First Concert of Band

A monster crowd last night thronged Willson park to greet the Salem hand in its first concert of the season. Cars were parked for several blocks on both sides of State and Court streets adjacent to the park

. The program began at 8 o'clock. Each number was approved with much handelapping and tooting of automible norms from the audience. The evening, following a torrid day, was ideal for the concert, permitting an opportunity for the people to lounge around on the grass. Many of the people brought Indian blankets with them to use as protection from dampness of the grass. and pillews. Some stood around. others walked around restlessly, aimlessly. Still others sat as if they were intensely eager to catch the strains of music. Here and there, vivacious couples were giving vent to their neathetic feelings by daneing to the music. Everybody was pleased.

The vocal solos by Mrs. Hallie Parrish Durdall were received with Phone 496 746 Highland Avenue tremendous approval by the hig andience. As the evening was quiet, and the atmospheric conditions such that the singer's voice carried well. Her solos added the required variety to the program.

The programs, as was that of last he Elks, was here yesterday in the night, are arranged in such a maninterests of the coming state conner that they supply a variety of vention.
