

Society

By RUTH LENORE FISHER

MRS. F. VON ESCHEN graciously entertained the members of the Mothers' class of the First Methodist church at her home Tuesday afternoon for a very interesting business meeting and a delightful social hour. The rooms were cheerily adorned with spring flowers in the vases. During the social hour Misses June and Florence Young and Helene Ehner gave some musical numbers.

Assisted by Mrs. Fred A. Legg the hostess served a light lunch to the guests.

The departure today of Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Schmidt and two small children for Brighton, Canada, where they will make their home in the future is the cause of much regret to their many Salem friends. They have been the hosts for many social courtesies during the past few weeks and it has been known that they would not remain in Salem.

Mrs. George J. Pearce has gone to Albany to spend a few days with her sister, Mrs. Thomas Hopkins, before her departure for California to live.

Mrs. T. A. Hamilton, Mrs. O. L. Scott and son Russell have returned from Oregon City where they were the guests for a few days of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Scott.

Miss Alta Jones has returned from Portland where she spent a week visiting with friends.

The Foreign and Home Missionary societies of the Leslie Methodist church met yesterday afternoon at the home of Rev. A. S. Mulligan in Fairview for the regular joint meeting of the societies. Mrs. A. C. Bohrnstedt, president of the organization, presided over the business meeting which was followed by a short social hour.

Mrs. H. L. Sternberg of Albany is spending a visit of several days in Salem with friends.

The Peircean class of the First Methodist church, which is composed of the teachers of the Sunday school, was entertained recently by Mrs. F.

A CHILD'S COAT FROM OLD SUIT

"Diamond Dyes" Help Make New Outfit for Youngsters.

Don't worry about perfect results. Use "Diamond Dyes," guaranteed to give a new, rich, fadeless color to any fabric, whether it be wool, silk, linen, cotton, or mixed goods—dresses, blouses, stockings, skirts, children's coats, feathers, draperies, coverings.

The Direction Book with each package tells so plainly how to diamond dye over any color that you can not make a mistake.

To match any material, have the druggist show you "Diamond Dye" Color Card.

PARISIAN WAIST SHOP

Our shop is full of waists of the most dainty hand painted designs. Don't wait till the prettiest are taken, or let us make one especially for you. Just a few left at $12.50.

212 So. Cottage St. Phone 1620M

SHIPLEY'S

After May 1st will be known as the pay as you go store.

DATES OF SLOGANS IN DAILY STATESMAN

(In Twice-a-Week Statesman Following Day)

Loganberries, Oct. 9.	Beans, March 18, 1920.
Prunes, Oct. 16.	Paved highways, March 25, 1920.
Dairying October 23.	Broccoli, April 1, 1920.
Flax, October 30.	Silos, April 8.
Filberts, Nov. 6.	Legumes, April 15.
Walnuts, Nov. 13.	Asparagus, April 22.
Strawberries, Nov. 20.	Grapes, April 29.
Apples, November 27.	Drug Garden, May 6.
Raspberries, December 4.	Hogs, May 13, 1920.
Mint, December 11.	Paper Mill, May 20.
Great Cows, December 18.	Land, May 27, 1920.
Blackberries, December 25.	National Advertising, June 3.
Cherries, January 1, 1920.	Sheep, June 10.
Pears, January 8, 1920.	Dehydration, June 17.
Gooseberries, January 15, 1920.	Hops, June 24.
Corn, January 22, 1920.	Poultry, July 1.
Celery, January 29.	Late Cabbage, July 8.
Spinach, February 5, 1920.	(Back copies of Salem Slogan editions of the Daily Oregon Statesman are on hand. They are for sale at 5c each, mailed to any address; if ALL are taken; price for first 15 copies, 10c each.)
Onions, February 12, 1920.
Potatoes, February 19, 1920.
Bees, February 26, 1920.
Mining, March 4, 1920.
Goats, March 11, 1920.

(It will interest some people to know that these back copies are selling fast—that, nearly every day, orders are received from near and distant points for the whole series. They will be sold out before the fifty-two Slogans are completed, without doubt.—Ed.)

"Mrs. Durkee called me up and asked me if we were to be at home this evening. She said she and Alfred wished to come over, because Alfred is going to Plattsburg soon and wishes to see us all before he goes. Under the circumstances I was injudicious enough to propose oysters and a rabbit. But, of course, it will only take a minute to 'phone her that I was mistaken about your being home."

I turned away and went swiftly out of the door and into the reception hall in an alcove of which the telephone was situated. I had taken the receiver down before Dicky reached me, snatched it out of my hand and replaced it on the hook.

"What the devil is the matter with you, any way?" he stormed.

"I am not aware that there is anything amiss with me," I returned coolly.

"Well, there is!" he retorted.

CHILDREN
should not be "dosed" for colds—apply the "outside" treatment—
VICK'S VAPORUB
"YOUR BODYGUARD"—30¢ 50¢ 75¢ 1.20

"Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bohrnstedt of Madison, Wis., who have been visiting at the home of the former's brother, A. C. Bohrnstedt, will leave today for their eastern home. Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bohrnstedt will motor them to Portland and spend a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis of Portland but formerly residents of Salem, spent yesterday visiting with Salem friends.

Mrs. S. Freckson of Albany and Mrs. O. P. Mishler of Oregon City, have returned to their homes after passing a short visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elgin.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Niemeyer have motored back from Portland where they went to go fishing on the Sandy river.

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

The Story of a Honeymoon

A Wonderful Romance of Married Life Wonderfully Told by ADELE GARRISON

CHAPTER 581.

WHERE IS THE NOTE DICKY WAS TO WRITE?

It wasn't until I had hung up the receiver after talking with little Mrs. Durkee that I wondered if Dicky could possibly have an engagement for the evening.

The thought made me hurry to the dining room, where Dicky was lingering over a belated breakfast. Only the day before he had finished an important piece of work which had kept him unusually busy for several days. It was always his custom after such a spurt of work to "take it easy," as he expressed it, for a time, and he had declared his intention the night before of not going to his studio in the city until the afternoon.

"Mrs. Durkee and Alfred are coming over tonight."

I thought it wiser to make the announcement first instead of asking him whether or not he intended to spend the evening at home.

"The deuce they are!" Dicky turned abruptly from his omelet, and frowned blackly at me. "Did the thought ever strike your alleged brain that it might be well to find out whether I would be home before issuing invitations to the neighbors for the evening? Or perhaps you don't care whether I am at home or not."

"Nice Performance!"

If it were not so irritating, Dicky's childish petulance would be amusing. But I was not in a particularly jocular mood.

"I haven't issued any invitations to the neighbors," I answered icily.

"You ought to have your head examined right away. Nice sort of performance you were scheduling here, to insult my old friends by telling them they couldn't come over, two minutes after you had arranged a blowout for them!"

One of Dicky's Changes

"They have evidently changed their status in the last minute," I said. "Then they were simply 'the neighbors,' to whom I was issuing invitations without your gracious permission. Now they are 'old friends.' You will pardon me if my 'alleged brain' is a bit bewildered at the transition."

Dicky stared at me blackly for a minute. Then his face cleared and he put his head back and laughed heartily.

"Did she get her little back up?" he said mockingly when he had finished laughing, but there was no rancor in either the laugh or the mockery, and from long experience with Dicky I knew that if I wished to avoid a serious quarrel I would better match his merry mood.

"No, indeed," I returned with forced gaiety. "I was simply making sure that my liege lord was obeyed in his slightest behest as a proper doorman wife should do."

"You're a card as a doorman wife!" scoffed Dicky, and then a worried frown appeared on his face. "Of course I've got to stay at home; it would never do to offend the Durkees, but I do wish they had chosen any other evening. I have an important engagement on tonight."

"Can't you telephone right away and arrange the matter?" I asked innocently.

Dicky gave me a quick glance that to my imagination had something furtive in it—he hesitated perceptibly before he answered.

"I can't reach them by the telephone," he said at last. "But if I write a note and put a special delivery on it it will get the noon mail and be delivered late this afternoon. That will have to do."

It was on the tip of my tongue to offer to go to the postoffice with the note, but a saying second thought came to me just in time. I was afraid that if I did so Dicky would think I made the offer solely to see the address on the note he was sending.

There was something about the whole matter, however, that vaguely troubled me. It wasn't a business engagement, of that I was certain, for Dicky is punctilious about keeping them, and as Alfred Durkee was himself an art editor, both he and his mother would have understood and accepted without offense that excuse.

"Well, I must hustle if I catch that mail," he said abruptly, and went upstairs to his room two steps at a time.

He was down again in so short a time that I couldn't understand how he could have dressed for the street and written a note in the interval. With a sudden thought of which I did not stop to be ashamed until afterwards I went directly to his room. His clothing was thrown around by Dicky's usual fashion, but on his desk, to which Katie had not yet given her daily attention there was a coating of dust. And his box of stationery was undisturbed. He had written no note there.

(To be continued.)

CAREFUL MOTHERS INSIST ON FOLEY'S

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has been used in so many homes for so many years that mothers everywhere know that this standard family medicine contains no opiates or other ingredients that are injurious to children or adults. Children like it and it does them good. For coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough. J. C. Perry.

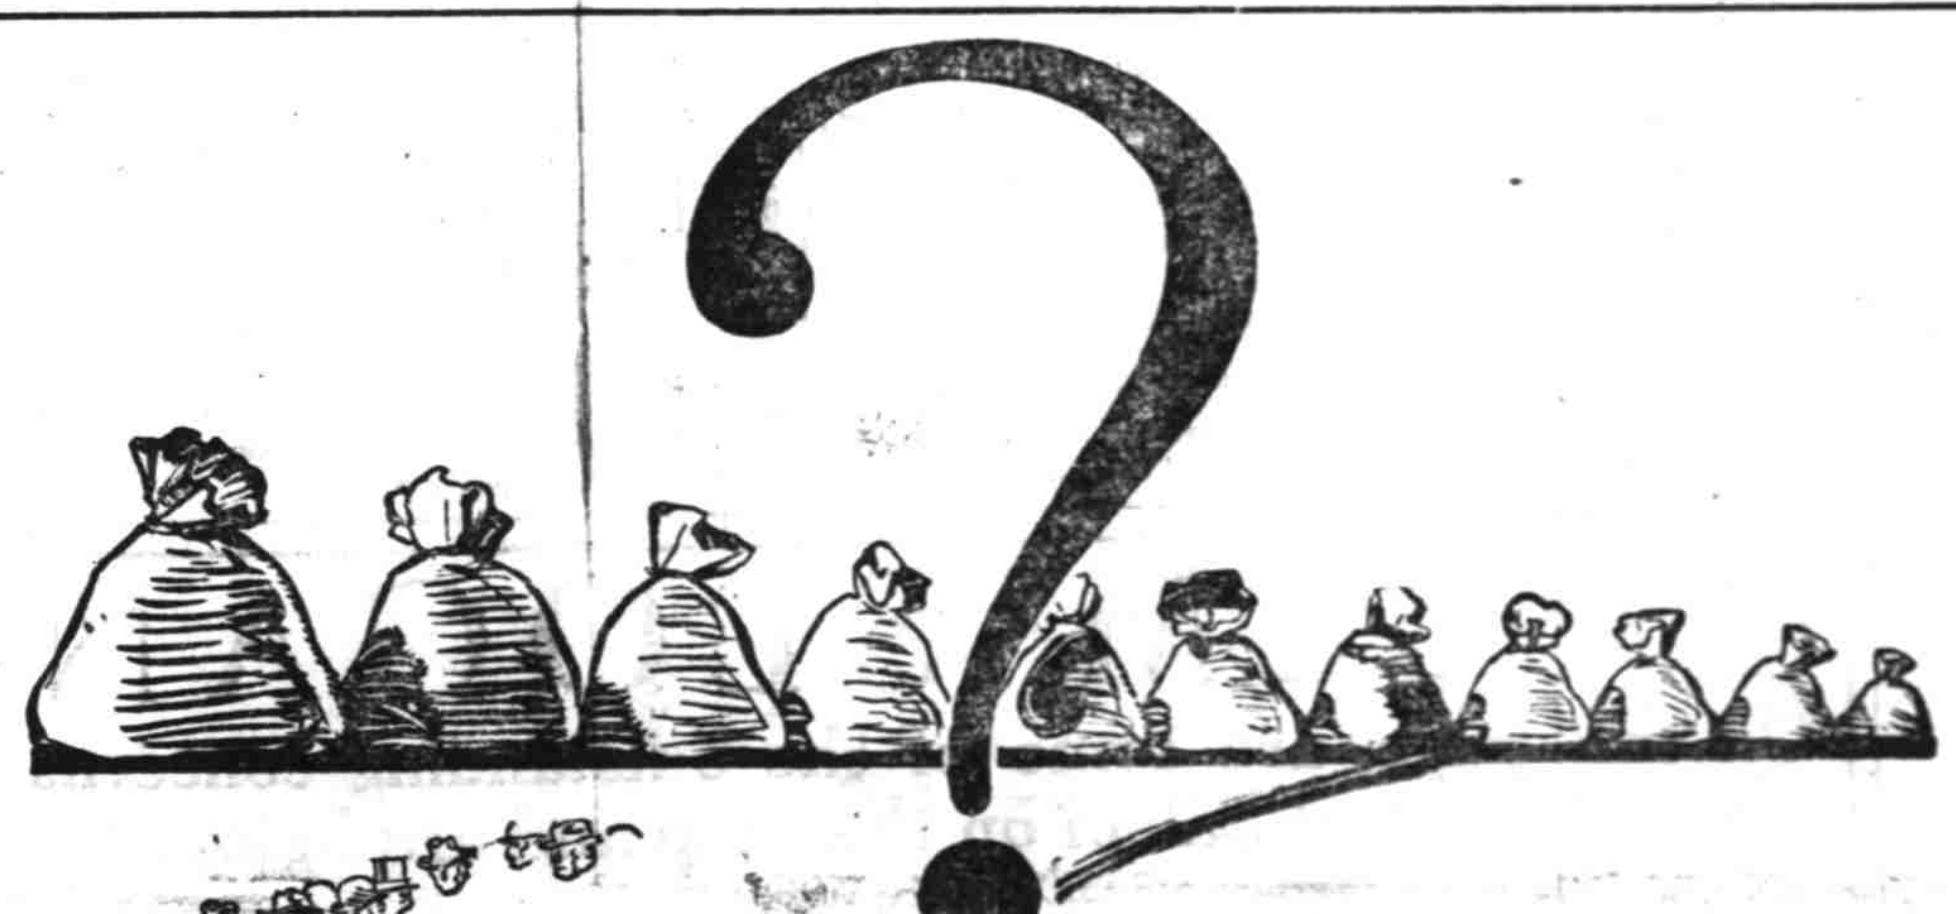

Read the Classified Ads.

OUR BREAD MAN

is one of the most skillful in the business. What he doesn't know about bread making isn't worth knowing. Just to prove to yourself how foolish it is to swelter over a hot oven, try a loaf of our BAKE-RITE bread. Once tried it is always a favorite.

BAKE-RITE BAKERY

457 State St. Phone 248

How much should I give to make this a better world?

A BUSINESS man filled out his income tax report.

It showed an income so large that his tax was 53%. And his total gifts to church and charity for the year were $148.

Think of it—thousands spent for luxuries and pleasure for himself; and $148 to leave the world a little better than he found it!

Most of us do better than that; but not so very much better.

Our average daily gift for all church causes is——less than we spend for daily papers
—less than a local telephone call
—less than a third of the day's car fare
—less than 3 cents a day

No wonder that 80% of the ministers of America are paid less than $20 a week. No wonder that the church hospitals turn away thousands of sick people a year. No wonder that China has only one doctor for every 400,000 people. No wonder that every church board and charity society is forever meeting deficits, forever passing the hat.

It isn't because we are selfish; it isn't because we don't want to help. It's just because no one has ever put up a great big program to us, and asked us to think of the work of the church in a systematic businesslike way.

The Interchurch World Movement represents the united program of thirty great denominations. They have surveyed their whole task; no business could have done it better.

They have budgeted their needs; no business could have a more scientific budget. They have united to prevent the possibility of waste and duplication. At least a million dollars will be saved by the fact that thirty individual campaigns are joined in one united effort.

And they come to the men and women who love America—to you—this week, asking you to use them as the channel through which a certain definite part of your income can be applied to make this a better world.

Only you can determine what part of your income that should be. The chart printed here is intended merely as a suggestion; it represents a scale of giving of 6%—or less.

Six per cent of your earning power; 15/16ths of your life for your own family needs, and 1/16th for your fellow men—is that more than you ought to give?

It's a good time right now to answer that question. We're passing through the world just once; how much better is the world going to be because you passed through?

A CHART FOR GIVERS
Graduated according to amount of income and number in the family. How does your giving check up with the chart?
Number in Family	1.	2.	3.	4.	5.	6.
Income	Weekly Pledge to Your Church
700	.10
800	.20
900	.30	.10
1000	.40	.15
1200	.60	.25	.10
1500	.90	.40	.30	.10
1800	1.15	.65	.50	.30	.10
2100	1.40	.90	.75	.50	.30	.10
2500	1.75	1.25	1.00	.75	.50	.30
3000	2.25	1.60	1.30	1.00	.75	.50
3500	2.75	2.00	1.65	1.25	1.00	.75
4000	3.25	2.40	2.00	1.50	1.25	.90
4500	3.75	2.80	2.35	1.75	1.50	1.10
5000	4.25	3.20	2.70	2.00	1.75	1.30
6000	5.25	4.00	3.40	2.50	2.25	1.60
7000	6.25	4.80	4.10	3.00	2.75	2.00
8000	7.25	5.60	4.80	3.50	3.25	2.40
9000	8.25	6.40	5.50	4.00	3.75	2.80
10000	9.25	7.20	6.20	4.50	4.25	3.20

The INTERCHURCH World Movement of North America

The publication of this advertisement is made possible through the cooperation of thirty denominations.