THE OREGON FOREIGN LANGUAGE NEWSPAPER LAW IS NOT IN FORCE

Chapter 17, General Laws of Oregon for 1920, was passed by the special session of the Legislature.

This law made it unlawful to print, publish, circulate, display, sell or offer for sale any newspaper or periodical in any language other than the English, unless the same shall contain a literal translation thereof in the English language of the same type and as conspicuous in display. A penalty provided for imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed six months or fine not to exceed $500, or both, which is part of the act.

About the first of February, a suit was brought in the United States district court at Portland by St. Benedict's Abbey, a corporation, against Geo. M. Brown, attorney general, Max Gehlar, district attorney, and Walter H. Evans, district attorney, to enjoin these officers permanently from the enforcement of this act, it being contended that said act was unconstitutional void in the following respects:

1. In contravention of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution.
2. In that it contravenes and attempts to derogate from the power of Congress to regulate interstate commerce.
3. In that said act contravenes Article I, Section 10, of the United States Constitution.
4. That said act is in conflict with section 8 of the Constitution of Oregon, declaring that there shall be no interference with the rights of free speech and free press.
5. That it is in conflict with Section 3 of the Constitution of Oregon relating to freedom of religious opinion.
6. That said act is in contravention of the due process of law clause of the Constitution of the State of Oregon, Section 10.

Plaintiff corporation alleges that it publishes:

1. A weekly paper of 24700 copies published in the German language circulated in all of the states of the Union and in foreign countries, 75 per cent. of the subscribers being outside of the state of Oregon.
2. A monthly publication having a circulation of 16,100, printed in the German language, circulated in all the states of the Union and in foreign countries.
3. A calendar or almanac of approximately 14,300 copies circulated in Oregon and other states of the Union and in foreign countries, published in the German language.
4. A publication in Latin circulated within the state of Oregon and other states of the Union.

The matter was heard the latter part of March before three federal judges and the injunction was made permanent, enjoining the officers from enforcing this law.

So the matter rests. If the matter should be taken to the United States Supreme Court on appeal, there is no doubt that the order of the three federal judges would stand.

Strikes in the United States are growing more and more unpopular. And the more unpopular they grow, the better for all concerned. There is no rightful place in our civilization for strikes.

Yes, now is the time to get ready to swat the fly. A swat in time is worth a dime, while a swat delayed may as well not be made.

Sonora, the seceding state of Mexico, joins Arizona on the south, and corners on California. General Pino, commanding the first divisional army of the seceding state, tells the Associated Press that 13 other states have voted for secession. Their complaint is that Carranza sends federal troops against the wishes of the state governments, and behind this is a long list of grievances. It is very easy to imagine a good deal of difficulty on the part of Carranza in getting the rebel states back into the fold. It may easily amount to an impossible task.

Tell the world, through the Salem slogan pages of The Statesman of Thursday, what you know about legumes. It is important.

An Englishman says that music will cure Bolshevism, in which case a neighbor says he knows a young lady ivory-powder on Piety hill who ought to be sent to Petrograd.

Considerable areas of broom corn will be in evidence this year in southern California, thus contributing our share to the supply of material for breakfast foods.—Los Angeles Times. It will be tried in the Salem district, too; but ours will go into the manufacturing or brooms.

The constitution provides that representatives in congress "shall be apportioned among the several states according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each state, excluding Indians not taxed." At present the ratio of representation is one member for each 211,817 of population. This gives a total of 435 representatives, which is about 40 more than the number was before the national nose-counting in 1910. After the 1920 census figures are in, politicians and office seekers in all probability will seek to have the present basis of representation retained or at least they will oppose any material change in it in order that there may be more elective places for "deserving" Democrats and Republicans. Any increase would be inimical to real efficiency in legislation. Already the house is so big numerically that it is unwieldy. Experience has shown that beyond a certain limit the more representatives the people have in congress the less they are actually represented.

ON THE DROP. One of the new English theaters is to have a huge mirror to take the place of a drop curtain. This will enable a large portion of the audience to see itself without craning its neck.

Looking at the curtain with opera glasses would be more entertaining than the show with some people. But occasionally there will be embarrassment when the parquette sights the balcony crowd. At any rate, the idea is interesting. The audience will furnish an ever-changing picture instead of the stock oil painting.

MATTERS OF DRESS. If a girl dressed for prayer meeting the way she does for the front page of a magazine that goes into a million Christian homes, the meeting would promptly break up in disorder and disgrace.

A Sure Way To End Dandruff There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

MARTIN FILES AS CANDIDATE

Salem Attorney Aspires Again to Represent County in Legislature

Ivan G. Martin, who has represented Marion county in the last two regular sessions of the legislature, and Laiso in the special session of last January, yesterday filed his candidacy with the secretary of state for another hitch on the job.

Mr. Martin has on his record several important measures. Among these is the act restoring power and curtesy, introduced at the request of the grange, and which was passed after strong opposition. Another

LUCKER TAKES COLLEGE EVENT

"Keep America Fit" Is Subject of Winning Oration at Willamette

John Lucker of the sophomore class was the winner of last night's interclass oratorical contest that was held at the First Methodist church by the four classes at Willamette university. His topic was: "Keep America Fit." The oration was manifestly the product of much deep thought and was delivered in a lively, pleasing manner.

Fred McGrew of the junior class won second place on his oration "Which Way Shall America Take?" Roy Skeene, representing the freshman class, took third place. His oration was on "American Ideals." The senior class was not represented.

This contest will have its effect on the interclass rivalry score. At present this score is: Freshmen, 16; juniors, 14; sophomores, 13, and seniors 2. There will be three other events that will have their influence on the score. These will be the interclass tennis tournament, the track meet and the number of men from each class on varsity teams.

The winning of last night's oratorical contest by the sophomores has brought their score very nearly up to that of the juniors. Competition is very keen between these two classes and the three coming events will be all the more thrilling.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles. Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lay, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 10c and 25c.

university glee club in a concert at the Grand Opera house Wednesday night, April 21. The club recently returned from a two weeks' trip through eastern Oregon and Washington where it appeared in many towns and cities. The club has made numerous short trips into the neighboring towns, and will sing in Albany next Saturday night.

Manager Ed Socolofsky announces that the club is in good condition. "Fuzzy" Emmel and Edward Craven will appear in a brand new stunt-song entitled "Kerosene." The quartet, composed of Francis Kramer, Floyd McIntyre, Edwin Socolofsky and Fred McGrew will have several numbers to give that will be of special interest. Some of the pieces that will be rendered are Randger's "Hark, the Horn Awakes the Morn," Speak's "Morning," "My Ain Folk," by Lemon, "Stars and Stripes," by Sousa, and various other numbers of equal merit and interest.

measure which he succeeded in putting through was that providing fruit packed in Oregon must be so labeled. Several measures to improve the labor lien laws, introduced by Mr. Martin, were passed.

He introduced a measure providing that railway companies should establish and maintain grade crossings, a bill to amend the constitution providing that no alien Japanese should own land in Oregon, introduced at the request of the Women's Republican club, several measures to improve and clarify existing laws and measures amending insurance and corporation laws that have been productive of greater revenue for the state. He introduced the grain standardization bill and at the 1912 session was active in keeping the gasoline test law from being repealed. He has stood for good roads, schools and progressiveness in a conservative way.

In the 1919 session Mr. Martin was a member of the judiciary committee, and was chairman of the corporation committee and the insurance committee, and a member of other committees. He was a member of the committee which adopted the insurance code, provisions of which bring over $200,000 net income to the state.

Mr. Martin is a graduate of Willamette university and of the University of California and is now a member of the faculty of the Willamette college of law.

Ten Years Younger Than His Years

Doesn't it make you feel good—cause you to straighten up and feel "chesty"—when someone guesses your age at ten years or so younger than you really are? You look into your mirror, smile with satisfaction and say to yourself: "Well, he didn't make such a bad guess, at that."

The point is: You're no older than your vitality.

If a man is strong, vigorous, mentally alert, fine and fit at 50 he has a better chance of living up to 80 than a man of 30 who is weak and run-down has of living up to 60. While none of us can stay the years nor stop time, we should all make an heroic effort to successfully resist the effects of time by ever keeping our vitality at par.

When you sense a feeling of slowing down of your physical forces—when your stomach, liver, kidneys and other organs show signs of weakness—when you notice a lack of your old time "pep" and "punch"—in other words, when you feel your vitality on the wane, you should commence at once to restore your energy, strength and endurance by taking
