TO INTRODUCE Mrs. Frank Andra, who, with her husband, has recently come to Salem from London, Eng., Mrs. Walter Spaulding is assembling a large company of friends at her Court street home this afternoon for cards. Mrs. Andra will be remembered to Salem as Miss Georgina Leadbetter of Portland, where she was very prominent socially before her departure for London after her marriage.

Assisting during the afternoon will be Mrs. Roy Mills, Mrs. Ercel Kay, Mrs. Will Mott and Miss Ava Miller. Tomorrow evening Mr. and Mrs. Spaulding will be hosts at a large card party to another group of friends, again honoring Mr. and Mrs. Andra. For both occasions the rooms will be elaborately adorned with Scotch broom and white narcissi.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Meyers will leave this morning for Seattle to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Jordan until Monday when they will return to Portland.

After visiting for a time they will attend the graduation in June of Miss Margaret Rodgers from Vassar college at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. They will later be joined by Miss Helen Jordan, who is attending Miss Ely's school in Connecticut, who will return home with them.

Miss Cornelia Marvin, state librarian, returned last night from Woodburn where she spoke in the afternoon to the Woodburn Woman's club.

Mrs. Frank Andra and her mother, Mrs. Fred Leadbetter of Portland, motored to Corvallis yesterday where they were the guests of the latter's son, Pitcock Leadbetter, who is a

Wheat Whippers Accused of Violating Regulations

Exception is taken to a recent letter from Julius H. Barnes, federal wheat director, to farmers' unions of the northwest relative to exporters shipping wheat without grading, according to state and federal standards, and the exporters, particularly the Pacific Grain company, are excoriated in a letter addressed by Fred A. Williams, of the public service commission to George Livingston, chief of the United States department of agriculture.

The Pacific Grain company, it appears, recently consigned 9000 tons of wheat to a Mediterranean port, ignoring state and federal grades, inasmuch as the farmers are compeled to sell their grain according to the state and federal standards, they assert that if the exporters are allowed to ship according to their own grades the farmers are likely to suffer in the transactions. They protested to Mr. Barnes. His reply, it seems, was vague, and has aroused the ire of the Oregon public service commission.

Gift to France Campaign Without Head in Oregon

Governor Olcott is looking for some individual or organization that is willing to assume the responsibility of raising Oregon's quota of $2000, which is to be part of the $200,000 needed for "America's gift to France." If some organization or individual is willing to undertake the work the governor will inform national headquarters. The proposed gift is a MacMonroe statue to commemorate the battle of the Marne, the statue to be erected at the point where the army of the Germans was turned back when it reached the nearest point it ever attained in its advance toward Paris. The governor was asked to designate a chairman to have charge of the subscription campaign in this state, and efforts were made to interest various organizations and individuals, but these efforts failed. The executive office has a mass of literature and all equipment necessary for the campaign and these will be turned over to whomever will undertake the work.

GRANDMOTHER KNOWS WHAT'S GOOD
Mrs. V. M. Katz 502 Armistead St., N. S., Pittsburg, Pa., writes: "I used Foley's Honey and Tar for my little grandson as he had a bad cold, and it did him lots of good. I used a lot of it when my own children were small." This old reliable medicine helps coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough.—J. C. Perry.
