

OGLE CONFESSES HE FIRED SHOTS AT ROAD HOUSE

Convict Removes From Smith Blame for Slaying of Burgess and Peringer

WITNESS IS DUBIOUS

Member of Party at Claremont Tavern on Fatal Night Decries Confession

James Ogle, who with Walter Banaster and David Smith is serving a life sentence in the state penitentiary for the murder of J. N. Burgess and George E. Peringer in Claremont tavern, Portland, last November, today confessed that he fired the shots which killed the two men. Blame for the shooting had been placed on Smith by witnesses and Ogle who also accused Smith. Apparently it was the pangs of conscience that caused Ogle to confess today.

"He simply had the thing on his mind for a long time," said Warden L. H. Compton, "and voluntarily came through with the truth."

Marshall Discredits Confession

J. N. Burgess, one of the victims of Ogle's gun, was a prominent sheep raiser and member of the state highway commission. Mr. Peringer was a wealthy Pendleton farmer. Both were in Portland attending the International Livestock exposition, and were with friends at Claremont tavern when the place was held up by the three masked robbers.

From Pendleton comes a report that E. P. Marshall, who was a member of the Burgess-Peringer party, places no credence in the confession of Ogle and insists that Smith did the shooting. Portland officers are said to be of the same opinion.

Wants to "Come Clean"

Several days ago David Smith, who had been blamed for the shooting, went to Warden Compton and said that Ogle wanted to "come clean." Compton does not believe that Ogle, but credits the convict with a voluntary decision to confess, though doubtless after the three men had talked over their crime many times. All have been well-behaved prisoners since they were received at the prison November 28 last. Ogle and Banaster are both employed in the flax plant and Smith in other work about the prison. Ogle plays on the penitentiary baseball team.

Witnesses Hear Confession

The confession of Ogle and a statement by Banaster were made in the presence of Warden Compton, James Lewis, deputy warden, Eugene Halley, chief keeper, and the convict, Smith.

Ogle is confused as to which of the men was Burgess and which was Peringer since he speaks of shooting Peringer several times. Burgess was shot several times and Peringer only once.

Fears Another Trial

"I want to make a statement to straighten out this shooting proposition," Ogle said to Warden Compton.

"Suppose you tell the story in your own words. You will understand that anything you say is said without any promise of leniency," replied Compton.

"They can't try me for this again, can they?"

"No, they can't try you again for the same crime," answered the warden.

"Well, after we had entered the house," said Ogle, "Smith was to look after the dance hall, and Dutchy and I proceeded to round them up. I makes this room where they were. I opened the door and said 'Put 'em up' and they showed the chairs back of the table and Peringer shut the door. They would have got me but I put my foot against the door and shoved it back. I fired one shot in the ceiling. I said 'you had better put them up' and Peringer started to grab me. Then was when I shot him. I shot him two or three times. The other fellow, Burgess, grabbed a water bottle and dropped it and made a break for his pocket, so when he made that shift I threw it into him and then I took the rest of the bunch out and took them into the dance hall."

"Where was Smithy at that time?" asked Warden Compton.

"I do not know. He was supposed to be in the dance hall also. Banaster was down in the basement. It seems that there was a woman who identified the pin that Smithy had as being worn by the man who did the shooting. The stick pin I had was a little different color from the one he had. She might have identified the first stick pin she seen. They showed me the stick pin worn by Smithy but I had thrown mine away."

Banaster Corroborates Statement

Banaster's statement follows:

"I could only say what Ogle has said. When I came up from the basement Ogle was coming in from the place where he shot the men. Naturally he had some women and a few men with him and they were rather excited, so I told them not to be so excited. They entered into the hall and Smithy was in the hall at that time, and there were words exchanged between the policeman and Smithy about army work. I did not know what he said at the time, but he told me afterward. He asked him where he belonged, what regiment, etc. Smithy wore button shoes. He had a peculiar pin that caused him to be identified by some people as being the man in the dance hall."

Try This If You Have Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

More Applicants Wanted for Military Academy

The selection of enlisted men from the national guard for appointment to the United States military academy at West Point in 1921 will be apportioned among the enlisted strength, and, in the case of candidates from the states and the territories, will be selected by the governors from successful competitors in a preliminary examination similar to the regular examination for entrance to the academy. The examinations are held between December 1 and 15 each year.

This information comes to Governor Olesott in a letter from P. C. Harris, adjutant general of the army at Washington.

Information as to vacancies will not be available before next month. The letter points to the unusual opportunity that is offered enlisted men of the national guard. To be eligible for appointment from the national guard an applicant must be an enlisted man of a recognized unit. Previous service in the guard, either as a recognized unit or not, is taken into consideration. The date of admission is July 1, 1921.
