Miss Julia Webster entertained with a pretty dinner complimenting her house guest Miss Elizabeth Topping. The dinner was held in the garden and there were covers for Miss Topping, Miss Hazel Kessler, Miss Irene Cunningham, Miss Sophia Townsend, Miss Mabel Hudson, Daniel Webster and the hostess.

Rev. W. T. Milliken, the recently appointed minister for the First Baptist church to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Rev. G. L. Holt held a reception Wednesday evening in the church parlors for the members of that congregation. The affair was planned for the minister to meet and get better acquainted with his congregation. The pastors of the Salem churches were additional guests and Dr. R. N. Avison gave the welcoming address to the new pastor. A short musical program was arranged with the several speeches as entertainment. About 150 were present to meet the new minister.

Mrs. Barton F. Miller invited about 20 matrons to her home Wednesday for an informal kennington. Yellow was the color scheme she used about her room and carried it out with the Black-eyed Susans, and marigold. The hostess' small daughters, Luella and Maud, served tea at the close of the sewing.

Miss Ola Clark was a charming hostess of the week when she invited a few close friends in for an afternoon of sewing and social chat. Those who shared her hospitality were Mrs. Ralph Kellog, and the Misses Lucile Emmons, Genevieve Avison, Helen Mercer, Beryl Holt, Eva Scott and Ada Ross. At the hour the hostess served a dainty repast.

Mrs. Byron F. Brunk will entertain the writers' club of the Salem Arts league at her home on Pine street Friday evening for the regular meeting of the club and for a social evening.

Miss Bess Shinn has been entertaining during the week Miss Gladys Hastings of Kokomo, Ind. For her house guest Miss Shinn entertained with a six-cover luncheon Thursday.

The Epworth league institute of the Methodist churches of this district which has been held in the grove near Jefferson all week has attracted many of the young folk from the Methodist churches of this city. There have been 20 from the First Methodist church who have camped there all week. Mrs. A. A. Lee is the chaperone and Fred Blake is in charge of the delegation. Today 20 more will motor over for the day and will attend the services this afternoon at which Dr. R. N. Avison preaches.

Mrs. Paul Blanchard and children of Chicago are visiting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Findley while on their way to their home after a visit at numerous eastern places.

Miss Myrtle Richards, Miss Marjory Blake, Miss Edna Newberry, and Miss Grace Allen left yesterday for Jefferson to spend a few days at the Epworth Institute and to join the Salem delegates.

Mrs. A. M. Purvine and son, Leo, returned Thursday from Greeley, Colo., where they visited for several weeks with Mrs. Purvine's father, William Schler who has large interests in a large sugar factory in that city.

Dr. and Mrs. Wilson Lee Pemberton and son; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Laneolin of Myrtle Creek were the house guests for the week of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Bulgin at their home on Mill street. The guests motored from Myrtle Creek and intend to drive to Pacific City, Portland, into Washington and Canada before returning home. Dr. Pemberton is a graduate of Willamette university medical college and has a host of friends and relatives here. Many delightful trips and entertainments have been planned for them while here.

Miss Maud Robison left yesterday for Portland where she has accepted a position with the J. K. Gill company. Miss Robison has been at Patton's book store for about a year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hurd, Charles Hurd and Miss Lenna Hurd who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Poage for several weeks left this week for their home in southern California, and were accompanied on their motor trip back by Mr. and Mrs. Poage and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Scott.

Another Salem woman who is coming to the front with short story writing and who has found a market for her articles is Mrs. W. F. Fargo, 1085 North Church street whose articles appear under the name of Ruth Fargo. Her last story is "Vanity of Vanities" which appears in June-July "The American Cookery" the leading domestic science magazine in the country. Mrs. Fargo is a regular contributor to this magazine. During the past year the following articles from her pen have appeared on the pages of American Cookery.

"One Misty Morning," the story of an unexpected invitation. "Some Hints for Canning Days" and "A Fair Exchange," short cookery articles. "At the Edge of the Ocean" is a sea-side story illustrated with snapshots taken at Bandon Beach by Mrs. Fargo. "Topsy Turvy" and "Nuts for Cornelius," "Aunt Anna's Company Cake," "Pests Made Profitable," and "The Ship That Comes In" are all stories of hers which have been in the issues of this magazine. "Owning One's Own" is a comminating article, illustrated by photographs and is a plea for the little home at the end of the trolley line. "Camouflaged Cookery" is another article of hers.

Mrs. W. P. Fowle was a charming visitor of the week when she invited ten guests to have dinner with her son, Hayward, last Sunday evening. It was in honor of his

During Mr. Schindler's four years at the Salem high school he evidenced great talent as a dramatist and musician. These accomplishments, associated with a most gentlemanly character and a keen interest in all the school activities, made his time much in demand and himself most popular among the students and also through the city where his pleasing personality was always courted.

Mr. Schindler will visit relatives in Kansas and Iowa en route to Harvard, arriving there about the first of September.

serving. Plates were laid for Paul Wallace, John W. Harbison, Allan Carson, Wallace Carson, Theron Hoover, Frank Durbin Jr., Roy Gilbert, Carl Snyder, Eugene Gill, Ben Vick of Albany, Mrs. Fowle, Mrs. Flegel, Miss Fowle, and the honor guest.

Miss Hazel Downing entertained at a prettily appointed luncheon on Monday at her home. The table was decked with a basket of zinnias in a mixture of shades and colors. Covers were laid for Mrs. H. E. Edgerton (Claudine Rose), Mrs. E. Alan Hynon, Mrs. Earle Coulson Flegel, Mrs. Dan Fry Jr., and the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Bulgin delightfully entertained with a dinner Thursday evening in honor of their house guests, Dr. and Mrs. Wilson Lee Pemberton and their son of Myrtle Point. A bowl of sweet peas and maidenhair fern formed an attractive centerpiece for the table around which covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. J. Ray Pemberton and daughter, Rachael; Mr. and Mrs. A. W.
