study under the direction of Mr. Fairbanks, and Professor Schroll, heads of these departments at the University of Oregon.

In Mr. Fairbanks, Miss Redgers has one of the ablest men in the country, his commissions being nation-wide, some of his things occupying places of honor in other countries.

Mrs. Floyd Edgerton is leaving today for California, where she will join her husband in San Francisco, both going from there to Calexico, in the Imperial valley, where they will remain for the winter, where Mr. Edgerton's business takes him. During the summer they plan to divide their time between Coronado and San Diego.

Mrs. Edgerton has spent the greater part of the summer in Salem, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Rose, with the exception of several weeks in August and September, which were passed in Seattle, Tacoma and Puget Sound cities. Several informal gatherings of close friends have punctuated the final days of Mrs. Edgerton in Salem.

On her way south she will stop off to be the guest for several days of her sister, Miss Helen Rose at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house.

Mr. and Mrs. Ercel Kay went down to Portland yesterday to attend the Punch Bowl tournament at the Waverly Country club, the organizations participating being those of Seattle, Vancouver, Tacoma, Portland golf club and the Waverly club.

The tourney was over the 36-hole route, match play against bogey, the team making the best aggregate showing against the colonel being proclaimed the winner. Rudolph Wilhelm, state champion, and Mr. Kay, winner of the club championship, played the first two positions.

Friends, new and old, of Mrs. Charlotte Selden called at the M. M. Cusick residence, "Oak Villa," Tuesday afternoon between the

AUTUMN

By Gertrude Robison Ross

Comes the dawn on quiet feet
Slipping softly through the gloom;
Leaves a gift, star-kissed and sweet
At the doorstep of your room;
Clouds of fog all virgin-pale
For a filmy bridal-veil.

Comes the dusk with even tread
Where the dawn has crept before;
Pauses—with the world a-bed—
At the threshold of your door;
And her gift of moon-drenched dew
Is a shroud to cover you!

ten hours. Mrs. Selden's daughter Mrs. Marie Flint, entertaining for her pleasure upon the occasion of her 85th birthday. Many of the guests who dropped in to offer congratulations were former Roseburg residents, which was Mrs. Selden's home before coming to Salem to reside a little over a year ago.

The rooms were beautified with lovely garden flowers, and the charming honor guest also received her friends among a wealth of blossoms, sent in remembrance of the occasion. In the drawing room were art baskets filled with golden dahlias, and the dining room displayed an arrangement of the same flowers in shades of pink and white. Mrs. George H. Burnett and Mrs. Cusick assisted Mrs. Flint.

Mrs. Chauncey Kinkaid of Eugene was a charming visitor during the mid week, being entertained as the house guest of Mrs. James Nicholson while here. For the pleasure of her guest Mrs. Nicholson asked in a few friends for tea Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Kinkaid has visited in Salem quite frequently, each time being the inspiration for a number of informal social courtesies.

The Arabian Knights club of Salem is the latest organization to come forward with a contribution to the winter's social season. A committee composed of Z. J. Blizz, Lester Davis, O. K. DeWitt, Albert Gille, and Dr. O. A. Olson already has plans well under way for the premier dance ing party which will be on Tuesday evening, October 26, in the Derby building, and which will be followed by a series of similar affairs, falling on the fourth Tuesday of each month.

These dances are to be formal and well undoubtedly be distinctive affairs, with the colors of the organization much in evidence in decorations and costumes, for the Nobles are requested to wear the red fez on each occasion.

The local Shrine club was organized shortly before the war, all social activities of necessity being discontinued during that period, the present effort on the part of members being for the purpose of bringing Nobles and their wives together in a social way, thus promoting wider acquaintance and a spirit of cordiality.

A group of Salem girls attending the Oregon Agricultural college who are home for the week-end are Miss Mervie Whitney, Miss Grace Hunt, Miss Bertha Vick, Miss Grace Humphreys, Miss Gertrude Ashby and Miss Amelia Babcock.

The hospitality of the social clubs of Salem is rather famed, and in the list, the local chapter G. of the P. E. O. Sisterhood, stands well to the fore. Latest announcement of the meeting of the club for the winter reveals the large luncheon on Thursday next week, when Mrs. W. H. Byrd will open her charming home on Court street to the local organization, which will entertain in honor of Woodburn chapter J.

The two clubs have a combined membership of about 40, and the affair is planned primarily as a get-acquainted meeting, before the annual state convention which will be held in Woodburn next May.

Members of the social committee of Chapter G, composed of Miss Laura Grant, Mrs. D. X. Beechler and Mrs. C. B. McCollough, have plans for the luncheon, well under way, and it is anticipated that the event will be outstanding on the coming week's social and club calendar.

Coming as most welcome news to a host of Salem friends is that of the transfer of Harry Albert, national bank examiner, to the Oregon district, which means that Mr. and Mrs. Albert will again make their home in the west. They are removing from Minneapolis, Minn., where they have been residing for the past four or five years, during the time that Mr. Albert has been national examiner for the Minneapolis district, to Portland, where they have located in the Villa St. Clara.

The transfer is one of the most important ones made in national bank examining circles for some time, the district, which Mr. Albert is to have jurisdiction over being considered the second best in the United States, the Los Angeles district ranking first.

For 17 years Mr. Albert was associated with his father, John H. Albert, in the Capital National bank, and before going east on the national bank assignment he served several years with the State bank.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Albert (Emma Hurst) were extended a most cordial welcome by Salem friends during the week, when they came up Thursday for a brief visit. Mrs. Albert is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Emma Hurst, and her sister, Miss Caroline Hurst.

Mrs. Willis C. Hawley and Miss Iras Hawley returned Thursday from Albany where they were guests for about a week of Mrs. Hawley's father, John Geisendorfer.

Senator Hawley also returned home the last of the week from Coos county where he had been on his duties called him to Portland yesterday, and before his return home he will make a trip up the Columbia river with government engineers and through Clatsop county.

Thursday night was marked by the unusually beautiful dinner party given by Miss Muriel Steeves and Miss Charlotte Crookan to a group of university friends, at the Steeves residence.

The guests circled a table charming in its every appointment. An art basket held a big cluster of Brown-eyed Susans and golden zypophella, a fluffy bow of golden chiffon topping the hands. Little favor baskets also in the same color and displaying similar ornamentation on the handle, were arranged at each place, which was indicated by a small card further bearing out the color scheme.

Guests bidden were Miss Jewell Cox, Miss Mabel Davis, Miss Margaret McDaniel, Miss Dorothy Owen, Miss Paloma Fronty, Miss Mary Gilbert, Miss Mabel Renfro, Miss Anna Lavender, Miss Marjorie Fleece and Miss Ruth Wise.

The Monday Night club, as everybody knows, gained its name by stressing punctuality on this date throughout the season. This organization, which sponsored some of the smartest and gayest dancing parties last winter, and several winters before that, has cards out for the initial affair this season, which will fall on Monday night, October 25.

The personnel of the club includes a group of well known folk who are particularly congenial and who are looking forward with the happiest anticipation to the forthcoming dance, which will usher in a series of six parties. This club, which annually has a long waiting list, will include several new names this season, as a number of the older members have moved away. The club is limited to a membership of 50 couples.

The officers of the Monday Night club, Dr. Grover Bellinger, Roy Mills and George Riches, have tentative plans under way for the entire series, endeavoring to have several of them conform in spirit and decorations with the season. Halloween will furnish the first motif, Thanksgiving the next; Christmas, and Washington's or Lincoln's anniversary to be the inspiration for the ones in December and February.

Harold Hager, who is identified with the new bank at Clatskanie, spent Columbus day, Tuesday, with his mother, Mrs. Cordelia Hager.

Miss Clara Brettenstein, who is attending the Oregon Agricultural college this winter, is home for the week-end spending the time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Brettenstein.

Miss Peggy Brown, a charming girl from Tacoma, stopped off in Salem during the latter part of the week to visit briefly with her host of friends. She was on her way home from Albany and was to meet in Portland her aunt, Mrs. Henry Browne, and cousin Palge Brown of Chicago, who are to spend the winter on the coast.

Miss Miriam Schwartz was pledged this week to the Chi Omega sorority at the University of Oregon. Miss Eva Randall becoming a Delta Delta Delta.

House guests at the D. A. Hodce residence this week and over the week-end are Mrs. D. B. Taylor of Lompoc, Cal., and Mrs. J. Robertson of La Chine, Canada, who are on their way to California.

Mrs. Sidney Beck and small daughter Joanne of San Francisco, who have been spending several weeks in Salem with Mrs. Beck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Roland, left Thursday for Portland where Mrs. Beck was to be joined by her husband. They planned to visit there for several days, then returning to Salem for a brief stay before leaving for their home in the south.

Mrs. Warren Hunt was expected to arrive home today from Corvallis where she has been filling a musical engagement during the past fortnight.
