

AIRPLANE FIRM IS FORMED HERE

Landing Field Leased—Special Rate Planned for Local Passengers

While the cost of many things are going up, or at least holding steady, prospects are good in Salem for a radical reduction in one line, and that is in the way of airplane flights over Salem and vicinity.

In fact, Salem is about to line up with many other progressive cities in the northwest and have an aviation company of its own. All that at present stands in the way is the doubt among those interested as to whether a local company owning a plane would be given a fair share of home patronage.

The company that is now interested in purchasing a $10,000 plane and securing the services of an expert pilot, has already leased 50 acres as a landing field near the fair grounds, which has been pronounced entirely satisfactory by a number of pilots.

Already almost enough stock has been subscribed to justify the local company in purchasing a $10,000 airplane, but there is a feeling that before the purchase is made there should be some assurance from the public of patronage, especially if the city is given a special rate per flight.

The plane the company has in view will fly two passengers in addition to the pilot. If the public is interested in flying and willing to support a local company, it is probable that a special rate of $7.50 a flight will be made when two passengers are carried.

The new planes make much less noise than those of last year, making the trip much more enjoyable, especially when carrying two passengers. For this reason the company hopes to be assured of considerable local patronage before closing the deal.

In these flights the plane will rise over the city to such a height that on clear days there may be plainly seen the towns of Independence, Turner, Dallas, Monmouth and Silverton, besides a bird's-eye view of the Willamette valley.

In order not to reduce to any extent the local supply of gasoline, should the deal go through and the plane be brought to Salem, the company has arranged for a special high test gasoline for all flights.

Just at present the deal is hanging fire as the company feels it should have a fair support locally, especially a special price of $7.50 each is announced for two passenger flights over Salem, and of $15 each from Salem to Portland.

nothing better than to sit at his own fireside entertaining friends, assisted by Mrs. Harding. He takes great pride in the fact that he has never had any labor trouble at his newspaper plant.

Senator Harding is a trustee of the Trinity Baptist church, of which he is a member and upon whose services he is a regular attendant when in Marion.

Senator Harding's middle name is "Gamaliel."

The republican nominee knows how to smile even under defeat. This was shown in the 1910 Ohio campaign when he opposed Judson Harmon for governor and was defeated by the democratic candidate by more than 100,000 despite campaign assistance from Theodore Roosevelt.

COOLIDGE PROVES TO BE EFFICIENT MANAGER

1905 to Miss Grace A. Goodhue of Burlington, Vt. Their two children are both boys. When he was chosen governor he did not abandon his modest residence in half of a double house in Northampton, but took up his quarters in a single room in a small Boston hotel in the business district, returning to the hundred-odd miles to his home for the weekend.

RECEIVES NEWS.

BOSTON, June 12.—Governor Coolidge received word of his nomination in his apartment at the Adams House in company with Mrs. Coolidge and his aide, Captain Charles S. Riley, and his secretary, Henry J. Long. The governor indicated that he was very well pleased with the honor.

Word had reached the governor a minutes before a party of newspaper men were admitted to his rooms. The reporters, although expecting that the nomination would be made had not heard of the actual fact when they were ushered into the governor's presence.

It was several minutes before some of the governor's party set the newspaper on the situation.

In his rooms this evening, Governor Coolidge had followed the balloting with the keenest interest and upon the announcement of the nomination of Senator Harding he immediately sent the senator a telegram of congratulations. He then left the hotel for a stroll, when he was recalled with the word that his name had been placed before the convention at Chicago a second time, this time for the vice presidency.

Over a telephone line from the local office of the Associated Press he received the vote of the states and the flash of his nomination. He indicated his acceptance and then announced the news to Mrs. Coolidge and the others of their party.

MOODHE WINS FROM M'DOUGAL

Final Events in All-City Tennis Tournament Will be Played Today

Completely unable to keep up with the younger man's game, Walter McDougal was beaten in straight sets by Walter Moodhe, the young Willamette tennis star, in the finals of the men's singles in the all-city tournament at the Asylum avenue courts yesterday afternoon.

McDougal showed a lack of practice in his playing, and had it not been for this handicap, the match would have proved a red hot one. Moodhe was playing in his best form, and surprised many by his excellent overhead smashes, a factor he has not relied on before. The final score of the match was 6-0, 6-2, 6-3.

After the finish of the men's match, Miss Majorie Kay and Mrs. Jacobs took the court to decide the women's single championship. Miss Kay won the match 6-2, 6-4, but not without a hard struggle. Mrs. Jacobs plays a very aggressive game, takes the net a good part of the time and had it not been for a few hard luck shots the match would have gone three sets. Miss Kay, however, played in much steadier game than her opponent and won a big number of points on clean passes and perfect lobs.

Today will see the wind-up of the tournament, weather permitting, with the finals in mixed doubles and the presentation of trophies. At 10:30 this morning Miss Kay and Palmer will meet Mrs. Riggs and Jacobs and at the same time Mrs. Jacobs and Lantis will meet Mrs. Van Doren and McDougal in the semi-finals of the mixed double event. The winners of these two matches will decide the champion-

Why Our Prices Have Not Reduced

Many people have asked me why I do not make reductions in clothing. Let me explain why, and why our customers profit because we do not make reduced price sales.

In the first place I have never received a sufficient price for my clothing to justify a reduction. Our prices are based on the actual cost of the materials and labor plus a reasonable profit. If I were to make any reduction from the prices I am now charging I would be losing money and would be selling my goods far below cost which no business man can afford to do.

I might also say that there does not seem to be any possibility for a reduction in the price of clothing this fall. I have looked at the samples for fall of a great number of the leading woolen manufacturers and without exception every sample I have seen is marked from $5.00 to $10.00 more than the actual prices I am charging for the same goods in my stock.

Our customers may rest assured that although we do not have special sales, you are getting full 100 cents value on your dollar. In our business every man pays for his own suit. We do not make one man pay for his suit and a little extra so we can sell a suit to the other fellow a little cheaper and still make a little money. We charge every man the same price.

Preferred Paper Mill Stock

We offer the unsold portion of the $600,000 issue Cumulative 8 per cent Preferred Stock of the Oregon Pulp & Paper Co., Salem, Oregon.

This mill is one of the most modern paper mills in the country, is equipped to make high grade sulphite specialties, such as glassine and greaseproof papers at present not manufactured on the Pacific coast, as well as wrapping, tissue and waxing papers. The mill buildings are about completed, the machinery being erected, and the plant will be in operation very shortly.

This preferred stock is cumulative from July 1, 1920, pays 8 per cent per annum, dividends payable monthly; none of the stock of this company either preferred or common has been sold for less than par, $100 per share.

The ownership of the $600,000 common stock rests large with F. W. Leadbetter, the president, also president of the California-Oregon Paper Mills with mill in Los Angeles, and for 25 years a large stockholder and director of the Camas, now the Crown-Willamette Paper company. And the C. K. Spaulding Logging company, which owns a saw mill adjoining the paper mill at Salem, and furnishes the new mill with sawdust for fuel and the necessary wood for the 50 tons of sulphite daily made in the sulphite mill. Mr. C. K. Spaulding, the president of the logging company, being vice-president of the paper mill, and the fact that Mr. Spaulding and Mr. Leadbetter each own one-half of the Spaulding Logging company, which in turn owns nearly one billion feet of timber with its own logging roads, assures the new paper mill of its raw materials without the great expenditure for timber usually necessary to supply a great paper mill enterprise.

These two interests combined with the heavy holdings of the local Salem stockholders, and Mr. E. S. Collins and the Ladd estate of Portland, comprise the ownership of these mills and makes of this plant a distinctive Oregon corporation, designed, owned and operated by Oregonians.
