ORGANIZATION yesterday of the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs in this city brought out a large number of prominent women of the county. At the meeting yesterday morning in the Salem Women's club rooms in the Commercial club the organization was perfected and in the afternoon meeting Miss Cornelia Marvin, state librarian spoke on the advantages of a county library. Mrs. F. H. Buchanan, of McMinnville, president of the Yamhill County Woman's federation, spoke on county federations. Mrs. Zadoc Riggs, president of the Salem Woman's club, gave the address of welcome and Mrs. H. Overton of Severtown gave the response.

Officers were elected and it was decided that the federation should meet semi-annually. A feature of the day was the beautifully appointed luncheon at the Hotel Marion which the Salem Woman's club gave to the visiting delegates. Plates were laid for 40.

Many box and line parties are being planned by the society folk for the Drama League players of the Little theater of Portland who are to present three one-act plays tomorrow evening at the Grand theater. Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Andrae are entertaining with a box party and others are being arranged. Mr. and Mrs. George Gerlinger, Jr. are to be the house guests of Mrs. W. P. Lord and Miss Elizabeth Lord during their stay in Salem. Mr. and Mrs. Dent Mowrey are to be the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Burghardt, Jr., and Miss Marion Voorhies will be entertained by Mrs. Grank G. Andrae.

These three short plays "The Stronger," by August Strindberg; "The Riders to the Sea," by J. N. Sunge, and "The Maker of Dreams," by Oliphant Down, which are to be presented at this time are among the dramas which have been studied by the drama class of the Salem Woman's club during the eight years of its organization.

During the evening the election returns will be given to the audience.

Mrs. Roy Shields entertained the members of the West Central circle of the First Methodist church yesterday afternoon at her home on North Fifth street for a very pleasant afternoon. After the study hour the hostess served a light lunch.

When Work Is "Real Fun"

The woman who feels "fit" and full of energy through a long, busy day is the woman whose dress expresses not only style and smartness but real comfort as well. You'll find that comfort in

Mina Taylor Dresses
For Discriminating Women

For Mina Taylor dresses are made as carefully as if in your own sewing room. Materials are chosen by experts who are as particular as you yourself about fast colors and sturdy fabrics.

Buttonholes are worked with a "lock stitch" that cannot run, insuring a wear-proof, non-ravel buttonhole. Just a small detail but it's typical of Mina Taylor workmanship.

Fine, even stitching makes all seams secure. There is plenty of room across the hips and shoulders and through the bust, so there is no binding to annoy you.

The master patterns are fitted to living models, so that you can buy and wear your proper size with comfort. And allowance is made for shrinkage after laundering, so that your Mina Taylor is just as comfortable after washing as before.

Are you looking for comfort in your work? Then a Mina Taylor is just the thing for you. And you'll find here a variety of the prettiest styles to choose from that you ever saw.

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

The Story of a Honeymoon

A Wonderful Romance of Married Life Wonderfully Told by ADELE GARRISON

CHAPTER 598

WHAT MADGE THOUGHT WHEN LILLIAN SAID HARRY UNDERWOOD'S "LIKING FOR LILLIAN WASN'T PASSING FANCY."

I don't think I have ever faced anything more unpleasant in my life than the vista of disagreeable possibilities which Lillian Underwood's words opened up to me. The subtle suggestion that came from her lips was so bizarre, so incongruous with the temperament of my friend that I'm afraid I stared at her open-mouthed when her meaning flashed upon me.

Harry Underwood! I caught my breath at the very thought of the man whom I had met first as the handsome, brilliant, indolent husband of the woman facing me across her library table. Each water had run under the memorable bridge since that night at the theater when Harry Underwood lounged in his wife's wake down to our seats and I first met his bold black eyes looking at me with an admiration which repelled me.

At that time I had disliked and had dreaded Lillian far more than her husband. But time had proved to me the sterling worth of the wife, as it had clearly demonstrated the caddish villainy of the husband. Harry Underwood had put the final touch of callous cruelty upon his treatment of his wife when he had deserted her because she wished to have her little daughter, Marion Morton, with her, and had linked his life with Grace Draper's.

But could it be really true that Harry Underwood and Grace Draper
