Saturday was a red-letter day for the solicitors for funds in the Salvation Army campaign.

Vick Brothers donated $50. The same amount was contributed by the local Masonic lodge. Then came T. B. Kay and expressed his appreciation of the good work the Salvation army is doing by also subscribing $50.

The total amount now collected is well up toward $2800. The exact amount could not be learned because

The public is not generally aware of the amount of real good work that is being done in Salem by Ensign Hunter and his corps of helpers.

Always On The Job

These quiet unassuming people are right on the job helping those needing help. Nothing much is said about this. They carry on their daily activities without giving names or being loud about what they do.

"What are some of the helpful acts which you and your people have done recently?" was asked Ensign George Hunter who has full charge of the Salem Salvation army. "Well," he said, "several days ago a woman came to this city to visit her two boys in the state training school. She ran out of cash. We paid her room rent, gave her food and found her a place to work. She is now earning money."

"A few nights ago a stranger, passing through town in his auto, ran out of gasoline. He had no money and no acquaintance. I got him sufficient gasoline to get him home. He has $200 returned the price of the gas to me with thanks."

"Recently we found a family in this city that was ill with the influenza. We got food and clothing for them as they were in desperate need."

"Each Saturday about 50 people visit our rooms to buy shoes and clothing. They are not the poorest people. They cannot afford to buy new clothes. They do not want these second hand garments for nothing, but gladly pay some money for them. We, in turn, use this money again to carry on our work."

"Each Monday the Salem Commercial club calls us up and gives us the surplus food prepared for the noon luncheon. This we place into baskets and distribute among the families in the city that are most in need of food."

"We have calls for help from people to aid in caring for the sick in the poorer homes. Our women volunteer to do this without charge."

"We have many calls for men and women as laborers on the farm, chopping wood and to do housework. We supply these when we can. We could conduct an employment agency in this city that would be a great convenience to the public."

SHE FEELS FINE NOW.

Your kidneys need help if your hands or feet are swollen and there is a puffy look under the eyes. Mrs. L. Gibson, 12th and Edison St., La Junta, Colo., writes: "My kidneys gave a great deal of trouble for some time. I took Foley Kidney Pills and they helped me right away. There is such a change in me I feel fine now.—J. C. Perry."

CARRANZA'S SON-IN-LAW IS EXECUTED

afford refuge to Americans. There are estimated to be 6000 or 7000 in Mexico, some draft dodgers and radicals who fled to escape the law.

The navy department has ordered the superdreadnaught Oklahoma from New York to Key West for possible duty in Mexican waters. She will take a full company of marines before steaming south. Meanwhile the naval transport Henderson will load 1200 marines from the navy yard and proceed to Key West to await developments. American destroyers have arrived at Tampico, joining the gunboat Sacramento and the cruiser Dolphin also has reached that port. Other destroyers have reached Tuxpan and Vera Cruz and three more will go with the Oklahoma.

None of today's fragmentary dispatches made and mention of armed resistance by the Carranza forces, but told an almost uniform story of federal garrisons going over to the rebels without a struggle.

CARRANZA ENVOY CAPTURED

EL PASO, May 10.—Mexico City officially reported to Luis Montes de Oca, "consul" for the revolutionists here, that the entire envoy escorting Carranza from the capital was captured with him near Apizaco.

"Carranza left Mexico City Friday," the bulletin said. "He was accompanied, besides the generals reported killed, by his official family, including Luis Cabrera, Manuel Aguirre Berlanga, Ignacio Bonillas, Luis Manuel Rojas, Governor Ruedo Magre, Manuel Lucio Blanco and others to complete the catastrophe of the Carranza regime, he was captured with all his remaining elements at Apizaco."

"General Alvaro Obregon has ordered Carranza returned to the city of Mexico with all consideration, ordering all commanders not to kill or mistreat any one of his company."

The city of Mexico is quiet.

"General Ramon Turbe from Sinaloa, bottled at Mazatlan, bottled at Mazatlan, has joined the Sonora movement, and likewise, General de Santiago of Nayarit."

CARRANZA TREASURE TAKEN

MEXICO CITY, May 10.—General Jacinto Trevino to whom General Fortunato Zizua surrendered the capital, has been named military commander of the city.

General Obregon told American guests today that he could have taken Mexico City a week earlier but preferred to wait and give President Carranza a chance to resign and avoid all disorder and bloodshed. Through the entire rebel movement he said, there has been virtually no bloodshed and disorder in any part of the country.

The capture of a Carranza military train carrying many millions of pesos is expected to relieve the threatened money shortage in Mexico City. The sudden advance in the price of foodstuffs is the only alarming feature in the situation here.

All reports received here bear out General Obregon's contention that the ideal of the liberal revolution had been to avoid fighting and bring about a peaceful change in government, and later to hold free elections. The most stressed point of the revolutionary leaders was that the revolution was a moral one against imposition by Carranza of a regime under his own presidential candidate.

The revolutionists desired the resignation and not the death of Carranza, leaders declared, so that free elections might be held and that Mexico might change its foreign policy to one of fostering friendly relations between other powers.

CARRANZA REPORTED AT BAY

VERA CRUZ, May 10.—President Carranza, whose train was stopped at Apizaco by revolutionary forces on Saturday, has succeeded in breaking through rebel lines and has come 20 miles nearer this city, according to dispatches. Latest reports here indicate he is standing at bay with 1000 men at San Marcos, a railroad junction point 27 miles northeast of Puebla, rebel troops commanded by General's Hill and Trevino are closing in on him there.

tion and organization of the masses. The intellectual and spiritual domination of the privileged classes has been so strong that they have persuaded their credulous fellow citizens that they, the despots of America, are the only true Americans.

ROSE FESTIVAL LEADERS HERE ON BOOST TRIP

Hauser, Wells and Others Tell Plans at Commercial Club Luncheon

SALEM AFTER PRIZES

Trip Is Made by Members of Gorgeous Bulb Gardens of Franklin & Dibble

Eric V. Hauser, president of the Portland Rose Festival association, and other representatives of the association and of the Shriners were guests of the Salem Commercial club at the Monday noon luncheon. Mr. Hauser declared that Salem's plans for participation in the festival this year have caused a number of other outside cities to contribute their support and expressed appreciation of the interest shown here.

Harvey Wells, vice president and publicity manager, spoke from the point of view of co-operation with the Shriners and told of plans for parades, particularly the two electrical parades, urging Salem to participate. He informed the club that Salem is on the program which the Shriners are arranging for the dedication of the new Lulu rose, named for Lulu temple of Philadelphia, home of the imperial potentate.

Other Portland men speaking were Winthrop Hammond, chairman of the floral parade committee, W. V. Conklin, chairman of the committee on outside participation, and C. P. Keyser, who has charge of arrangements for the festival center.

Mr. Hammond declared the rose festival would not be complete without participation by the Salem Cheriarians. He declared the floral parade will be the most important that ever has been put on at the rose festival and that moving pictures to be taken of the parade will afford nationwide advertising. He announced as two of the prizes that the Salem participants will have an opportunity to capture—$500 for the best showing by an organization outside of Portland and $500 for the best individually owned display.

Mr. Conklin declared the festival is no longer merely a Portland show or an Oregon show, but an advertising scheme for the benefit of the entire Pacific coast.

Manager McCroskey of the Commercial club urged the members to participate in the excursion tomorrow to Eugene and made a plea for more workers for the Salvation Army campaign.

About 30 Salem people accompanied members of the Commercial club, following the luncheon, to the farm of Franklin & Dibble, in Polk county, to view the gorgeous display of flowers in their bulb gardens.

This firm is specializing in growing such flowering bulbs as were formerly shipped from Holland. So successful have they been in this enterprise that a tract of five acres is now given to this floral garden project. Tulips from their gardens decorated the Commercial club dining tables.

es, but this interest is not limited to them alone.

WOMAN BATTALION.

WARSAW, May 6.—A volunteer battalion of women is to be formed by the Polish army for duty in Warsaw and vicinity.
