

TIGERS UNABLE TO MEET QUIRKS OF "KING" COLE

Senators Land on Ex-Leaguer from Woodburn for 8 Safe Swats.

Excellent Field Work Backs Salem Pitcher in Sunday's Battle.

When the Cats from Woodburn went up in the air they fell on their backs when they dropped a hard-fought game to the Senators by the score of 4 to 3, Sunday. The feline species are usually light on their feet when they go up in the air, but not so when they go down.

BEAR OIL for HAIR
AN INDIAN'S SECRET
One of the most potent ingredients of Kestrel—for the hair—is genuine bear oil. There are no other active ingredients found in any other hair preparation. Kestrel has succeeded in many cases of baldness, falling hair and dandruff when every other hair tonic or treatment has proved futile. 5000 Spruce, Alaska. Results in cases considered hopeless. You never saw a bald Indian.
Why become or remain bald if you can grow hair? If others have obtained a new growth or have recovered dandruff, or stopped falling hair through Kestrel, why may not you? Get a box of KESTREL at any drug store, or send 10 cents, silver or gold, for BROCHURE with PROOF BOX of Kestrel to J. H. Brittain, Inc., Station F, New York, N. Y.

was clearly a case of too much Cole. He struck out 14.
The Senator's phenom, "King" Cole, found the cloudy day to his liking, for he was stung with his hits and unmerciful in the way he sent the batsmen back to their bench murmuring sweet nothings to themselves. Only two safe bingles, one for a homer by Whitman and a two-bagger by Harstad, were garnered off the superb delivery of Cole. His pitching was consistent, making the ex-leaguer Harstad look like the last rose in the grave of the has-beens—the hush leaguer. Cole received airtight support, save for the two bobbles made by Miller in the last inning and one by Kracke.
Tigers Threatened.
Woodburn threatened to even up the score in the ninth inning. The situation became dangerous when Cole issued a pass to Brassell and a couple of bobbles by Miller stationed men on the first and third bags. A wild throw by Kracke permitted a runner to spike the plate for a marker, while one of Miller's misuses contributed to a score. Cole struck out the last two batters, ending the game and the rally of the Cats. The first run for Woodburn was scored by Whitman in the third inning when he met one to his liking and sent the ball over the fence in deep right.
With the exception of the ninth inning when bobbles placed them within the halo of hope, at no time did the visiting Cats look dangerous. Only three balls were hit beyond the infield by them, two going for safe hits, while one was gathered in by Stewart in left field. Their other connections with the ball were puny and ineffectual efforts to solve Cole's delivery.
Proctor Scores First.
Harstad was able to retire 11 Senators via the strike-out route. Eight bingles spell his undoing, for the hits came opportunistically. Most of the hits obtained off his delivery were solid pokes into fair-territory. Hayes connected for a two-bagger in the first inning and Kracke for a homer by hitting a high fly over the right field fence in the eighth inning summarizing the extra base hits of the Senators.

Proctor scored in the first inning when he singled to right, stole second base and came home on Hayes' lusty swat for two bases into deep left. Hayes scoring a minute later on a single by Kracke through short. Stewart scored in the seventh when he singled to left field, stole second and scored on an error by the first baseman when Cole hit a grounder to third. Lane dropped Whitman's throw on Cole's grounder. The final Senator score was registered on Kracke's circuit clout.
Team Work Clever.
Teamwork of a high order prevailed among the Senators. Many hard chances were handled with ease, defeating Woodburn's chances to score, or to obtain bases. Quick work by Proctor in the eighth inning robbed Coleman of a hit, when he fielded a grounder into deep right and retired the runner at first base. The play required quick execution and merited the applause he received from the Field Judgment was exhibited to advantage several times during the game when runners were cut off on force plays, lessening the chances of the Tigers to score, or to come within striking distance.
The imported umps lived up to the advance information regarding their ability. The game, under their direction, was conducted in a clean-cut manner. They gave their decisions with confidence and justice. Fans and fanettes sanctioned the decisions of the arbiters with silent approbation. Some players were inclined to abuse the decisions, for no other reason than because they are chronic umpire baiters. Games conducted in a manner in vogue at yesterday's matinee will do much to popularize the sport in Salem.

DIVERSITY OF VALLEY FARMS IS APPLAUDED

Prof. C. I. Lewis Compares Salem with Other Sections in Oregon.

NEW YORK MAN HEARD

Club Names Committee to Wage State Chamber Campaign Next Fall.

"Salem has the best diversified farming district in the state of Oregon," was the opinion of C. I. Lewis of the Oregon Growers Cooperative association given at the weekly Commercial Club luncheon yesterday noon.
"The other districts," he continued, "are too one-sided. They stress one kind of plants, one kind of fruits, or one kind of crops and as a result they are unbalanced and uncertain. When their particular crop fails, their financial affairs are in a panic-stricken state. They are up against it."
Mr. Lewis substantiated his statement by the use of an index chart showing in colors the different sections of Oregon. The Medford section was shown as growing only apples and pears, the Amity region walnuts and berries and the southern part of Oregon prunes. The Salem district, the only section in the state showing diversified farming to advantage, was shown as producing apples, pears, prunes, cherries, walnuts and berries all of which are grown with profit.
Mr. Lewis stated that the financial ability of a community depends first upon the diversified farming and second upon the people themselves.
Level Head Helps
"If certain crops fail," he admonished, "don't go up in the air about it. Keep your heads level and things will come out all right. It will be smoothed over in a short time. The trouble with most business men is that they lose their nerve and become uneasy when the farmers have a short crop. The business man and the farmer should work together."
In referring to apple prospects it was Mr. Lewis' conservative estimate that the apple crops in Oregon would be fair. He said that of all the apple regions in the west, the Wenatchee district in north central Washington is the only apple growing community that will exceed last year's output. All of the other communities will show slight decreases.
Methods Are Lauded
Care and diligence in spraying the apple trees in the Wenatchee district makes this possible, Mr. Lewis said. Fruit that is blemished by defects common to fruit trees and plants are sufficient to consider the fruit unmarketable in the Wenatchee district.
Mr. Lewis gave it as his estimate that 2500 tons of cherries will be marketed in the Willamette valley. From reports gained from the different communities about 60 million pounds of prunes will be harvested in western Oregon and Clark county in Washington. That 5000 tons of loganberries will be harvested largely within the radius of 30 miles of Salem was another assertion. About 4000 tons of pears will be harvested in the Rogue river district and probably 700 tons in western Oregon.

Results of Irrigation Shown to Congressmen

A billowy field of alfalfa on one side of an eastern Oregon road and on the other side a desert waste in several instances told the story of irrigation to the congressional appropriations committee on its recent tour in Oregon, according to Percy A. Cupper, state engineer, who was in the western counties with the delegation. Mr. Cupper declares the congressmen were favorably impressed with the reclamation in Oregon and believes their trip will go far in obtaining appropriations for further reclamation work.

Some of the biggest projects in the state were visited in the Crater Lake, Crescent, Bend, Redmond, Tumalo, Prineville and Madras sections. Mr. Cupper left the party at Madras.

interest of the Oregon Chamber of Commerce.
Dr. Hawn used Mr. Lewis' talk for his text. He emphasized the ability to cooperate in communities as the best sign of progress.
"That community which works as an organization will receive its meed of the good things of life," was his assertion.
"Technical knowledge is not desirable for the advancement of any person," he said. "A person who concentrates on one line of endeavor is warped, unthinking and unsympathetic. It is a deplorable state of affairs that many of America's business men are interested in only one thing—their business."
Local Committee Named
"This community," Dr. Hawn concluded, "that will make the biggest improvement and far-reaching advancement is where the members join hands."
The following committee was appointed to work in connection with the Oregon Chamber of Commerce drive for a $150,000 fund. Harley O. White, chairman, C. P. Blahon, J. C. Perry, F. G. Deckebach and J. W. Chambers, Jr.
Salem's quota for the Oregon Chamber of Commerce drive is $7000. At a meeting yesterday it was decided to defer the drive until sometime in October. Mr. FitzGibbon and Dr. Hawn are in Salem surveying the situation preparatory to the drive next fall. They are from the San Francisco offices of the American city bureau.

"What can I do for you, madam?"
"Can you give me small change for this potato?"—Cartoons Magazine.

"Aunt Sally—she knew how all right"

WHEN I was small, I USED to watch AUNT SALLY, PUT UP fruit, AND VEGETABLES, FOR the winter, I REMEMBER how SHE PACKED it all, IN CLEAN glass jars, AND SEALED the tops, WITH PARAFFIN, TO KEEP out, ALL THE air and keep THE JUICY flavor in, AND ALL the winter, THANKS TO her, WE HAD the fruits, OF SUMMER on our table.

SO WHEN I happened, ON SOME cigarettes, WRAPPED NEATLY up, IN A glassine jacket, I DIDN'T think, IT WAS just for looks, BUT RATHER that, THE EXTRA wrapper, KEPT AIR and dampness, ALL OUTSIDE, AND GOODNESS in, SO THAT'S another, BLAME GOOD reason why, "THEY SATISFY."

QUITE right, that neat glassine jacket isn't just for looks. It protects your Chesterfields from the weather—seals in the flavor of those wonderful Turkish and Domestic tobaccos—keeps them in prime shape for smoking! Rain or shine, winter or summer, Chesterfields always "satisfy!"

Bond Expert May Be Needed in State Legal Department

So rapidly is the business of selling bonds increasing in Oregon that nearly half of Attorney General Brown's time is taken up with examination of papers covering procedure. There is a possibility that before long an assistant attorney may necessarily be employed to make a specialty of that department of the attorney general's work. Not only does the attorney general keep a watchful eye on bond issues of the state, but is called upon to examine the papers relating to bond issues of school districts, irrigation districts, drainage districts and other projects.
