

WOODBURN CASE TAKEN TO COURT

Property Owners Determined to Forestall Improvement of Street.

That the city is already in debt beyond the limitation of the charter, and that there is no emergency calling for the improvement of the street adjacent to their property was the basis of a complaint filed at the county clerk's office yesterday by A. C. Simmons and others against the city of Woodburn.

The complaint alleges that an ordinance has been passed by the city council empowering the city to improve East Lincoln street of Woodburn, that several resolutions were passed by the council that prevent referendum measures, also that the city is now in debt in excess of the indebtedness permissible under the charter and that the funds in the treasury are now depleted. In spite of that fact, it is alleged, the city is about to advertise for bids and to let contract for paving the street.

The plaintiffs allege that there is no need for paving the road as it is in good condition and that the funds in the treasury are now depleted. The complaint asks for a restraining order against the city of Woodburn.

Motoring Must Give Way to Hauling of Berries

To facilitate the harvesting of the cherries and loganberries, pleasure motorists must take a vacation, declare the oil officials of Salem who are working extra hours to provide gasoline for the trucks engaged in the hauling of berries to Salem from the farms.

Inability to move the berry crops from the farms on account of lack of motor fuel will result in the loss of thousands of dollars to the grower and to the community. Conservation of pleasure may mean the preservation of crops.

As a result of the great demand for vehicles to move the crops from the farm to the city, trucking business has increased 200 per cent, according to estimates by the oil people. Gasoline is now lower than at any time during the current shortage, and with prospects of further curtailment, the oil company men state that every precaution must be exercised in saving gasoline, that the trucks may have the fuel to remove the crops off the field.

Conservative estimates place the oil supply for July at 160,000 gallons, which is 46,000 gallons less than last month's supply. Salem district consumed 208,000 gallons during the month of June.

JEW EXPRESS APPRECIATION OF ENGLISH HELP

10,000 Zionists Unite in Demonstration over British Attitude.

WILL REBUILD PALESTINE

Arab and Jew Will Co-operate But Arabs Must Respect Rights of Jews.

LONDON, July 12.—Ten thousand Jews in a demonstration in Albert Hall on the occasion of Great Britain's acceptance of the mandate for Palestine, unanimously adopted resolutions expressive of appreciation of "the illustrious services rendered the Jewish nation by the statesmen and peoples of the allies and associated powers, particularly Great Britain."

The resolutions pledge the Jews "to spare no effort or sacrifice for the rebuilding of Palestine as a Jewish national home, in collaboration with the inhabitants of the country."

Arthur Balfour, lord president of the council, the marquis of Crewe, Dr. Chaim Weizmann, head of the Jewish administrative commission and Jewish leaders representing 28 nations, who are holding a Zionist conference here.

The Jews appealed for support of the high commissioner in Palestine, Sir Herbert Samuel, and the Jewish leaders there.

Mr. Balfour, who was accorded an ovation lasting several minutes, said he hoped the Arabs in Palestine would remember that Great Britain freed them and make no trouble. He said he anticipated the greatest difficulty would be the inability of the Jews to work together and obey their leaders.

Max Nordau, replying to Mr. Balfour, asserted that the Jews, as well as the English, were politicians and that the British statesmen could be assured that "we want to be Great Britain's sentry on the Asia frontier, and if you will permit us to grow as strong as we desire, we will watch the Suez canal for you and be a useful ally if necessary."

Dr. Weizmann, referring to the Palestine Arabs, turned to Mr. Balfour and said:

"The Arab and the Jew will collaborate there on one condition only, that the Arabs respect the rights of the Jews in Palestine. This done, we will prove a source of strength and pride to the mandatory power."

When Josiah C. Wedgwood, labor member of the parliament, pledged the support of "the entire labor party of Great Britain to the Jews, not only to build a Jewish state but to promote internationalism and bring nearer the brotherhood of man," Baron Rothschild, who presided, was unable to restrain the audience, which rose, cheered, waved flags and sang. The demonstration ended with the singing of "Hatikva," the Jewish song of hope, to the air of "God Save the King."

The American delegates to the Zionist conference, who today secured the chairmanships of all the important committees, demanded that all the officers of the conference resign "so that the movement may be organized to meet the new constitution."

It is explained that the move was not intended as a criticism, but that it was considered necessary to carry out the new program.

The American women delegates declined to join the proposed international woman's organization, saying they desired to remain an integral part of Zionist America, where they are accorded equal rights."

Druggist Sells Stolen Alcohol at Great Profit

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—Three hundred gallons of alcohol have been stolen from the Mare Island navy yard at Vallejo and sold in San Francisco as whiskey, William J. Jordan, prohibition enforcement officer, announced today. Arrest of an unnamed navy yard employe and a San Francisco druggist will be made tomorrow, Jordan said.

According to Jordan, the druggist admitted that he had bought three 100-gallon drums of alcohol from the government employe for $2,700 and that he had realized more than $75,000 profits since last January through the sale of "whiskey" made by coloring and diluting the alcohol.

Coal Operators and Rail Executives to Confer

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Bituminous coal operators today failed to work out a plan to bring about immediate shipment of next winter's coal to the northwest, although agreeing that the problem of obtaining the dumping of four thousand carloads daily until November at Great Lakes ports for movement to that territory hinged on car supply.

There was no indication that any concrete plan would be worked out for the joint conference of the operators and railroad executives at New York. The operators' conference, however, will continue tomorrow.

The committee selected to represent the operators in Wednesday's conference also was chosen as a permanent one to function on all questions relating to car supply. D. H. Wentz, president of the National Coal association, was selected chairman.

General complaint was made by the operators that the roads were not strictly obeying the interstate commerce commission's 30-day priority order giving preference to the mines in the assignment of open top cars.

At a meeting which was open only to operators, reports were made that the average daily delivery of coal for the northwest amounted to only 1,675 cars, practically one-half of the quantity said to be needed as insurance against a coal famine in the states at the head of the lakes next winter. The operators declared the small deliveries were due to lack of transportation.

Possibility of the re-establishment of a federal fuel administration also was understood to have been mentioned, but none of the operators professed to have any information as to the government's attitude. Informally, the operators opposed such proposal.

CARL WANDERER JUDGED SANE

Grand Jury Returns Two True Bills Against Wife Slayer.

CHICAGO, July 12.—Carl Wanderer, former army officer, will go to trial within a month for the slaying of his wife and a stranger, State's Attorney Hoyne said today after two true bills were voted by a grand jury.

Believing that an alleged love affair with Miss Julia Schmitt, a stenographer, might furnish the possibility of a motive for the double slaying, the 17-year-old girl tonight was taken again to the criminal court building where Wanderer was made to confront her. Wanderer admitted having taken the girl to an amusement park.

"Was she the cause of your killing your wife and the stranger?" he was asked.

"No, she was merely a side issue," Wanderer responded. "I was tired of married life."

Later, after an examination, physicians pronounced Wanderer sane.

"When I returned from the army and married, I thought I had found happiness and would never return to the army," Wanderer said. "I continued to think that way until along in May of this year, when I got the longing for the army. I also wanted to get that $1,500 from my wife which she had in the bank. I had saved this and sent it to her while in the army. The only money I squandered foolishly was when I took Miss Schmitt out on taxicab rides six times and this cost me $69—the bonus money I received from the army."

Miss Schmitt told the state's attorney that she was introduced to Wanderer by his father, who said he was proud of his son's army record.

"Mr. Wanderer told all of his customers about his son and I was introduced to him in the shop," she said. "Carl took a liking to me and took me out five times before I learned through the murders that he was a married man. Then I told him that I would have nothing more to do with him. It was as if or so after the Fourth of July that he slipped a note into my hand in the butcher shop asking me to meet him for a car ride. I met him and on this trip I told him that I would never go out with him again."

In reply to a question Miss Schmitt said that Wanderer talked mostly about his army career. She was allowed to go to her home at the conclusion of the inquiry.

After the physicians declared that Wanderer responded to all their tests, the prisoner was taken back to the detention home.
