By Ruth Lenore Fisher

THE social events of the week have mostly centered around the visitors in the city, the Apollo club concerts Wednesday and Thursday evenings and with a score of dinners and luncheons to keep folks busy. Ex-president William Howard Taft has been a guest of Salem since yesterday morning and, of course, all interest has centered around him. He was honor guest at a luncheon at the Hotel Marion which was attended by many state officials and prominent men of the city. His lecture at the armory last night on the "League of Nations Up to Date" called out a large number of folk.

The last concert of the third season for the Apollo club with Madame Winifred Fahey, as soloist, were a tremendous success. The club was in perfect harmony and its songs were most admirably chosen. They were varied and were very artistic in their rendition.

Madame Fahey was even more charming than when here before. Her sweet manner combined with her beautiful voice were a delight. As she says, she loves to sing, and she surely makes one love to hear her sing. Her rich clear voice is at ease with the delicate soprano notes as the dramatic and heavier songs. She was most generous with her encores. The setting for the concert was beautiful in the artistry.

Three huge baskets of long-stemmed Scotch broom made a graceful background, and a large bowl of pink and yellow snapdragons adorned the piano. Low palms and Scotch broom were banded along the front of the stage.

Miss Dorothy Pearce accompanied the club and her graceful and capable playing added much to the numbers. The club in two numbers was accompanied by Miss Mary Talmadge and C. J. Kurth at the violins, W. H. Mills with the viola and cello. Professor John R. Sites with the violin cello, Prof. T. S. Roberts at the organ and Miller Bevier with the flute added to the effect. Madame Fahey was accompanied by Mrs. A. J. Gibson.

A number of box parties were formed for the concert. Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Lee Steiner and Captain and Mrs. Earle Coulson Flegel occupied a box and Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Meyers and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dineen were noticed in a box.

The members of the club are: Officers: Hon. George H. Burnett, honorary president; William McGilchrist, Jr., first vice president; Ralph R. Jones, second vice president; Albert H. Gilie, secretary; treasurer, Dan Langenberg, librarian.

Board of directors: William McGilchrist, Jr., Ralph R. Jones, Albert H. Gilie, Walter T. Jenks, Frank G. Deckerbach.

JUDGE and Mrs. George H. Burnett were hosts at a reception Thursday evening to Madame Winifred Fahey and the members of the Apollo club of which Judge Burnett is president. The reception was informal and the club and Madame Fahey sang several of their songs. The madame joined with the club in singing.

The Burnett home on North High street was lavishly adorned with lupin Scotch broom and roses which were combined in a handsome manner. A bowl of beautiful roses graced the table at which Mrs. Edward Doas and Mrs. John Sites presided over the punch bowls. Refreshments were served to the 60 guests who were bidden.

ONE of the most beautiful luncheons given for some time was the one over which Mrs. B. L. Steeves presided for 1 o'clock Thursday at her home on North High street for the women of the faculty of Willamette university. Pansies in their multi-rich shades were used upstairs and in all the rooms downstairs flowers from the delicate pink to the crimson of the peonie were combined into French baskets and bouquets. Columbine, sweet peas and peonies were used in profusion. Arranging about the rooms were Mrs. M. C. Findley, Mrs. Henry J. Talbott, Mrs. F. A. Legge and Mrs. I. M. Little.

Small tables for four guests each were centered with sweet peas and columbines in small French baskets. Place cards were in pink sweet peas. Miss Fay Peringer, Miss Bruce Putnam and Miss Muriel Steeves served the four course luncheon.

The guests who circled about the 10 small tables were Mesdames Carl Gregg Doney, W. E. Kirk, R. L. Matthews, Gustav Ebsen, Edward Sherwood, F. Von Eschen, George H. Alden, E. C. Richards, John R. Sites, M. C. Findley, J. B. Little, F. E. Gilbert, E. A. Hammond, J. O. Goltz, Henry J. Talbott, W. C. Young, F. A. Legge, M. B. Paroungian, Allice H. Dodd, E. D. Putnam, B. E. Carrier, A. A. Underhill, E. E. Fisher, Charles Bowen, J. T. Hunt, C. C. Clark, Charles Sherman, Charles Lisle, James T. Morton, Frank Bagley, Morton E. Peck, Della Crowder Miller, J. L. Renfro, I. Hewitt, Misses Frances M. Richards, Lydia Fake, M. Putnam and Edith Benedict.

M R. AND MRS. William H. Burghardt, Jr., entertained a company of their friends on Wednesday evening for dinner. Those who were seated at the table were Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Thielson, Mrs. Clifford Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. Burghardt, Jr. Later Mrs. Burghardt assembled her guests at the Apollo club concert.

The Piety Hill club was entertained Thursday afternoon by Mrs. E. T. Barnes at her home for the regular meeting of the club members. Yellow California poppies and blue lupin fashioned in many baskets and tall vases were gracefully placed about the rooms, and gave a striking note to the party.

Miss Mildred Strevey gave two violin solos and Miss Joanna James sang two pleasing songs. She was accompanied by Guy Prather. Little Misses Mary and Lydia Haffin of Pittsburgh, house guests of Mrs. Barnes, and Miss Florence Powers, her niece, delighted the guests with several solo dances.

Miss Irene Curtis, prominent member of the younger set who graduates from O. A. C. next month.

Assisted by Misses Joanna James, Mary Haffin, Lydia Haffin, Florence Powers and Ruth Barnes, the hostesses served a lunch at the invited Mrs. Alice H. Dodd, Mrs. Frank Haffin, Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Larson of Portland.

Governor and Mrs. Ben W. Olcott have as their guest for a few days Mrs. Oswald West and small daughter Jean, of Portland.

Mrs. James Withycombe and Miss Mabel Withycombe have returned from a visit during the week with friends in Portland.

To honor Mrs. George E. Peringer and her daughter, Mrs. Jack Dolph of Pendleton, Mrs. E. Hofer and her daughter, Mrs. Allyn Byron, entertained with an informal luncheon Friday noon at the Hofer home on South Commercial street. Corn flowers and dainty flowering flax formed an attractive centerpiece for the table. Plates were set for Mrs. Peringer, Mrs. Dolph, Mrs. W. H. Lytle, Miss Catherine Carson and the hostesses.

Mrs. W. M. Plimpton entertained the members of the Bridge club at her home Tuesday for a happy afternoon at cards. Peonies, marigold and a riot of summer blooms were used about the rooms. After the cards the hostess served an informal lunch. Guests besides the club members were Mrs. Dan Fry, Jr., Mrs. O. C. Locke, Mrs. W. H. Lytle and Mrs. W. Connel Dyer.

Mrs. James Nicholson was a charming hostess Thursday for one of the smart luncheons of the week, entertaining a company of eight friends at her home. Adding their charm to the pretty appointments were beautiful pink rosebuds held in small bud vases. Pink shaded candles reflected a dainty glow on the table and rosebud placecards were at each plate.

H. Hartman and his daughter, Miss Gertrude Hartman, arrived home yesterday morning from San Francisco after several months' absence from the city. Mr. Hartman passed the winter months in Los Angeles and San Francisco and was met there by Miss Hartman, who for the past eight months has been traveling in the east. Miss Hartman was the guest of her brother in Cincinnati, Ohio. She also visited friends in Toledo, in St. Louis, Mo., Salt Lake City, Washington, D. C., Modesto, Cal., and in Los Angeles and San Francisco where she was extensively entertained by her friends.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Livesley, Mrs. J. MacDonald, Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Smith Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John J. Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Plimpton composed a party that motored to Nimrod, on the McKenzie, to pass the week-end.

A delightful evening of music was given by a group of violin and piano pupils of Miss Joy Turner at the Woodburn high school auditorium last Friday night.

Assisting on the program were Mrs. Blanch Liston Niemeyer, Myrtle Shipp, Salem's favorite dancer. They were both enthusiastically received by the large audience and were called back repeatedly. Miss Joy Turner has been teaching violin and piano in the Woodburn high school for the past year. This recital was the closing one for this school year. The following Salem pupils went down to assist the Woodburn students: Vera Carlson, Robert Ramsden, Maude Engstrom, Ross Harris, Helen Ramsden, George Stoner, Harold Rupert, Frances McKinney, Gordon Bennett, Carl Soos, Kenneth Moores, Charles Hagerman, Madeline Giesse, Gertrude Riess, Beck, Edmund Hisekorn, Grace Stevens, Little George Stoner scored a decided hit and Ross Harris an unusually talented little musician, was a marvel to the Woodburn audience covered with red tulie and they formed the centerpiece for the table around which the guests were seated for a dainty luncheon. In serving the hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. E. Lindsay, and Miss Isabelle George.

The wedding of Miss George and Ralph Lindsay will take place in the early summer. Both are popular young folk and will be the motive for a number of pre-nuptial affairs. Both are graduates of Salem high school and have made their homes in this city for some years. Miss George is at present employed at the Salem Bank of Commerce. Mr. Lindsay is an overseas man, spending over a year in France.

About 20 friends of the bride-elect and the hostess were present.

The Order of Eastern Star gave the fortnightly social afternoon this week. As usual the afternoon was very pleasantly passed with social chat and sewing. An interesting diversion was a guessing game of cut-out advertisements, in which Mrs. E. Turner won the prize for naming the most advertisements.

The rooms of the temple were attractively adorned with Scotch broom and a variety of woods flowers. Tea and light refreshments were served by the hostesses for the afternoon who were Mrs. Paul Ranser, Mrs. John W. Todd, Mrs. S. M. Reeves, and Mrs. B. J. Miles.

The Nancy Hank's Lincoln club of the Lincoln school met Thursday afternoon in the auditorium of the school for the final meeting of the year. C. A. Davidson, director of music in the public schools, presented the children of the school in their work for the year in music. The program was varied and well given.

Election of officers for the next year was held with each of the present officers being re-elected. Mrs. A. P. Marcus is president; Mrs. W. H. Thielson, vice-president and Mrs. S. E. Edwards, secretary-treasurer. After the business meeting tea was served.

The T. A. club, a group of the sub-debs, was host to friends Wednesday evening for the annual picnic and weiner roast which comes each spring to mark the close of school. The gay party motored to Spang's landing and after building a huge bonfire feasted on the many "goodies" which are the making of picnics. Miss Beryl Holt, faculty advisor for the club, and Miss Jennie Huggins accompanied the club members and their friends. Guests of the club were Messrs E. Powers of Woodburn, William Ashby, Breyman Boise Elvan Lantis, Gene Gill, Amory Gill, Kenneth Wilson, Archie Holt, Willard Marshall, Frank Chapman, Vernon Closter, Wolcott Buren, Earl Shafer, Ralph Wilson, Phillip Ringo, Johnny Griffith, Ted Purvis, Rowland Rinehart, Orley Leffingwell, Milton Steiner and Leslie Springer.

A jolly party of the younger men and matrons motored out to the home of Dr. and Mrs. Grover C. Bellinger

Friday evening for a basket dinner, the occasion being a surprise to Roy H. Mills, and to help him celebrate the anniversary of his birthday. In the party were Dr. and Mrs. Charles Bates, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Darby, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Darby, Mr. and Mrs. Paul V. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. Mills and Dr. and Mrs. Grover Bellinger.

Mrs. Frank Snedecor, who has been in Florida and in Birmingham, Ala., for the winter writes Salem relatives that she will join the George P. Rogers and the Henry W. Meyers in Washington, D. C., to be the guests of Senator Charles L. McNary. In Birmingham she was the guest of Mrs. J. W. J. Montgomery.

The Monday Night Dancing club was sponsor to a dancing party at the armory Tuesday night which netted a neat sum for the new Salem hospital. About 90 couples attended and passed the evening in dancing. The Revelation orchestra furnished the music.

Dr. and Mrs. R. D. Byrd have been entertaining as their house guest, Miss Oro Woolfer of Minneapolis who was on her way to her home after spending the winter in California. They are now entertaining Miss Eva Oliver who arrived Friday from Sacramento on her way to her home at Bellingham, Wash.
