The total paid Mr. McLaughlin was $183,728.60, but prior to the final check he had been advanced $61,900. Mr. Lachmund bought the hops for English dealers.

The hops were grown on the old Herschberg farm, two miles north of Independence, a tract of 275 acres which was purchased by McLaughlin less than a year ago for $225,000. McLaughlin had farmed the tract on a lease for several years, and last year the total amount paid for his crop was $115,000. This year, in addition to the hops, he harvested 12,000 bushels of grain and 400 tons of hay.

The 36th semi-annual Willamette district convention of the Degree of Honor met at McCornack hall yesterday for a two-day session. Millie E. Pugh of Portland, president, is president, and other officers were appointed as follows:

First vice president, Cora B. Jones of Eugene; second vice president, Cora Howitt of Portland; past president, Lizzie Ellis of Portland; secretary, Adeline Newman of Eugene; press correspondent, Margaret E. Mrs. Lulu D. Crandall of The Dalles, state president, and Messrs. Sarah E. Moore, Ida Mosler, Margaret E. Becker and Millie E. Pugh, past state presidents, were in attendance.

Interesting reports were given by delegates from the several lodges. Regret was expressed that Mrs. Harriet C. Looney, past state president, was unable to attend the convention and a letter of love and cheer was sent her.

Members of the convention stood in silent prayer to the memory of Caroline Holman who was the state president in 1896. The convention will meet at 9 o'clock this morning.

not had occasion to revert to the stenographer's notes until the president's letter raised the point. He then ascertained, he said, that the notes and the transcript prepared on the train did not agree, and that although he had said "her spokesman," the published reports of the speech had been inexact in using the words "her spokesman."

he favored giving ex-service men a "farm and a home" from the government domain or the four-fold plan of the American legion. Prolonged applause greeted his statements on the Irish question, especially when he declared that the situation in Ireland was "a war of extermination" and the conscience of the world is beginning to revolt against it.

Care in Voting Urged by Justice G. M. Brown

Justice George M. Brown of the supreme court urged extreme care in voting on the eleven ballot measures before the people for the November election when he addressed the Salem Commercial club at the Monday noon luncheon. All the measures were explained in an impartial manner by the judge, who, as attorney general, prepared the ballot titles for all of them.

Justice Brown said that the United States constitution had been amended only nine times in 129 years, and showed the inclination to amend the Oregon constitution frequently since the advent of the initiative privilege. As the fundamental law of the land, he urged that the constitution should be guarded carefully and all proposed amendments studied thoroughly by the voters before going to the booths.

Judge Brown was cheered heartily by the club members.

One School District Would Annex Territory

The boundary board of one county cannot annex to a school district a portion of another district which lies partially in another county without the concurrence of the boundary board of the other county, according to an opinion by Attorney General I. H. Van Winkle.

The question came from J. A. Churchill, state superintendent of schools, relative to a letter of inquiry from C. A. Jewell, city superintendent at Sheridan. District No. 48 of Yamhill county practically includes the city of Sheridan, but the town is on the southern boundary of the district and the town laps over a trifle into district No. 45. The people of No. 48 want to annex a part of No. 45, a distance of one mile to the Polk county line.

The attorney general explains that this can be done only on petition of three or more legal voters who are interested, through action on the boundary board of the county in which most of the involved district lies, and with concurrence of the boundary board of the other county.

Some Vacancies Remain for Next Eugenic Clinic

There are a few vacancies in the October eugenic clinic, which is to be held in the Commercial club auditorium Thursday, October 28. Any mother who has a child between the ages of 6 months and 6 years who wishes to have it examined may register its name with Mrs. R. L. Matthews, secretary of the Marion County Children's bureau, who will issue registration numbers.

Pictures of children who have been examined by the bureau will be on display this week in one of the show windows of Miller's store, the photographs being the work of the Gannett & Robb studio.

Express Company Seeks Huge Increase in Rates

Whether an increase of 26 1/2 per cent of the present express rate on milk and cream and ice cream shall be allowed the American Express company is the latest important question to be placed before the public service commission.

To be effective September 10 last the interstate commerce commission authorized the express company to increase its rate on these articles by 12 1/2 per cent, but this was held up in Oregon by a suspension order of the service commission. Subsequently the interstate commerce commission authorized an additional increase of 13 1/2 per cent, or a total of 26 1/2 per cent in all. Yesterday an application from the company reached the commission asking a hearing and requesting that both increases be made effective.

Hearing is asked for October 23, but it was said at the offices of the commission that a hearing cannot be granted on that date.
