

ONLY ONE WEEK REMAINS UNTIL BARGAIN DAY COMES

Only one week remains until Bargain Day, and from now until then the stores will be picking out special articles and special lines in which their customers will be interested and for which attractive prices will be prescribed. During the coming week they will tell all about these things through the advertising columns, so that all who read will know where to run for the things they want.

The merchants were so busy all day yesterday that it was impossible for any of them to take time to write out a "declaration of intention" Bargain Day, but they will do so a little later. They all say, however, that the satisfaction of the buyers on that day is the all-important consideration and no pains will be spared to reach that desirable objective.

Following is a list of the persons and firms that have already joined in the Bargain day movement and those who are not yet included will probably join the crowd in a day or two.

According to the stray "dope," is to bring the Senators down upon their knees and cart home the large end of a 60-40 gate receipt. They crave victory; they crave cold cash. To them revenue is sweet.

But when they arrive here they will be a surprised bunch, for the Salem Senators are ready, so are the fans and fanatics. There is no need to go to Portland and watch a game with a rigid vinegar aspect of countenance, never thawed or warmed by bluffs of mirth. Nothing like watching a home team for a rollicking good time.

ical training and instruction in care of themselves and of their equipment. They will begin entraining for home on the night of July 19, and all will have left Camp Lewis by July 20 excepting the supply company of the Fifth infantry regiment which will remain until July 22 for special work and instruction. The infantry troops will be commanded by Colonel Creed C. Hammond of Portland and the coast artillery by either Captain

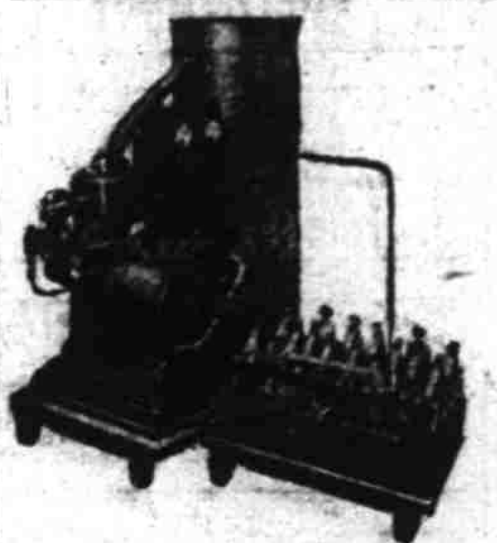

Ben S. Fisher of Marshfield or Captain W. M. Briggs of Ashland. All who qualify will receive the new grade of army pay recently provided by congress for the army and national guard. The government also furnishes all who go with their railroad fare, food, uniforms and equipment.

THREE DIAMOND BATTLES LOOM

Senators and Kirkpatrick Teams Start Today in Season's Banner Contests

The first game of the baseball series starts this afternoon at Oxford park.

After taking a sweeping, panoramic view of the field, the facts preponderate towards a "hounding" of a baseball series between the Salem Senators and the Portland Kirkpatrick's July 3, 4 and 5.

The Senators are now in full career. They are at the high-water mark of their anxiety for action. Any enemy that opposes them while under this mood is skirting the edge of tragedy. Such a mood in any team is what makes the great American game worth while.

The fans and fanatics have a submissive admiration for the purring sincerity and earnestness in the playing of the local team. Observe the Senators while they are on the field. Their presence on the diamond is characterized with vim and "pep." They acquit themselves as if they had a mighty task—perhaps they have. Miscues that visit a team of this kind are quickly condoned, because they misstepped in their over-zealousness.

"Rotten! Bush stuff! Why don't you get some players."

Such threats and taunts often come from the bleachers when some player miscues in his hurry to make a play. Man alive—how many would enjoy a game without thrills, if all was perfect and machine-like. Obviously bleacherites who disparage the honest efforts of a team do not know the veridical statement of Emerson: "consistency is the hobgoblin of little minds."

There are only two classes of people who are absolutely consistent—idiots and dead people. They never make an error. None will gain say that the Senators are neither idiotic nor dead. There is nothing "spooky" in their playing. Many teams have crossed bats with them this season only to leave ululating back to their lair.

"King" Cole, the Senator hurler, who will pitch this afternoon's game, would be a flivver in a beauty market, but he has few peers in this neck of the "tall and neat" when it comes to dishing out the oriental fireworks to the opposing team. They just can't see the ball as it "Roman candles" over the home platter. He does it with a smile.

Jack Hayes hails from the land of the Vikings. He is a giant in more ways than one. Size him up and don't say a word. He can hit home runs like a monkey hurling coconuts from the top of a tree—it just comes natural. The State street tailor is a tower of strength in the offense, and a thorn on the brow of the opposing pitcher.

Now comes Biddy Bishop and Kraeke; they are twins when it comes to spontaneous "pep." They comport themselves on the diamond as if they were a bundle of nerves. "Stop—look—listen" when they are on the field. They are ever chattering, gesticulating like a dutch windmill. Did you ever see Kraeke cover first base in "big league" style on a ground ball when he is backtapping? Look him over.

Billy Stepp, the Portland News sport bombast purveyor, plays a "bang-up" game in the outfield; as does Hayes and "Ducky" Holmes. Few balls ever find earth when it goes out into their territories.

Mike Miller and Proctor, at the keystone positions are a pair hard to beat. One needs a "niggering" card to beat it. Both can whip the ball over to first base with electrical deadliness. It takes a fleet foot to beat out a ground ball to them.

That is the team that is to entertain the Kirkpatrick's with blood-curdling thrills commencing this afternoon and during the two days that follow.

According to "dope" at headquarters, the Kirkpatrick's are not coming to Salem for a vacation, for their health, or to visit the wonderful automobile camping grounds of the city. They come here prepared for business. Their business, ac-
