on international law quoted at length. The Republicans quoted other authorities and precedents and maintained that all that was sought was to end legally a war that had in fact ended long ago. The treaty-making powers were affected, they insisted, and a formal treaty with Germany could be drawn and ratified as provided by the constitution.

Representative Campbell, in presenting the rule, assured the house that there was no intention to permit any other vote than on adoption of the resolution and one vote on recommitment.

Poor Old Jiggs Will be Salem's Guest Tonight

An attraction sure to be discussed, enjoyed and remembered is underlined to hold the boards at the Grand Opera house tonight only, Friday, April 9.

The new piece is called "Bringing Up Father in Society" and based on the famous comics of George McManus. As usual Gus Hill will present the offering. This season the noted Jiggs Mahoney, as "Father" is familiarly known, will be surrounded by all his friends—the favorites we have long ago learned to love and anticipate. And for the occasion they will appear in a series of typical adventures, complications and situations in which the social aspirations of "Mother" (Jiggs' better half) receive a decided jolt, of course, for the time being Jiggs is made the "goat". But like the proverbial worm he has a chance to turn. And he does. Naturally all is done for the purpose of creating laughter which mission is ably fulfilled.

SALT LAKE CITY, April 8.—Poor support by the locals coupled with ability of Beaver players to hit freely "Spider" Baum's offerings, enabled Portland to score a win, 5 to 4, over Salt Lake today. Portland scored the winning tally in the ninth, when Blue took first on a fielder's choice, stole second, advanced to third when Krug failed to cover the bag and scored on Wistritz's single.

In the seventh Bill Ruml, Bee second baseman, scored a home run, putting the ball over right field fence.

The hits were evenly distributed, each side pounding out 10 safeties. Seaton, twirling for the Seals, however, tightened up in the pinches and worked his way out of several dangerous holes. The Seals made all of their tallies and won the game in the first four innings.

Geary held Sacramento safe until the eighth when hits by Compton, Shang and Middleton, coupled with errors by Hartford and Kenworthy blighted the Siwash's opportunity for victory. Kuntz on the mound for the Senators was relieved in the final inning by Larkin. Larkin proved ineffective and Malls was called upon to finish the contest.
