A WOMAN'S REASON FOR BEING A REPUBLICAN

"I am a Republican because it was the Republican party which gave me the right to be anything—the party which was the first to recognize me as an elector, a citizen, a human being."

The above are the words of Mrs. W. G. Waitt, chairman of the Republican committee for Cuyahoga county, Ohio.

Mrs. Waitt goes on to say:

"The Republican party has answered, affirmatively, with loud and unanimous acclaim, the old mooted question: 'Are women people?'"

"Let us forget let me note that it was a Republican Congress which passed the suffrage amendment, and that 28 of the 35 states that have ratified are Republican."

"Another statistical item that should be of paramount concern to women is the fact that there are fifty times as many children employed in the most driving, growth-stunting industries in Democratic states as there are in Republican states. This alone would be argument enough to make me a Republican, for it has always been the aim of the women who have fought the fight and had the vision to throw their forces with the cohorts battling for economic, social and racial betterment."

"The past history of the 'Grand Old Party' gives us sublime faith in the future. It has always been the party of growth, of progress, of prosperity. To my mind it holds more strictly to the tenets I have enumerated and gives more promise of their fulfillment, than any other political organization."

The country is again witnessing the spectacle of Negro delegates helping to nominate a candidate for President with little or no chance of having any voice in electing that candidate—the Negro delegates from the South. It is an anomalous situation, to say the least. And the venal character of a considerable proportion of such delegates does not tend to add to the pride of members of the Republican party. But there is another anomalous situation, in which members of Congress from the South are apportioned in number according to the census—though in many districts in that section a great majority of the people of voting age are not allowed to vote. So, after all, there is no warrant for the pot calling the kettle black; and anomalous situations will persist in this field—must persist, the mere statement of the fact that every tenth man in the United States has African blood in his veins being sufficient warrant to forecast this persistency.

If the stream of money going from this section into Canadian bonds were diverted for a few months into the purchase of preferred stock of the Salem paper mill, all of it yet unsold would be taken. And it will pay a higher rate than the Canadian bonds; and it will help to build up this city and section, instead of Canada; and it is as safe an investment. There is nothing safer than either, unless it be United States government bonds, yielding a smaller return.

Be it known that there is enough distillate on hand and available to plow and cultivate all the farms and gardens in the Willamette valley, with tractors. Moreover, no one else can buy distillate, as long as there is a farmer with an idle tractor needing it. This is wise. The first thing needful is to get the largest possible production from the land.

There is bound to be a great increase in the irrigation of garden crops in the Willamette valley this year, and all the years of the future. It will be ideal when every acre liable to need irrigation has water available. "More acres and more to the acre" is a slogan that will mean a great deal more attention to both irrigation and drainage than has heretofore been given by our farmers.

THE SALEM CHAUTAUQU.

The first announcement of the 1920 Salem Chautauqua program indicates that the attractions to be presented are of the same high standard which has characterized Ellison-White programs in the past. Music, lecture and entertainment lovers apparently have much in store for them during the week of July 13-24, the Chautauqua dates for Salem.

Lecturers of prominence are Judge George D. Alden of Massachusetts; Judge Fred G. Bale of Ohio; Carlton Chamberlayne, prominent editor of New York; Julius Caesar Nayphe, a brilliant young Athenian with a spectacular costumed lecture on the Orient; G. Whitfield Ray, F. R. G. S., for fourteen years on exploration work in South America, and E. B. Fish, the famed foe of agitators in the Northwest.

A feature attraction which varies from the regular line of Chautauqua events is the production of the big New York Dramatic success, "Kindling," by the Maurice Browne Players on the fifth night. After several years of band concerts this will undoubtedly be a welcome change to most Chautauqua "fans."

The music gives promise of an interesting week. Mary Adel Hays, the New York soprano whom Ellison-White brought to the South and West in 1919, is to return again. This year she comes as soloist with Raul Pereira, the Portuguese violinist and his string quartet. An outstanding musical event rests in the announcement of the Royal Welsh Lady Singers of Wales, Great Britain. This company has toured the world and is a sterling singing organization.

On the second day a native Alaskan girl who has set the musical world talking is presented in the person of Lona Laska, a member of the Alaskan Duo. The Parnells is another musical company coming with fine recommendations from the East.

The closing attraction of the week is a double program known as "An Evening in the South Seas," featuring a group of native Maori Singers, the only organization of its kind in America, with a lecture on New Zealand by Lelia Blomfield, writer and lecturer of that country, illustrated with official government views.

ning greater things for their Salem plant, ought to have every help that Salem and the surrounding country can give them.

It cost Mr. Halvorson only 50 cents to shoulder the mayor of Salem. And he will be no four-bit mayor, either. He will use his office for the highest good of this city in every respect.

We need not despair yet concerning the usual June rains. But the past two dry seasons have probably been blessings in disguise, to teach our farmers that they need irrigation, especially for their gardens. Most vegetables are mostly water. They need lots of water. There are few farmers in this section who cannot provide some irrigation for their gardens. There are many systems; springing systems and others. There is more irrigation being used by our farmers this year than ever before—and it should be all but universal here; yes, even here, in what was once known as the Webfoot state.

What Causes Wrinkles? What's The Remedy?

Stop to consider what produces wrinkles and sagging of skin. Premature aging, mal-nutrition, etc., cause the flesh to shrink, lose its youthful plumpness and firmness. The skin then is too large for the flesh underneath; doesn't fit tightly and snugly as it used to—it wrinkles or sags.

It must be plain that to tighten the skin, make it fit the face perfectly in every place, will effectually remove the hateful wrinkles and bagginess. This is easily and harmlessly accomplished by dissolving an ounce of pure powdered saxonite in a half pint of witch hazel and using the solution as a face wash. The ingredients you can get at any drug store, of course. The results are surprising. The skin immediately tightens up, becoming firm and fresh as in youth. Every wrinkle and sag are affected at once.

Pooler Wants Handwriting Experts Called in Case

Jeff Pooler, defendant in the case of Mounce vs. Pooler, filed a motion in circuit court yesterday, wherein the defendant asks the court to issue an order requiring the plaintiff to submit a certain letter to handwriting experts. In his complaint J. P. Mounce alleged that Pooler had alienated the affections of Mrs. Minnie Bell Mounce and asked the court to give him judgment in the sum of $10,000. The attorneys for Mr. Pooler claim that the complaint is based on a letter to Mrs. Mounce, which Mounce alleges was written by Pooler. In the motion filed yesterday Mr. Pooler denies that he has written such a letter and asks the court to allow the handwriting experts to examine the letter in order to allow him to establish a proper defense.
