Extra Precautions to be Taken for Protection During Fair Week

Though it is expected that attendance at the state fair will be unusually large this year, every precaution will be taken to maintain the same watchful care in the protection of life and property as in the ordinary course of the city. In order that this may be the case it is necessary that the strictest vigilance be kept up by both the citizens and the police force. Realizing the importance of the observance of the traffic laws of the city, and the responsibility resting upon the police at this time, Chief of Police J. T. Welsh has issued an order to all the officers of the city, calling attention to the work that is before them, and the regulations and rules which will govern their actions during fair week.

A copy of the order follows:
To All Officers:
Salem, Ore., Sept. 23, 1920.
"During the coming week the Oregon state fair will be held in this city and as is customary there are always a lot of undesirable visit our city at that time, all officers will have to be constantly on the alert for this element and try to keep in touch with them and where they may stay during the week. All strangers of doubtful appearance found on the street at late hours will have to be able to give a good account for being out at that hour or placed in the jail for a night's lodging.

"Officers will have to report by telephone once every hour, and the signal lights will have to be closely watched as there will undoubtedly be a number of hurry calls from different parts of the city for various causes and we want to give the best service possible.

"No games of chance of any kind will be permitted on the streets or elsewhere and all occasions will have to be properly licensed provided by ordinance. Drunkenness will not be tolerated at all and all persons found in an intoxicated condition must be arrested and placed in jail or admitted to bail as the circumstances may warrant.

"Traffic laws will have to be strictly enforced and all violators, regardless of who they may be, or where from, must be arrested and held for trial, as the judge has fixed the bail at $25 for all violators. All persons arrested will be required to deposit that amount for their appearance in court. The time for appearance must not be earlier than 10:30 a. m., as time must be allowed to procure complaints against all arrested persons. All officers will see that the law is complied with, and this particular work is not assigned to any particular officer.

"All officers will report for duty promptly on the time set for them to report, and no deviation from this rule will be allowed. Officers leaving their beats for any purpose will report to the station by telephone before leaving, and again upon their return. It is not possible to keep in touch with the office otherwise and this rule will have to be complied with in the future.

"A close watch must be kept for women of doubtful reputation as there is always a number of them here during the fair. Whenever sure of these women they must be requested to leave at once.
CHIEF J. T. WELSH.

Hayesville District to Convene Next Sunday

PRATUM, Sept. 22.—The new president of the Hayesville Sunday school district, A. Weinert of Hazel Green, has arranged a very interesting program for the coming convention which will be held here next Sunday. Among the many good things on the program deserve special mention Miss Fern Wells, who has been during the summer to Lake Geneva, Wis., where she attended the summer training school, will tell of her experience. Norman Johnson, the man for whom Sunday school workers all over the state have been anxiously waiting to see ever since Harold F. Humbert, the former state secretary, resigned early in the summer. The complete program is as follows:

MANY SCHOOLS LACK TEACHERS

Three Hundred Rural Districts Idle Because of Low Salaries Offered

Only in those school districts where the salaries of teachers have been increased 100 per cent or more has the shortage been relieved satisfactorily, and these places are few, says a letter to J. A. Churchill, state superintendent of schools, from the secretary of the National Education association. Where the increase in pay has been 50 per cent or less the shortage is still a menace. Rural communities are hardest hit.

Replies From Everywhere
"Replies to questionnaires sent out by the association have come from all sections of the United States," said Mr. Churchill. "These reports show that in places where teacher's salaries have been increased 100 per cent or more, the situation is nearly always satisfactory. But such places are comparatively few and where salaries have been increased 50 per cent or less, the teacher shortage is commonly greater than a year ago. Rural communities are hardest hit. Signed reports from many counties indicate that one-third of their rural schools can not open for want of teachers. Tens of thousands of schools will be in charge of teachers who have had no professional preparation and whose academic training barely exceeds that of the children they teach.

Oregon Condition Similar
"Under the Oregon laws, each teacher now granted a certificate to teach must have had a high school education at least and have completed an elementary teacher's training course. In Oregon, as elsewhere, those districts that are without teachers are those that did not pay a sufficient salary to attract teachers.

"Reports to my office from many counties where teachers' salaries are the highest, the schools are now supplied with teachers. Umatilla county reports that with salaries ranging from $133 to $150 a month there are no vacancies in the schools and that a larger proportion than ever before are normal trained teachers.

Valley Counties Behind
"Sherman county reports districts all supplied with trained teachers, salaries ranging from $15 to $50 in the rural schools. All of the valley counties that offer $90 to $100 find themselves unable to procure sufficient teachers. Lane county reports 30 vacancies, Marion 20, Douglas 20, Linn 30 and Lincoln 20.
"The total number of rural schools in the entire state now without teachers is 300 with little prospects of securing professionally prepared teachers unless salaries are offered that are a living and saving wage."

Aches and Pains of rheumatism are not permanently, but only temporarily, relieved by external remedies. Why not use an internal remedy—Hood's Sarsaparilla, which corrects the acidity of the blood on which rheumatism depends and cures the disease?

Madsen Boys Surprised by Silverton Friends

SILVERTON, Or., Sept. 22.—(Special to The Statesman.)—A number of Silverton young people met and surprised Alvin and Victor Madsen at their home on Paradise road Sunday evening.

Games were played on the lawn until it began to rain, when all adjourned to the house where the games were continued until a late hour. Refreshments were served by the surprisers. The occasion for the surprise was the leaving of the Madsen boys for Corvallis where they will attend Oregon agricultural college.

Among those present were Alvin and Victor Madsen, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Madsen, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Madsen, Miss Lillie Madsen, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Satern, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Torvend, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Haugen, Miss Eva Rice, Miss Marie Corhouse, Miss Carrie Qualset, Miss Nettie Hattaburg, Edwin Hattaburg, Louis Rice, Clifford Rice, Melvin Moe, Halvar Qualset, Helmer Rue, Thorvald Toft, James Thompson, Carl Haugen, Ralph Haugen, Alfred Jensen, Reubin Jensen, Alvin Legard and Chester Goplerude.
