Institutions Visited—One of the important activities of the home service section of the Red Cross is the service given at the state hospital. There are at present eight ex-soldiers confined there. The hospital authorities have courteously allowed the Red Cross visitor to become acquainted with these men and render them kindly services. Small luxuries are given them and the effort to make the men feel that a friend is at hand is the duty of this visitor, who is to carry on the after-war care of the men who served and made such tragic sacrifice. Letters are sent, weekly in some cases, to the families of the men, which gives comfort to them, in receiving information additional to that sent by the hospital. Similar work with the ex-soldiers in the penitentiary is also being done by the Red Cross.

Professor Hobson Will Sing at Chapel Today

Prof. E. W. Hobson, dean of the college of music at Willamette university, will make his first public appearance in Salem this morning at the initial chapel service to be held in Walker hall at 11:30. The chapel service will be the first of the college year, with the services in charge of Dr. Carl Grex Doney, president of Willamette.

Owing to the manufacturer's inability to deliver the new seats, temporary seats are to be installed in the chapel auditorium. It was announced yesterday that Professor Hobson will give two vocal selections during the chapel exercises. The selections are: "The Trumpeter," and "The Spiritual Negro." The second of these is said to be a melody of plaintive days, and gives an insight into the spiritual life of the negroes during camp meetings. Professor Hobson is a baritone.

Today is the final day for registration at the university and only 280 students have registered. Many of the old students have not appeared on the campus, but they will return. The freshmen class, from present indications, will be fully as large as the class of last year. Each train arriving in Salem brings its quota of students.

Taylor Back From Trip in Interest of Fair

W. A. Taylor has just returned from a trip that took him to nearly all the county seats of Oregon, in the interest of the state fair. He was gone about two weeks.

He finds more interest than ever before and he has had large experience in this work, for 15 years and longer. He says there will be more county exhibits than ever before; larger and better agricultural and horticultural exhibits than ever before.

He says the crops in both eastern and western Oregon are very fine, and the degree of general prosperity is the highest he has ever seen.

Also, he says, people generally are well along with their fall work; and that they will be ready to come to the fair, and they will undoubtedly come in greater numbers than they ever have.

He says, too, that in the exhibits that will come from the different counties there will be quality stuff—the best ever seen on the grounds.

THINGS THAT NEVER HAPPEN

By GENE BYRNES

...bubbling over with enthusiasm as a result of his travels in his flying trip over the state.

A friend wearing a long "goatee" had come in and had been greeted by the man of the house, who, with the pride of a father, lifted his little son in his arms and smilingly said:

"Willie, this is Mr. Blank. Mr. Blank, isn't Willie a fine boy?"

Mr. Blank smiled, but his goatee shook forbiddingly in the boy's face, which was clouded with suspicion, in spite of his father's reassuring words. Willie only stared for a moment and then exclaimed:

"Thinking hard of the wisp of hair on the caller's chin: 'Don't you bite my fader!'"—Columbus Dispatch.
