

EXTRA INNINGS, GAME SCORELESS

State House Stars and Valley Motorists Battle Extra Innings

One of the best games of baseball played in Salem in many moons was staged last night at Sweetland field when the State House Stars and Valley motorists tore at each other throats for seven hot innings, neither team being able to push a tally across. The game was finally called at the end of the seventh inning after having gone two innings overtime, darkness compelling Empire Jones to stop the hostilities. This game marks the second tie that the State House has played, the "Y"-State House game being a draw and also an extra inning affair. Both these games will have to be played off on an off date and much interest is being manifested over the contests. The State House threatened in the fourth and seventh innings to cross the home rubber. In the fourth Knickerbocker walked and stole second and third. With two men down brown lifted a fly to short center on which Knickerbocker attempted to score with the throw-in. The play at the plate was a very close decision, Jackson making a perfect peg on the plate and the umpire called the State House second sacker out. This play was the pivotal feature of the game as it would have given the State House a one to nothing victory had Knickerbocker been declared safe. However, it was one of those "close ones" and no one, not even the State House players, are "crabbing" Empire Jones' decision. Craig singled in the seventh canto and stole second and third but died when Gabrielson flew out and Williams whiffed.

The Valley Motor tribe looked mighty formidable in the last inning when Miller singled with one hand down and stole second. Grosvenor at bat locked a couple over and drove one into the grandstand in left which would have scored Miller and ended the festivities had not the hit been declared a foul. "Teak" then flew out to Southwick and Hooper was retired Webb to Craig, ending the game.

Webb for the State House twirled a bank-up game, allowing but one hit and striking out nine men and walking but two. Hooper's work in the box for the Motorists was none the less creditable as he allowed but three hits, whiffed six batters and issued but one free pass. Gabrielson and Frank both caught good ball, the former nipping one base stealer neatly at second.

The brand of ball put up by both teams in last night's game was a credit to the Twilight league, sharp hitting being checkmated by clean, snappy fielding. There was a decided lack of "crabbing" on the part of both players and fans last night. In spite of a couple of very delicate and critical decisions which undoubtedly had a large bearing on the result of the game. As long as the Twilight league teams continue to sacrifice their individual gain for the welfare of the league, so much longer and successfully with the league live. Fans who are missing the games in the present Twilight series are sure overlooking their hands if they like good, clean baseball with a "kick" in it. The league race at present is a dandy and no club at all has a license to be at all cocky over its percentage. Summary: R. H. State House 0 3 1 Valley Motor 0 1 2 Batteries: Webb, Gabrielson; Hooper, Frank. Empire, Jones. Innings: 7. Time one hour.

Twilight Sawdust
Monday night the State House and Hauser Brothers hitch up for their first game in the present series. Both teams are going good and the Hausers are out to haul the State House down from first place. Have to hand it to the Valley Motorists for the way they have staged a comeback after a bad start. They took the strong Hausers into camp after having been given no chance to win and last night they battled the State House clan to a standstill.
