

SCHOOL BILLS ARE ENDORSED

Richmond Improvement Club Votes Favorable Sentiment Last Night

The Richmond Improvement club, at a meeting last night, endorsed by rising vote the 2-mill elementary school bill and the millage act for maintenance of the state educational institutions. The rising vote was called for by James S. Stewart, after he had addressed the meeting on the measures. One or two persons present attempted to debate the question with Mr. Stewart, but the number of those who did not rise in favor of the bills was negligible. No vote was taken on the amendment increasing the bonded indebtedness limit from 2 to 4 per cent for the benefit of the road building fund but an almost unanimous sentiment was expressed in favor of good roads.

Roy A. Klein, secretary of the state highway commission, showed slides of highway scenes about the state, particularly of the Columbia river highway. A resolution was adopted endorsing the action of the Commercial club and of the North Salem Improvement association in approving the proposed charter amendment changing the method of assessment on pavement of street intersections. An unusually large crowd attended last night.

I. W. W. NOT BEHIND RAILROAD STRIKE

ed tonight by Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor. An independent investigation of strike causes by the railway executives, the statement said, revealed "just a plain, ordinary strike for more pay."

"If there were enough revolutionary power in the United States to create such an outbreak as this," Mr. Morrison said, "the condition would be serious indeed. But there is no such power. The absolute failure of the attorney general to grasp the true situation is amazing."

The only development today affecting the government's connection with the situation was the organization meeting of the railway labor board, which met with seven of its nine members present, elected officers and determined to take up, beginning tomorrow, the whole question of railway wages at the point where the bi-partisan discussion between men and employes dropped it some days ago, unable to reach conclusion.

Government Acts Stupidly. While tactics of the railway strikers were wrong and disavowed by organized labor, Mr. Morrison's statement said, this should not prevent an "honest" understanding of the facts. His own viewpoint as to causes of the strike, he added, was based on reports gathered by employes' representatives not in sympathy with the strikers.

"I point to these reports and the evidence they contain as an evidence of governmental stupidity in dealing with the situation," Mr. Morrison continued. "While the government, through the attorney general is contemplating repression and punishment, treating the strike as a crime, the real employes know that the strike is an outbreak against economic conditions."

"After reading the digest of those reports, the conclusion is evident that whatever the merits of the strike, it is chiefly just a plain, ordinary strike for more pay."

A Simple Strike for Rise. New York and New England investigators reported they had found strike sentiment "strongest among the intelligent and conservative men," Mr. Morrison said. Many of the strikers have served for long periods on one railway, he added, and never before were entirely satisfied. Other observers found "no virus of disloyalty or revolution in the ranks of the disaffected workers except the usual evidence of extremists who are 'riding' the strike as sometimes happen to be the case."

Mr. Morrison declared the railroad executives were "fully informed" as to the character of the strike and "they know that the outbreak is under no revolutionary direction."

"According to data gathered by the employes from their representatives in close touch with the strikers throughout the country," the statement added, "the yardmen's walkout is not of a revolutionary character or origin."

"A digest of the reports show that in all localities the reasons advanced by the strikers for their action are startlingly alike. 'Everyone of our investigators,' the digest says, 'is firmly convinced that so far as his territory is concerned the strike is all-American and entirely devoid of Bolshevism or I. W. W.ism and that up to the end of last week the radical element was not in evidence at all.'"

John Grunau, Harold Reading and five others were released tonight from federal custody on their own recognizance. They promised to report for preliminary hearing on April 24.

NO CHANGE IN PORTLAND. PORTLAND, April 16.—Conditions in the switchmen's strike has showed little change here today. All companies were working some yard crews, but all were admittedly shorthanded. A bulletin was posted today by J. H. Dyer, general manager of the Southern Pacific lines, declaring that under no circumstances will the company grant a hearing to the striking switchmen's organization. The bulletin, it was said, was issued to silence reports circulated by striking switchmen's leaders that the company officials would soon receive them and hear their demands formally.

SOUTHWEST NORMAL. ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 16.—The striking switchmen at Winslow, Ariz., returned to work this afternoon, according to word reaching here, ending all trouble on the Santa Fe railroad between here and the Pacific coast.

NEW YORK. April 16.—The collapse of the "outlaw" railroad strike, which is entering its second week here, was believed to be near tonight by the railroad officials, who supported this opinion with a statement of greatly improved passenger and freight service on all roads into New York.

Further disintegration in the strikers' ranks was reported late today following a meeting in Jersey City.

A federal grand jury investigation of the strike was begun in New Jersey. Thirty subpoenas were issued at Trenton for the appearance of strike leaders before the grand jury in Newark Monday.

Packages of pamphlets signed "Central revolutionary council of America" and addressed to "railway men and port workers" appealing to them to "tie up the whole system and show your mass power" were turned over to the Jersey City police by a committee of strikers.
