HEROIC JEWS ARE HONORED BY AMERICANS

Tributes to be Paid Friedlander and Cantor at Carnegie Hall

ALL JEWRY IS UNITED

One of Largest Meetings in History of Auditorium Is Prediction

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The first great meeting of the early fall at Carnegie hall, exclusive of possible political gatherings from the date fixed, will occur on Thursday evening, September 9, announcement was made yesterday and is expected to be the largest meeting in point of attendance and one of the most impressive in point of character in the history of the auditorium.

It will take the form of a national memorial meeting for Prof. Israel Friedlander and Dr. Bernard Cantor, the two New York Jews who, early in July, were murdered in the Ukraine, in the performance of their voluntary relief mission in behalf of American Jewry, acting directly for the joint distribution committee of the American funds for Jewish war sufferers, of which Felix M. Warburg is chairman, and the constituent committees of that body—the American Jewish relief committee, of which Louis Marshall is chairman; the central committee for the relief of Jews suffering through the war, of which Leon Kamaiky is chairman; and the people's relief committee, of which Alexander Kahn is chairman.

Wide Sympathy Shown.

All the principal Jewish institutions and organizations of learning, particularly those with which Professor Friedlander was connected, Jewish fraternal organizations, the Free Synagogue of which Dr. Cantor was an assistant rabbi, and other synagogues and religious societies and representative Jewish bodies, are to participate in the memorial meeting, which is to be both a tribute to the men, whose lives were sacrificed and a further call to American Jewry to do its full duty by their unfortunate co-religionists throughout the world, who are starving, homeless and penniless, by the hundreds of thousands, in all the countries abroad affected by the blight of the world war.

It is considered quite probable that not only will the seating and standing room capacity of Carnegie hall be taxed to the utmost for this meeting, which occurs just prior to the Jewish New York or Rosh Hashona, as is the Hebrew name for the holiday, but that it will be totally impossible to accommodate those who will wish to do homage to the memory of these two men—one of whom, Dr. Friedlander, had earned a foremost place among Jewish leaders of thought, and the other, Dr. Cantor, a much younger man, gave high promise of a future of equal distinction.

The call for the meeting was issued by the special Friedlander-Cantor memorial committee, appointed several weeks ago at a special meeting of the joint distribution committee, by Felix M. Warburg, and consisting of Dr. Cyrus Adler, Dr. Judah L. Magnes, Judge Otto A. Rosalsky, Samuel C. Lamport, Sholom Ash, Mr. Warburg and Stanley Bero, as secretary. Mr. Warburg, in behalf of the committee, issued the call for the meeting, which says:

Heroism Described.

"American Jewry has been profoundly stirred and sorrowfully impressed by the tragic deaths in the Ukraine of Prof. Israel Friedlander and Dr. Bernard Cantor, who, without thought of the consequences to themselves and only thought of the needs of their suffering co-religionists in that unfortunate country, went forth to minister to those needs and in the name of American Jewry, and with funds placed at their disposal by the joint distribution committee, through its constituent committees, sought to alleviate suffering, to give bread to the starving, clothes to the naked and spiritual and mental comfort and hope to the hopeless.

"These men, as is true of all the men who have gone forth from America to lend the helping hand of American Jewry to the sufferers from the war, whether Jew or non-Jew, gave no thought to the element of personal danger, gave no thought to the sacrifice they were compelled to make, to the separation from their family and home, but gave thought only to the great objective, that of comfort, help and succor to those whose misery and distress passes utterly the comprehension of those of us here, who have never witnessed anything to equal it.

"In order that fitting honor be done to these men, in order that there may be a realization in the minds of all of us of the sacrifice they made in behalf of humanity and of the great and overwhelming disaster which occasioned this sacrifice, and in order that we may pause for a few hours to give thought to those men, to their heroic accomplishments and to their untimely end, the joint distribution committee has called, with its constituent committees, a memorial meeting, to be held at Carnegie hall, New York, at 8 o'clock on the evening of September 9, in which the cooperation and participation of Jewish organizations, educational, religious and fraternal, throughout the United States, is invited."

Response Is Hearty.

In response to the call, Mr. Warburg has already received a hearty response in which the desire has been expressed by many organizations to participate in the meeting and thus show the sentiment and sorrow of Jews all over the land and the purpose to make the meeting the united action of American Jewry.

The program for the meeting, which is to consist of music of solemn character, and addresses by prominent men upon the life and work of Professor Friedlander and Dr. Cantor, together with the names of the organizations to participate will be later announced.

REDS OBJECT TO RIGA

WARSAW, Sept. 7.—The Russian soviet government has sent a wireless message to Poland saying the Russians are dissatisfied with the arrangements for the Russo-Polish peace negotiations at Riga because the Letvian guarantees are insufficient. The soviet government complains that Letvia made no reference to the liberty of movement of the delegates at headquarters during the negotiations, or immunity of documents from examination at the frontier.

M. Kanieniecki, Polish charge d'affairies in Riga, has been instructed to urge the Letvians to comply with the soviet request. Meanwhile, the Polish delegates are planning to start for Riga this week.

MINERS FAIL TO AGREE

BILLINGS, Mont., Sept. 7.—Conferees reported tonight that no agreement had yet been reached between operators and miners upon the proposal to grant day and monthly employes of the Montana colliers an increase approximating $1.50 per day.

Proceedings are secret but it is said delay in reaching an understanding hinges upon the question of whether the increase shall take effect this month or be made retroactive to August 16. The latter date coincides with that fixed in the agreement covering the central competitive field.

The conference will continue tomorrow.

UNDERTAKERS MEET

PORTLAND, Sept. 7.—Fifty members of the Oregon state undertakers' association were in attendance at the annual convention of the organization here today. Tomorrow a joint session with the Washington state association is to be held. Features of today's sessions included demonstrations of the latest methods of embalming.

Soldiers and Machine Guns Guard Cork Jail

CORK, Sept. 7. — The correspondent of the Associated Press called at the jail this morning but he was refused permission to see the prisoners or to interview the prison authorities. The warden at the gate, which he opened sufficiently wide to reveal soldiers with rifles and machine guns inside, explained that only relatives of the prisoners were permitted to enter.

Cork jail is an ancient stone pile. A machine gun peeped through the window commanding the entrance. On the tower, rising from the middle of the prison, was a soldier with a rifle, bayonet fixed, pacing up and down. Other soldiers on guard outside watch the groups of relatives and friends of the hunger strikers wanting to enter.

These precautions seemingly signified the uneasiness of the authorities as to what may happen if Lord Mayor MacSwiney in Brixton prison or any of the incercerated here should die. Cork swarms with troops, afoot and in lorries or armored cars. The barrack yards contain tanks and not far distant there is a military airdome where considerable activity prevails.

Just what form any attempted reprisals will take should the hunger strikers die is a matter for conjecture only.

The correspondent today questioned a group of young Sinn Fein adherents in front of the prison as to what might be expected. They winked and looked at each other. Finally one of them tossed a cigarette away, scrambled down from a fence and said: "Well, if you want to know, it will be 'up boys and at 'em'."

Expulsion of Ex-Greek King Has Not Been Asked

GENEVA, Sept 7.—Official request for the expulsion of Former King Constantine from Switzerland has not been received from Athens by the Swiss government, according to information received here from Berne. Constantine, who is staying at Lucerne, denounces the attempt by the present Greek government to have him expelled from Switzerland, in a telegram to the Associated Press.

PREMIER BACK IN LONDON.

LONDON, Sept. 7. — Premier Lloyd George reached London unexpectedly tonight from Lucerne. He traveled direct instead of through Paris as planned.

"HOUSE WANTED!"

(By E. A. Brininstool.)

First Week

HOUSE WANTED! Must be large and fine,
With hardwood floors and closets deep;
Must get the early morn sunshine;
The rent of same must not be steep;
Not over twenty bucks I'll pay.
It must be up-to-date and neat,
And elegant in every way—
Address J. P., 10 Umpty street.

Second Week

HOUSE WANTED! Bungalow will do,
Providing it is nice and clean.
I might pay twenty-five, if new,
With a garage for my machine.
I want a lawn both front and rear,
with flowers, plants and furnace heat.
And with a store and schoolhouse near—
Address J. P., 10 Umpty street.

Third Week.

HOUSE WANTED! In some quiet place
Where forty bones will rent the joint.
I might cut down on closet space
And sacrifice some other point.
I do not care about a lawn;
Most any house would be a treat;
If you hace one that isn't gone,
Address J. P., 10 Umpty street.

Fourth Week.

HOUSE WANTED! Never mind the price!
To find one everywhere I've tried!
The rent of it will cut no ice
If only I may move inside!
The roof may leak—and never mind
If there are some things not complete;
Just right, if you will be so kind
Address J. P., 10 Umpty street.

Fifth Week

HOUSE WANTED! Any kind or size!
A mansion or a cottage goes!
'Twould be a treat for tired eyes,
If you've a shack you can disclose.
Just name the price you want for it,
I'll rush the check with flying feet,
And never, never make a kick—
Address J. P., 10 Umpty street.

E. H. MOORE

of the national Republican fund was given as $20,000 and Iowa's as $75,000. Mr. McNider said that on his own initiative he set the Iowa goal at $200,000 believing that the figure asked by the national committee was too low to cover state, congressional district and national ticket needs in his state. He said that $52,000 had been raised. Mr. Moore said he thought this testimony tended to support the Democratic charges that the $3,000,000 budget of the Republican national committee was only a small part of the total the party proposed to raise.

8,195 Raised in County

Mr. Paxton's testimony was that he had raised $4,285 from 41 contributors and that James M. Saunders had raised $3,910 more in the county. When he said that was all he had to offer, Senator Kenyon indicated that he had been subpoenaed at the request of Democratic members of the committee and thought requiring a journey of 550 miles for such testimony was "rank injustice".

"Well, I don't think so at all," interposed Senator Reed. "If we cannot get the truth here by wholesale, we will get it by retail."

Won't Call County Chairmen

"Well, you certainly are not going to bring in every county chairman in the country?" replied Senator Kenyon.

Mr. McNider's testimony also brought a small sensation when Senator Reed asked him: "Did Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the Republican national committee say to you in substance just before you took the stand that you never got 'form 191' because it was never sent out?"

The witness said Mr. Upham asked him if he had received it and when Mr. McNeider replied in the negative the treasurer rejoined: "I guess not."

Several Hear Conversation

Senator Kenyon brought out that "three or four persons" were listening to the conversation.

The testimony of the state chairmen and Mr. Paxton also developed that considerable of the work of raising the campaign fund was done by salaried "state directors" from Republican headquarters. W. A. Kling of California, was named as in charge in Missouri and Charles Mavity as the field agent for West Virginia and later for Iowa, after Irving C. Norwood had "quit because of a disagreement with Republican head quarters."

Plan All Right, Says Moore

Mr. Moore was the first and also the last witness of the day. When he resumed his stand in the afternoon, he said:

"Much of my information will be useless and the whole investigation will be also if the committee thinks that Governor Cox's charge is a criticism of the method and plan of the Republican drive for funds. I think the plan of spreading the contributions over the country is excellent but if there is being raised a fund that is $10,000,000 or $12,000,000,000 more than the Republican national committee itself thinks is sufficient, you will agree with me that it would be a bad thing for America, no matter how it is raised."

"We all agree on that," said Senator Kenyon.

The witness and chairman then agreed that the published list announced by Governor Cox in his Pittsburgh speech was a correct duplication of the quota sheet which he read from on that occasion and that it would not be necessary to put the governor's copy in evidence.

Gives Proof of Statement

Taking up the list, Mr. Moore said that Pittsburgh's quota was given as $400,000.

"H. C. McEldowney, president of the Union Trust company, can give you the information that this is the quota and also tell you how much has been raised," he said. He also said W. A. Woodford and Dudley S. Blossom of Cleveland could tell about the city's quota of $400,000 and that Edmund Silverbrand in charge of the Youngstown district, had waived a sheaf of checks before a hotel clerk there and exclaimed: "This is the way to get the money."

Senator Spencer tried to learn the sources of Mr. Moore's information and drew fire from Senator Reed, who protested against what he termed were attempts to learn of testimony in advance "so that the evidence could be patched up before it is presented here."

Names Several "Gold Diggers."

Mr. Moore said that Frank F. Reafler of Columbus formerly had charge of raising Cincinnati's reputed quota of $260,000 and that the Indiana "money digger" was Bert Fuller, whom he described as a "personal friend of Will H. Hays."

Skipping to the state of Washington, Mr. Moore repeated Governor Cox's charge that the Seattle quota was $100,000 and the Spokane assessment $50,000, and cited as confirmation the admitted "fact that the quota for the state is $224,000." He said that he would produce at letter from the chairman of the Republican state committee confirming this information and said he was told about it by a telegram from F. L. Morgan of Hoquiam, Wash., a Democratic leader.

Won't Call Western Men.

This led to the discussion of Mr. Moore's telegrams and caused Chairman Kenyon to remark that the committee could not be "expected to subpoena witnesses from New Mexico, Nevada or California" on the strength of information from Democratic chairmen.

Mr. Moore next offered the circular letter which started a rumpus. The document was addressed to women voters, Lenawee county, Mich., printed on a national Republican committee letterhead and informed the new voters that their share of the county's quota of $3000 was one-third that amount.

Held Merely Circular.

"Why, that is nothing but a printed circular without even a single signature in pen and ink," exclaimed Senator Spencer. "That has no value as evidence."

"It is good evidence unless one is not seeking the whole truth," retorted Senator Reed. "Do you mean to say that this letter is not authentic, that it is a forgery?"

Moore Threatens to Leave.

Mr. Moore jumped from his seat and addressing Senator Spencer, said no man could accuse him of forgery. After Chairman Kenyon had quelled the storm, Mr. Moore and Senator Spencer argued as to whether the circular proved anything, the witness maintaining that the mere fact that such a circular was sent out proved that the plan to collect campaign funds was widespread.

"Well, is there anything sinister in that?" asked Senator Kenyon.

"No," said Senator Reed, "but if a very small county is to raise $3000, then one might from that fact arrive at some conclusion as to the amounts that are to be raised throughout the country."

Should Investigate Report.

Mr. Moore next suggested that the committee investigate newspaper reports that the national automobile chamber of commerce had raised a fund for Republican campaign use.

He could not tell the committee where or when the report was published but said he would try to verify it.

ROOSEVELT SCORES LEAGUE.

JOPLIN, Mo., Sept. 7.—The league of nations was attacked by Col. Theodore Roosevelt and Raymond Robbins in addresses here tonight, closing a day of three addresses in southwest Missouri.

"There are the seeds of more future entanglements in the document of the league of nations than in anything of its kind in history," said Colonel Roosevelt. "Founded on injustice in many instances and containing articles ten, the league is a death trap."

Mr. Robins declared that the sending of American soldiers to Siberia aided Bolshevism in Russia."

As we take it Germany is willing to pay almost any amount of war indemnity of the allies supply the money.

WIFE SEEKS FOR DIVORCE

Mrs. Aebersole Says Husband Worries Her With Religious Belief

Strict adherence to the "Russelite religious sect may cause C. Aebersole to lose his wife, acording to a complaint filed against him for a divorce yesterday morning by Mrs. Virginia Aebersole. Mrs. Aebersole asserts that her husband is so obsessed with the teachings of the religious sect that her life has been one "continual round of want and misery."

Mr. Aebersole was converted to the "Russelites" a few years prior to the World war, claims Mrs. Aebersole, and since 1914 he has contributed little to the family support.

Earning Capacity Good

His wife claims that he is a cement worker and capable of earning $8 a day, but since 1914 he has made no effort to accumulating money enough for adequate living for his family due to the teachings of the peculiar religious sect which holds that the world came to an end with the declaration of war in 1914 and that Christ descended to earth on that date.

The sect forbids accumulating "worldly material goods," and in view of this teaching, Mr. Aebersole, his wife says, has ceased to follow his occupation as a cement worker and chose to be a farm laborer, taking scanty remuneration for his labors.

Mrs. Aebersole further asserts that her husband spends "the day and far into the night" lecturing her on the tenets of the faith which has gripped him, and that because of his conduct she claims to be on the verge of a nervous breakdown, and that she is almost an invalid.

Physicians Advise Her

Mrs. Aebersole avers that she filed her complaint for a divorce pursuant to the suggestion of physicians who informed her that if her present condition of life is perpetuated her chances for recovery are slight.

In her complaint Mrs. Aebersole prays for absolute divorce from her husband, an adequate allowance of money during the pendency of the suit and custody of her three minor daughters.

OLD PAL PETE:

This is a P. S. to the letter I wrote you on the buzzing Lindy Kid, for a fact, I'm hitting 13 on making up Camel advertisements. And I'll say it right here! Porter, give us the lights!

Just skimmed another swell Camel fact! Stop this: Guess I've smoked a million Camels! Pete, they never tired my taste yet!!!! And, old socks, put Camels to the test! Then you'll wise up that Camels leave no unpleasant cigaretty aftertaste nor unpleasant cigaretty odor!

That's some smoke news, I'll say, when you been trying to fuss the "straight" brands! And, old shoe, you ought to know, they gave you a lacing!

What makes a dent on my disposition is that while Camels are the mildest cigarette and the mellowest cigarette any man can buy they've got all the "body" you ever heard tell of!

Why Pete, I got as many new selling ideas about Camels as there are hairs on a purr-kitty's tail!

Drop your old lamps down here,—how's that for blazing the joy Camels pass out!
