

MARCUS GALE IS HOME FROM EAST

Salem Man Enjoys Visit with Old Friends After Separation of 40 Years.

Marcus Gale, head of the mercantile firm of Gale & Co., returned Friday evening after an extended tour through the east, during which he enjoyed himself exceedingly, having met old friends he had not seen for 40 years. His travels included the city of St. Louis, Chicago and New York and he had for an especial object the observation of business conditions in the big commercial centers and the prospects for the future. Mr. Gale talked with many wholesalers and inquired as to the cause of continued high prices of goods, also the prospect as to prices in the near future. They invariably gave the labor conditions as the cause of the high prices. They claimed that not only are the wages and salaries of labor at a very high point, but at the same time the relative amount of production in the factories has been reduced thus giving an added cost to the output. They said the cost of the raw materials is not to blame for high prices, but the heavy item of production is labor, and this affects all stages of handling the product. In the farming regions visited by Mr. Gale there was great complaint of shortage of farm help. It is rare to find a man under 45 years of age employed on farms. The younger men who have a smattering of technical knowledge of mechanics or machinery can obtain such high wages in the cities that they turn their backs upon agriculture. Mr. Gale returns to Oregon with his pride in its climate, scenery and general characteristics decidedly increased. The difference is especially marked between the pleasant invigorating air (or lack of it) in the east and middle west, particularly on a summer night.

Political Platforms Are Set Out in New Books

Several new books have been received at the public library during the past week, some of which have been sought by Salem readers for some time and are intensely interesting. Planks in our political platforms are discussed at some length in these works, as are other topics of current interest. They follow: "The Irish question—'Ireland in the last Fifty Years'" by Barker. "Ireland and England Past and Present." by Turner. Chinese immigration: "Selected Articles on Immigration" by Reesley. Railway control: "Government Ownership of Railroads" by Phelps. League of Nations: "Society of States, Sovereignty and Independence in a League of Nations," by Stallybras. "America and the League of Nations" by Powell. "Economic Consequences of the Peace" by Kaynes. Philippine Independence: "America and the Philippines" by Crow. "Military and Colonial Policy of the U. S.," by Ro. Mexico: "The Plot Against Mexico" by De Bekker. "The Week's New Fiction" "The Whale and the Grasshopper." by Seumas O'Brien.

Helpful Health Hints

The story of some dyspeptics listens like a last year's almanac. Health is a condition to be envied, but only the sick are aware of the fact. It is fine to be one hundred years old—and respected. It is also pretty good to be twenty-five and healthy. Your boy may be "the village cut-up" but that is no indication that he will turn out to be a great surgeon. It is amazing how few doctors care to leave "foot prints on the sands of time"—it is so much more pleasant to ride in an auto. The moral tragedy of human life comes almost wholly from the fact that we have not disciplined ourselves to do that which we know should be done. The pallid, anemic school girl needs something more than regulation of studies, fresh air, and nourishing, easily digested food. For such patients osteopathy is the all essential remedy. It is especially beneficial because it promptly overcomes the existing blood impoverishment.

"Sonia Married" by Stephen McKenna. "The Black Drop," by Alice Brown. "The Red Seal," by Joseph Lincoln. "The Trimmed Lamp" by Sidney Porter. (O. Henry)

Women's World Record in Swimming Broken

NEW YORK, July 10.—A world's record of one minute 12 3-5 seconds for the women's 100-metre free style swim outdoors, was set today by Ethelda Bleibtrey of the New York women's swimming association in the Olympic final tryout at Manhattan beach. Her time bettered the record of 1:16 1-5 held jointly by Fanny Durack of Austria and Charlotte Boye of the women's swimming association and is 7 1-5 seconds faster than the Olympic record for the event made by Miss Durack at Stockholm in 1912.

These Suits Are Cool

They Give Lasting Comfort

Are You A Careful Dresser?

If you have not yet done so, just casually notice those men who seem to you to be "well dressed." Notice every line in the suit—how it fits, how it keeps its shape, how it always looks as if it was just bought. Then ask the man where he buys his suits. He will usually say, "I have Mosher make them for me."

Yes, that is true because men who always want to look right have learned by experience that our suits have that quality of service which makes them look as good as new after months of wear.

The secret to all this is the individuality of every suit. It is made to look well on you, and you only. No suit can become any and every man. It must be made for him. That is the reason wearers of "Mosher" suits are always well dressed.
