

BABY'S CORNER

(By Mrs. Elvira Hyatt)

It pays to have high ideals for our children, and to respect their individuality. Much can be accomplished by expecting children to be good, and by showing that we trust them.

We should never call a child "bad" never wound his self-respect. This does not mean that his naughty actions should be "glossed over," but as one wise educator has expressed it, we should realize that every fault is simply the absence of some virtue and we should try to build up that quality in which the child is deficient rather than condemn him for that which is not.

Build up the virtues, and the faults will disappear. If a child is selfish, we should dwell on unselfishness; if the child is untidy, on neatness; if slow on quickness; and we should always remember to praise even the slightest sign of the virtue we are working to cultivate. A child will try to live up to the thing for which he is praised. "How quiet and helpful my little Peggy is today," will do more than a dozen scoldings about noise and mischief.

Stories can be told to arouse and stimulate high ideals. Stories have a wonderful educational value and almost any lesson can be taught in story form. Tell stories about birds, trees, flowers, animals, great and good men, simple stories of home and family life, stories from history and from the Bible. The eager little minds are ready for anything you wish to give them, and if you are a natural storyteller great indeed is your opportunity. Ideals of right conduct, love of family and sympathy with every living thing can be given through the right use of stories.

Much has been said and written about pre-natal influence, but volumes more are needed on post-natal influences. One of the first things a baby learns is to "smile back" at his mother, and in all his earliest years the child reflects the attitude of those around him. He imitates the things which he sees and hears in order to understand them, and "As a twig is bent, the tree's inclined." A true mother leads a consecrated life. She will always be absolutely truthful and will keep every promise made to her child. She will recognize the good in all things and will never speak ill of anyone in her child's presence. She will keep away all thoughts of fear, and will awaken a spirit of loving service toward others and a growing belief in the Power which is within himself, until at last he grows into a recognition of the universal love and goodness which underlie the whole life.

CARRANZA BETRAYED BY OWN MEN

cowardly assassinated at the cry of "viva Obregon," by Colonel Rodolfo Herrero and his men, violating the hospitality that had been offered to him by Herrero, according to a message from his chief followers to General Pablo Gonzales, quoted in his message to revolutionary agents here. Obregon answered his message in scathing terms. He declared that if the Carranza followers, numbering more than 30 men and including Juan Barragan, chief of staff; Ignacio Bonillas, former ambassador to the United States, whose candidacy for the presidency had brought on the latest revolution, and other prominent leaders had "died defending your chief * * * you would be at rest with your consciences and escape the shame of your cowardice." Obregon told the Carranzaists they were sufficient in numbers to have done their duty, "to have saved Mr. Carranza's life, if as you state, he was assassinated." "On repeated occasions," said

Mlle. Farman, Youngest Airplane Pilot in the World, Ready For Flight

Mlle. Andree Farman

Mlle. Andree Farman, daughter of the airplane inventor, is the youngest pilot in the world. She has made many flights with her father and on several occasions has handled a plane unaided from "hop off" to landing. Her chief ambition is to gain a pilot's license. Little Mlle. Farman is well versed in the construction of plane and motor and is adept at making repairs. She is shown here in the cockpit of a plane ready for flight.

Obregon, "President Carranza was notified of the guaranty which would be given him if he would be willing to leave the danger zone, but he refused to accept this offer because he considered it an undignified act of a man of honor to save himself, leaving his companions in danger. This act of Carranza revealed the dignity and good fellowship you failed to appreciate."

First report of the assassination of Carranza was filed by Obregon Friday night. The message did not reach here until today. This message said:

"Have just received the following message from Huauachinango, state of Puebla, signed by Colonel L. Hernandez:

"General Mariel advises me from Villa Juarez that the troops of the ex-federal officer, Rodolfo Herrero, killed President Carranza at 1 a. m. at a place called Tlaxcaltenango. There were found six or seven more bodies of the men in Carranza's party. It is not stated who these men might be. I will wire details later. Rodolfo Herrero surrendered last March to General Mariel and had been an officer under General Palaez."

Revolutionists today were eager in their attempts to show Carranza was not killed by revolutionists but "by his own men." The department of propaganda and information at Nogales sent a message to the commercial agent of the de facto government here urging that the news be given to the press with particular stress on "the fact that the happening occurred far away from the field of operation of our forces."

From the wording of the Obregon telegram, skepticism was expressed here by many persons in close touch with the revolution concerning the affiliations of Herrero. The anxiety of the Mexicans on the point was laid to the concern over what the attitude of the United States might be if the reported assassination was laid to the revolutionists.

This Medicine Recommended by a Doctor

When a doctor uses a medicine himself besides prescribing it to his patients, he must know that it has merit.

This is what Dr. J. H. Wagner, a prominent physician of Skate, Kentucky, has to say about Dr. Hartman's well-known remedy, PE-RU-NA: "I have used PE-RU-NA myself for catarrh and have given it to others for catarrh, bloating after eating and other ailments. It has proved a success in all cases with old and young men and women. All speak well of PE-RU-NA. It is the best of all tonics."

Dr. Wagner, out of the fullness of his own personal experience, for the good of all sick and suffering, recommends a medicine which he knows to be good. You may be sure a doctor would not endanger his professional reputation by endorsing PE-RU-NA unless satisfied beyond a doubt of its value.

Whether your trouble be a cough or a cold, or a more subtle catarrhal affection of the stomach, bowels or other organs, give PE-RU-NA a trial. The immediate improvement which you will see will satisfy beyond a doubt that PE-RU-NA is what you need.

PE-RU-NA may be purchased anywhere in tablet or liquid form,
