All the fine craftsmanship usually found on higher priced cars

IT'S a marvel to everyone who sees this Mitchell Sedan how we can offer it at the price.

The secret is in the Mitchell way of building a complete, not an assembled car.

The money saved, for instance, in building its own bodies, instead of giving profits to others, is put in the Mitchell cars, and it adds vastly to their over-values.

Other savings and efficiencies, throughout the factory, account for our offering. We give you the benefit. We could probably get more, but that is not the Mitchell idea.

We believe, as its executives, that it is wise to give more so as to win more friends. There is nothing more valuable than such good-will.

If you are interested in a Sedan or Coupe, see our Mitchell models first. Note their superiority. Note their saving to you. You'd have to pay much more for comparable cars.

We'll be delighted to point out Mitchell superiorities to you whenever you come in.
