MAKE TWO BUSHEL GROW WHERE ONE GREW

Oregon needs more men and women who can make two blades of grass, two ears of grain, or two bushels of potatoes grow where only one now grows.

Such people are scarce. Scientific agriculture has made its advances so recently that few successful experimenters and teachers of agriculture are available, and these are naturally in great demand.

What states will profit by the services of these capable few? Those whose people have sufficient foresight to employ them, of course. Unless the millage tax for higher education in Oregon is accepted by the voters on May 21, the Oregon Agricultural College will be unable to compete for their services, and the "two bushel" men will go to other states.

Is Oregon willing to make the investment? Does she want her share of men who know most about fertilization of soils, rotation of crops, selection of seeds, eradication of crop pests, and the storage of crops—men who can put a stop to the shortsighted practice of mining the soil instead of improving it?

Does Oregon want more men who can produce and develop strains of chickens that lay twice as many eggs as the ordinary barnyard fowl?

Does Oregon want men who can improve her dairy and beef strains of cattle? Does she want more cows that give two gallons of milk to every gallon that a scrub cow gives?

Does Oregon want men who can devise cheaper methods of lumbering and of removing stumps? Does she want men who can determine the quickest and cheapest methods of reforesting her rough hills? Does she want men who can locate the coal and oil beneath her surface?

Does Oregon want engineers who can double the development of the water power of the state—power that will bring manufacturing to the state as well as provide current for domestic use?

Does Oregon want engineers who can locate roads and discover improved methods of building them?

Does Oregon need market experts who can keep the producers informed as to the probable output of her products? It is almost as bad for farmers to produce too many prunes as it is to have a crop failure. She should devise methods of expanding the market before the trees come into bearing.

Does Oregon need commercially trained men who can make Portland, Salem and other cities of the state, twice the commercial emporiums that they now are?

Oregon has a good climate, much fertile soil, and an industrious population. But climate, soil, and industry alone do not make a great state without the use of the most advanced methods. How can she double the output of all things that are desirable—from cabbage to character?

Only by the best methods. How can she get these best methods? From men of ideas who have had long and expensive training. How can she get these men? By paying as much for them as other institutions are paying, just as a private corporation does, and as the most progressive states find that they must do.

Our educational institutions cannot get and hold these scientific men unless the millage tax is voted "yes" on May 21.

One thing sure, the voters this year will have a wide range of selection in the matter of candidates.

You can be immune from the potato profiteers next year by raising your own spuds.

This is Hoover day in Salem.

Nobody but his own family thinks much of a profiteer.

Milk from peanuts is the latest suggestion, just as if the handful for a nickel that now marks the high-water mark of prices for the goober were not enough.

Several prominent Republicans have refused to be considered as candidates for vice president. Don't they know that in the history of this country five men have stepped only 28 were for Johnson. In all the straw votes taken on primaries thus far held Johnson is very strong with the Germans, Russians and the Poles, but weak among educated Americans and English people.

If the German votes were to decide the presidency for America there would be no question about the election of Johnson. In the German settlements in South Dakota he was about the only candidate voted for. But thus far we are not leaving it to the Germans to decide. We would rather trust the country to the American school-teachers.

CLUBBING FOR HOOVER.

There are Hoover Republican clubs, Hoover Democratic clubs, women's Hoover clubs, independent Hoover clubs, people's Hoover clubs, Boy Scout Hoover clubs and a string of other Hoover organizations. It seems as if everybody was picking up a club on behalf of Hoover—that is, everybody but the Socialists. They would like to use a club on him in another way.—Los Angeles Times.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

This is Hoover day in Salem. They are going to try to put Hoover over.

And the Hoover limousine of the sky will hover over Salem today.

Some ginks out at the asylum for the insane are crazy; that's to be expected.

Some of these ginks refuse to work in that institution if "Happy" Gordon is allowed to work there.

What is the matter with Happy Gordon? Nothing; only he served a term in the penitentiary. Otherwise there is no fault.

Do these ginks know that O. Henry, the greatest short-story writer the world ever produced, served a term in the Ohio penitentiary; and that he got a great deal of his short-story matter there?

Do they know that nearly all the best people history speaks about served time in prison? Peter and Paul were both jail birds. Jesus of Nazareth was crucified as a condemned criminal.

This would be a sorry old world but for the glorified jail birds of the past.

The modern world is getting over the idea that a man is to be hounded after he gets out of prison. It is no longer a question as to whether a man has been in prison. The big thing is for him to behave himself after he gets out. And if he does so behave himself, there is no jail half bad enough for the sorry devil who will put a straw in his way to swerve him from the right path or drive him back.

JAPANESE WILL PLANT LETTUCE

Lake Labish Orientals Hope to Establish Exclusive Market in East

The Japanese gardeners on the Lake Labish bottom lands will not increase the acreage of celery this summer over the amount grown last season.

Their present plan is to launch extensively into growing lettuce. This starchy garden product grows rank and crisp on the lake lands as previous efforts have demonstrated.

These alert little fellows have been watching the carloads of lettuce arriving on the Portland, Seattle and other city markets in the northwestern states from California. They have observed the high prices this leafy vegetable has been commanding. They also know they can grow more attractive lettuce in Lake Labish than is shipped here from the Golden state.

They are on the job now and will start right. They are receiving several carloads of sheep fertilizer from Idaho. They have the ground already prepared. The seed will be sown in succession so shipments may be made throughout the season.

Their plan is to send trial lots of the lettuce eastward in the attempt to develop an exclusive market among the wealthier people who are ready to pay a top price for a superior lettuce product.

Shoes Wear Longer

When you walk in comfort, so do stockings. A package of Allen's Foot-Ease, the antiseptic powder to shake into the shoes and sprinkle in the foot-bath gives you that "old shoe" comfort and saves waste. Allen's Foot-Ease makes tight or new shoes feel easy. Ladies can wear shoes one size smaller by shaking some Allen's Foot-Ease in each shoe in the morning. Sold everywhere.

HEAVY RAINS DO NO HARM

Lake Labish Farmers Glad Precipitation Is Not at Later Date

QUINABY, April 8.—Farmers and fruit growers in this section believe that the heavy rains now falling will do less harm to fruit blossoms than if they came 10 days later when the trees would be in full bloom, and thereby prevented from full pollenization, as the bees are unable to carry out their work in this regard during heavy rain. Practically everything is planted—except garden and potatoes, and fair headway has been made in pruning and spraying.

Plans are being discussed for a piano recital at the Clerk Lake school house some time the latter part of May by the pupils of Mrs. Henry Lee. Salem talent will assist, and the proceeds are to be devoted to some charitable work.

The family of Frank Diem is reported suffering from influenza. There have been many cases in this vicinity, but no fatalities during the epidemic this spring.

Ellis Conroy and family, who were for several years popular residents of this section, recently sold their farm at Waldport and are contemplating a return to the Willamette valley. Mr. Conroy is here now renewing old friendships and seeking a location.

Henry Girod has just recovered from an operation for the removal of his tonsils. Mrs. George Longmire underwent a similar operation last week.

Considerable political activity is being observed in the farming section.

Silverton Club Lays Off of Local Labor Troubles

SILVERTON, Or., April 12.—(Special to The Statesman)—At a recent meeting of the Silverton community club it was decided that the club should not take part in any matters affecting the labor situation. The club refused to have speakers brought to Silverton to speak for the Timberworkers' union under the auspices of the club. For the same reason a former resolution of endorsement for the 4-La which had been recorded was removed from the books.
